EN. DAWES SAYS AIR WILL BEGIN O OPEN IN 1931

$5,000,000 at Hand to Start Work.

Chicago's Century of Progress exposition—the World's Fair of 1933—became an assured thing last evening with announcements by Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Rufus C. Dawes, his brother, and Edward J. Kelly.

Gen. Dawes is finance chairman of the world's fair organization, his brother is its president, and Mr. Kelly is president of the south park board, in whose territory the exposition will be held.

The three men spoke at a banquet in the Palmer house, given by Gen. Dawes and his brother for the architectural commission of the fair, the south park commissioners, and leading Chicagoans. They told their audience that financial arrangements are complete, that ground will be broken in the early spring, and that something new in expositions has been conceived.

Exhibits to Open Early.

Most important, they declared that the opening of the vast series of exhibitions will be progressive, that the best of the exhibits will be open to the public in the summer and fall of 1932, two years before the actual grand opening of the fair itself.

They said that the construction will be so carried out as to make possible the opening of one section after another while the construction is still going on, until at the end, suddenly, the great fair will be in full progress.

Pays Tribute to Insull.

Among the guests at the dinner were the philanthropist, Julius Rosenwald, and Samuel Insull, moving spirit and chief patron of the opera in Chicago. Gen. Dawes, in his speech, gave special mention to these two men. He said Mr. Rosenwald was the largest individual guarantor of bonds for the fair. He pointed to Mr. Insull as executor of Chicago's will to accomplish. He said the great civic opera house, which is soon to open is a monument to Mr. Insull's genius for organization and centralization of control.

"And that great massive building," the ambassador said, "has risen there almost without any one realizing it, almost risen without one bit of ballyhoo. That is the way I want Chicago's great, new fair to come into being—without ballyhoo. I will say that because ballyhoo has been lacking so far, there were persons foolish enough to think this fair was not going to be held at all."

$5,000,000 Now Available.

Gen. Dawes, before he went away to become ambassador to Great Britain last June, announced that he had obtained guarantors for the $10,000,000 worth of bonds necessary to carry out the project. He amplified that statement last night by saying $5,000,000 worth of the bonds have been sold and that the money lies ready "payable on call." He added that "the money for the balance of the bonds will be available when needed without unnecessary loss of interest."

No Appeal to Public.

"Thirty of our guarantors of large wealth have signed subscriptions for over $5,000,000 of our bonds payable at call at par as we need the money," said Gen Dawes. "It has not been nor will it be necessary to ask any public subscription or underwriting. The money for the balance of the bonds will be available when needed without unnecessary loss of interest.

"No contract or expenditures will be made by the exposition management unless the money required for the same is available.

"The exposition will be built and constructed under strictly business methods, with the system of checks and controls of expenditure incident to every properly managed business concern.

"As the exposition of the progress of each industry will be complete in itself, such buildings as contain a complete exhibition or exhibitions of this nature will be open to the public during the progress and construction of the complete exhibition. This has been the plan followed with success by recent European expositions. It is expected that some of these exhibits will be completed and opened to the public in the summer and fall of 1931 and others in 1932, all being introductory to the complete exposition later.

Research Council Aids.

"Applications for the privilege of constructing buildings are being made by those industries which have already formed the collection of exhibits illustrating their inception and progress. The determination of space allotments to be made them, as well as to others in the future, and the plan of

RUSH TO BUY AT LOW PRICES TAXES BROKERS

Exchanges to Take Two Day Rest.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—The stock market rode a rising tide today as the nation went bargain hunting. The sick man of Wall street is on the mend. Sanity triumphed over hysteria and the money of the bankers and the confidence of the public turned the flood of selling into a wave of buying.

The rally was at its peak as the market closed with gains of from 5 to 36 points throughout the list. In 16 issues the day's gain was $2,367,986,661.

The stock exchange tonight, along with the other exchanges of the world, prepared for a breathing spell. Tomorrow will be a half holiday. The exchange will not open until noon, and will be closed from tomorrow night until Monday to give the worn traders and clerks a chance to recuperate.

The New York curb exchange, the produce exchange and all the securities markets and the other important exchanges of this country and abroad will follow the same course. The brokerage houses will remain open.

A Day of Recovery.

Trading began with a rush this morning and closed on a sweeping rally. There were signs of weariness in midafternoon, despite the flood of buying orders from all over the country, but the trading rose to new heights a few minutes later when John D. Rockefeller Sr. announced he and his son were in the market buying sound stocks.

Meanwhile, over at the curb exchange, stocks were climbing back toward their normal levels. There were gains of 3 to 28 points registered in an all day rally in which 3,809,200 shares changed hands.

As the wires ticked in the closing prices from trading marts throughout the country it became apparent the recovery from the crash was general.

Business on the New York exchange was heavy, but considerably under yesterday's titanic deluge. Trading amounted to 10,709,600 shares, the third largest day in history.

Although the volume of trading declined today, the stock exchange ticker took twenty minutes more to tick out the final price of the day, ending at 5:52 p. m., against 5:32 p. m. the day before. The curb ticker finished earlier and ended at 5:38 p. m., against 6:17 p. m. Tuesday.

How Leaders Came Back.

The recovery of prices generally is reflected in the following table of leading stocks on the exchange:

The spirits of the bankers and brokers had risen with the prices throughout the day, and there were expressions from all quarters that the "spell was broken."

Brokers Cheer Results.

The announcement of the two and one half day holiday voted by the governors was greeted by cheers from the floor of the exchange. Worn from the long strain from the last week the floor specialists looked gleefully toward a rest.

The decision to close the exchange was received after a midday conference between the governors and the bankers' group. Thomas W. Lamont of the Morgan firm announced the decision met with the full approval of

THE SQUASH THAT WAS HEARD 'ROUND THE WORLD

Landslide for Liquor Sale in Ontario Vote

BY GEORGE SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 30.—After ten years of prohibition law, followed by two and one-half years of government controlled liquor sales, Ontario today rolled up an election vote in favor of controlled liquor sale which surprised even the Conservative government of Premier C. Howard Ferguson, which had sponsored the liquor law.

Sweeping to victory in customary dry ridings and recording overwhelming majorities in the urban municipalities, the Ferguson government at midnight had won 93 of the 112 seats in the legislature. This represents a net gain from the two dry parties, Liberals and Progressives, of eighteen seats. The Conservatives in the last legislature held 75 seats.

Dry Chieftain Defeated.

The dry Liberals, who formerly had twenty-one seats, held only eight as returns neared completion and the bone dry Progressives held only two seats.

An indication of Ontario's sentiment is given in the fate of the three party leaders. Premier Ferguson, government controlled liquor sale advocate, doubled his majority of the last election. He defeated the Rev. T. H. Bradley, prohibitionist, in Grenville riding.

John G. Lethbridge, bone dry Progressive leader, was defeated in the arid riding of Middlesex West, which he had represented in the legislature for a decade.

Settles Issue for Long Time.

With such a smashing victory recorded for government controlled liquor sales, it is not anticipated that prohibition will be seriously advocated in Ontario for the next decade or two. The result leaves the Liberal and Progressive parties, which advocated a return to prohibition, almost wiped out politically.

In cities like Toronto and Hamilton the vote appeared to be two to one in favor of the government and a continuance of liquor sales under government control.

In Hyde Park riding of Toronto, one of the driest sections in the city, first returns were sixteen to one for the Conservative candidate and against the independent prohibitionists.

In Hamilton the election of Fred T. Smye, Ferguson government cabinet minister, was conceded by an overwhelming majority a few minutes after the polls closed. The government went to the polls with eight seats out of the 112 in the legislature already conceded to it by failure of the dry parties to run candidates in opposition.

BEAT, THEN KILL KIDNAPED SON OF WEALTHY MAN

Lapeer, Mich., Oct. 30.—(AP)—David Cass, son of a wealthy Detroit real estate operator, met his death from four bullet wounds and was given a severe beating before he was slain doctors announced tonight after an autopsy. The body was found yesterday on the banks of the Flint river near here. Cass disappeared July 25.

The body was identified by Dr. David F. Heron of Detroit, Cass' dentist, who recognized gold fillings and bridge work.

Gerson C. Cass, father of the dead man, received a demand for $25,000 a few days after young Cass disappeared. Later the demand was reduced to $4,000. Police wounded and captured Joseph A. Laman when he collected the ransom. Laman now is serving a two year sentence for extortion. Other arrests have been made.

Aviator Lost in Fog Above Grant Park

An aviator lost in the heavy fog early this morning circled over Grant Park and THE TRIBUNE tower for more than three hours seeking a place to land. Twice he threw down flares. The roar of his motor was plainly heard at numerous intervals from 3 o'clock until after 6. The coast guard stations and all landing fields about Chicago were notified. The latter threw on extra lights, hoping that the aviator might see them. The lights on THE TRIBUNE Tower also were turned on to give the airman a land mark from which he could shape his course to a landing field if he were not a stranger to the city.

Huge Fire Built.

A huge fire was built on a vacant lot near the Navy pier by direction of Mark Pembor and John Bowman of THE TRIBUNE. Six trucks hauled wood and lumber to the fire. The lot was sufficiently large that an emergency landing might be made on it, if the aviator could see the fire.

The plane was last heard at 6:20 o'clock at which time the sound indicated it was headed south over Grant park. George Ballard, operator of the United States radio station connected with the air field at Maywood, sent out messages every ten minutes seeking information concerning the identity of any plane that might be missing.

City Blanketed by Fog.

The heavy fog blanketed the city all day and night and slowed motor traffic to a creep. It became thicker early this morning. It had grounded every airplane in the Chicago area, and for that reason it was supposed the lost man was from some other city. No airplanes landed or departed from the municipal airport. Reports from all over the country were that the fog extended to the Atlantic seaboard and had virtually put a stop to the nation's air mail business.

MECHANICS FIND $150,000 IN BONDS IN AN OLD AUTO

New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Negotiable bonds and securities worth $150,000 were found beneath a seat in an automobile traded in to a local dealer. The machine, formerly owned by the late J. B. Laughlin, member of the Pittsburgh steel firm of Jones & Laughlin, was exchanged early in September for a new car through the Motor Sales company of this city.

Together with other used cars it was stored in the garage until mechanics started to overhaul it. They found the valuable papers, which were the property of Miss Alice E. Laughlin, daughter of the late steel magnate, who is a summer resident at Hyannis Port, Mass.

Grundy Hits 'Slow' States a New Blow

BY WILLIAM LAWSON.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association, took another fling at the "backward" southern and western states today, when he told the senate's lobby investigating comittee that most of them have failed to demonstrate ability to frame the country's tariff or other major policies.

To the apparent amazement of the senators he unqualifiedly approved the activities of C. L. Eyanson, representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association, who, as secretary to Hiram Bingham [Rep., Conn.], attended secret sessions of the senate finance committee discussing the pending tariff bill.

Grundy added that when the people who pay the bulk of the country's bills and know the needs of industry are allowed, through representatives like himself and Eyanson, to dictate tariff rates, the result will be sounder and more equitable legislation.

Would Permit Farm Aid.

Led by Senator Blaine into a discussion of the relation of the tariff to farm relief, Mr. Grundy asserted: "If it is necessary that the farmers should have that 500 million dollars, it was all right to let them have it."

"Your interest in the farmer arises from your benevolence, but not from any economic convictions you have?" asked Senator Blaine.

"No," responded Grundy, "it was the promise of the Republican party to help him, and if that is going to help him, he is entitled to it."

Senator Blaine asked Grundy if the latter did not fear that the real result of the farm relief fund would be that the International Harvester company, which Alexander Legge of Chicago, headed before he became chairman of the federal farm board, will be able to collect long outstanding notes for farm implements.

"Well," answered Grundy, "if he was not the proper man to be put at the head of it, you fellows ought not to have confirmed him. You confirmed him almost unanimously, I understand. You must have been satisfied. There is no quarreling with the fact that the farmers are not in command in the senate."

Again Ready with Replies.

It was Grundy's third and final appearance before the committee, and the senators again were unable to pry loose an admission to substantiate the baneful reputation given to the veteran lobbyist by radical Republican and Democratic critics.

Sometimes startling in his candor, sometimes amusing and always interesting, Grundy held the attention of a crowded hearing room as he parried in turn with Senators Borah [Rep., Idaho], Blaine [Rep., Wis.], and Carway [Dem., Ark.], coming out of each clash with an engaging and occasionally a distinctly patronizing smile.

When Senator Blaine insisted on knowing why Wisconsin could not be classed as a progressive, forward looking commonwealth, Grundy snapped back that only a state which had forgotten its responsibilities and its duties could have espoused the La Follette-Wheeler third party movement in 1924.

Borah Cites Statistics.

Senator Borah, recalling Grundy's inclusion of Idaho in a list of "backward" states yesterday, sought to compare his state's expenditure for education, its crime records and its percentage of illiteracy with those of Pennsylvania, only to be told "they were nothing to boast of." Such records were to be expected in Idaho, where no tremendous foreign population complicated the state's problems, Grundy said.

"From your testimony," Senator Blaine declared, "you must be of the opinion that Pennsylvania would be

Racketeer Killed in Second Shooting.

Guns blazed in two dramatic shootings in racketeerland last night.

On the west side Rocco Maggio, known as the "king of the Sicilian extortionists," rapist, bigamist, and killer, was fatally wounded by two avengers who fired four bullets into his head and body. He died in the county hospital at 2:30 this morning, five hours after the shooting.

On the south side Myles Cannaven, ex-saloonkeeper and identified as a racketeer, is dead with five bullets in his head.

It was, according to the police, easy to find a motive for avengers in either case. "It might have been anything," the police said. But they had not singled out any specific explanation for either shooting.

Spinach and Garlic the Setting.

Maggio, the blackmailer, was shot down in the midst of the spinach and the garlic of the little grocery of his father-in-law, Joseph La Marca, at 347 Taylor street. The spinach and the garlic heretofore had been Maggio's protection. Last night it was his doom.

Maggio was at the rear of the store talking with his girl wife, Isabella, 16 years old, whom he married two years ago after La Marca had charged him with raping her. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Angeline La Marca, was at the front of the store when a stranger entered and asked for two pounds of spinach.

Mrs. La Marca walked to the sidewalk where the spinach was kept in a bin, leaving the man inside. As she returned to the doorway she heard a shot, she told the police at the Maxwell street station. Son-in-law Maggio was the target.

"You dirty ——," her customer cried, as four more shots followed.

Confederate at the Door.

As Maggio's assailant dashed past her to the door Mrs. La Marca caught at him, she said, but another man who had been waiting on the sidewalk and whom she had not seen until then seized her and pressed a gun against her head.

"What could I do?" Mrs. La Marca said. "I had to let the other man go."

Maggio was taken to the Mother Cabrini hospital and later to the county hospital. He was shot twice in the chest, once in the back of the head and once in the shoulder, the bullet passing through his body.

Both Mrs. La Marca and Maggio's wife denied that they recognized the assassins. The wounds showed that Maggio apparently had started toward the front of the store. He had often posed as a clerk there as a mask for his real occupation, that of extorting money from rich and poor alike in the Italian colony. Now and again when police sought him, he had a habit of slipping into the little shop and donning his white apron. He would greet them with his bland smile and deprecating shrug when they questioned him about his business.

Falls at Wife's Feet.

As Maggio advanced toward his customer last night, the intruder apparently opened fire and Maggio swirled about to gain refuge behind the barrels at the back of the room. As he ran away two other bullets struck him, one in the shoulder, and the fourth in the back of the head. He dropped at the feet of his wife.

At Maxwell street station, however, the wife insisted that she had seen nothing of the shooting. She said she had gone to the telephone when her husband started toward the front of the store. Throughout the questioning she maintained a calm that might have been indifference.

Yesterday was Maggio's 33d birthday, his wife told the police. The police believe that avengers knew Maggio well and planned the shooting on the anniversary.

A dagger, drops of blood dripping from its point, is tattooed on his left arm with the word "vendetti" beneath it. Beside the dagger is the picture of a woman.

List Possible Motives.

In seeking a motive for the shooting, the police had a long list of persons who might have taken the rôle of avengers, as Maggio's record shows. He first came to the police attention on Sept. 3, 1922, when he was shot three times by assailants whom he refused to name. Then on Aug. 12, 1924, he shot and killed Frank Lamaccia.

Maggio eluded the police until May

27, 1923, when he was captured with Lamaccia's widow. The following year he was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, but on Oct. 28, 1926, the Supreme court reversed the decision of the lower court on the ground that prejudicial evidence had been given at the trial. Maggio was never prosecuted again and he dropped from sight until September of 1928, when he was shot again. Again he kept secret the names of his assailants.

On Jan. 8 of this year he was shot twice, in the head and neck. In the meantime, Deputy Commissioner Stege had obtained a deportation order for Maggio and his affairs were forgotten until he was seized by the police on Aug. 6. Questioned as to his presence in Chicago when he was supposed to be on his way to Italy, he produced a cancellation of the deportation.

Trouble for Maggio followed swiftly after that. Warrants were issued charging him with bigamy, rape, and extortion. It was learned that he had a wife and child in Carabaneri, province of Bari, Italy.

Accused of Death Threats.

Dominick Riggo, 2022 North Laramie avenue, charged him with trying to extort $3,000 from him. Teresa Bruno, 26 years old, 657 North Carpenter street, told the police that he had sent her husband a death threat and that when Bruno left the city Maggio took his place in her home.

Others told stories of receiving death threats and paying Maggio sums ranging upward from $300 for "protection." On Aug. 12 he was indicted for rape, on the old charges made by his wife's parents.

But on Aug. 24 he was released on $10,000 bail and although he had been taken into custody several times since then by the police as an extortionist nothing came of his arrests. On Oct. 9 he filed suit for an injunction to restrain the police from arresting him or interfering with his affairs.

SOUTH SIDE SHOOTING

In the south side shooting Cannaven was shot down as he was leaving the Drexel Arms hotel, at Oakwood and Drexel boulevards, with his wife. Cannaven had been living at the hotel and Mrs. Cannaven, who said they were married secretly eight months ago, has been living at 437 South Ashland avenue, La Grange. Mrs. Cannaven told the Hyde Park police that she had visited her husband at his room and that they were going to a restaurant.

Cannaven's automobile was parked in a vacant lot east of the hotel, used as a parking space for the Drexel Arms guests. The couple had just seated themselves in the car when a man stepped to the open door and started shooting, Mrs. Cannaven said. Five shots struck Cannaven's heart.

After firing the five shots the slayer turned and dashed down an alley between Drexel boulevard and Ellis avenue. George Clark, 4008 Ellis avenue, a chauffeur, had just left his home and saw the man running. He gave chase, he told the police, and the slayer fled south to 40th street, then east to Lake Park avenue, where he turned south and vanished.

A Former Union Agent.

Cannaven, beside his saloon activities in the days before prohibition, has been involved in labor troubles, the police said. He was formerly a business agent for Local No. 134 of the Electrical Workers' union and a card issued to H. M. Cannaven by the building trades council was found in his pocket. After giving up his saloon at 39th street and Cottage Grove avenue, he had bred saddle horses, and for a time had operated a riding academy in 48th street near Cottage Grove.

In 1919 Cannaven and several other saloon keepers who had been swindled out of $25,000 in a watered whisky deal were said to have captured the confidence men and held them prisoners in the basement of Cannaven's saloon until they returned the money. About 12 years ago he shot and wounded "Umbrella Mike" Boyle, labor leader, according to the police.

SLAYING RAIDER WOULD USE DRY LAW AS SHIELD

Two Children of Victim Are Witnesses.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chandler, Okla., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Jeff D. Harris leather necked old Oklahoma gunman and "peace officer," made an astounding effort in his trial today to justify his killing of Oscar Lowery, world war veteran, on July 4 last in the name of federal prohibition enforcement.

Harris, the first of the federal dry killers to be denied the refuge of a federal court trial, told a story which flatly contradicted everything that the witnesses of the state had said, and is in conflict even with the testimony of the chief defense witness, Tom Little, who accompanied him on the fatal raid.

Opposing Harris on the witness stand today were two children that he had made fatherless, a woman that he had made a widow, another woman entirely disinterested in this proceeding, and a man who told a vigorous story filled with much "cussing."

After all the witnesses for the state had agreed that Lowery had no gun, but was begging for mercy when Harris killed him, the aged campaigner of the green corn rebellion, the Osage Indian whisky war, and other colorful periods of Oklahoma history swore that he had killed Lowery to save his own life, when he saw the ex-soldier pointing a gun at him.

Nation Watches Case.

This trial has been brief, but is filled with material of national significance. For the first time in all the long sad story of prohibition killings by federal officers, the state has a chance to show what one of its own court juries will do. The case probably will end tomorrow and certainly will be in the hands of the jury by Friday.

The jurors are farmers, men of the same type as Lowery, who was shot and killed. There has been no evidence to indicate that Lowery had anything to do with liquor traffic. In fact he was a church member and did not drink. Even Jeff Harris admits no liquor was found on this raid.

The killing of James Harris, brother-in-law of Lowery and also a war veteran, is being broughtinto the case. The evidence tends to show that Harris was killed after he had thrown his gun down and was begging for mercy.

Without Commission.

Jeff Harris is bitter about being deserted by the United States government and by "Snake" Thomason, the federal prohibition officer who got him to go on this raid. He admits that he had no commission, that he had been deputized only verbally by Thomason. There was no search warrant.

The state evidence shows that Jeff Harris made his way into the home of innocent men, without knowing who they were, and killed them both. The defense, which began today, has made no effort to deny this. They rely on the fact that James Harris, pursued into his own home by "Uncle Jeff," turned and fired a load of birdshot into Jeff's face, and on the claim of the killer that Lowery had a gun. There is nothing to support this claim and every affirmative bit of evidence is against it.

Woman Surprise Witness.

Mrs. Russell Hartzgold of Tulsa was a surprise witness for the state. She was traveling alone in an auto on July 4, and when she reached the Harris home she saw a woman running back and forth and a man lying under a tree.

She stopped to investigate. She found Lowery wounded and talked with him and with Jeff Harris. All these people were strangers to her and she had no idea what had happened. She said there was blood on Jeff Harris' face and she wiped it off. She testified that Oscar said to Jeff:

"Why didn't you tell us you were officers? If you had told that I would not have run."

Jeff didn't say anything to this, the witness said, and she related a conversation with Jeff Harris.

"I asked him why he had shot the man and he said he shot him for running away," she said. "I asked what this man did and he said, 'Nothing—the other fellow shot me.' I asked him if he was badly hurt and he said it was nothing, and 'if these two men die it would make thirteen men I have killed.' He said they were pouring out liquor in the house. I went into the house, but saw no trace of liquor poured out."

George L. Ady, oil lease dealer and former hotel man, was another passerby that day. He, too, stopped and began an investigation. He said he talked with Jeff while the killer was sitting in his car. He saw blood on his face and wanted to know how badly he had been hurt.

Officer Complains.

"I was looking at his face," he said, "and he said, 'Well, you—what have you got to do with it? It's a hell of a note if a federal officer can't come along and search a —— place without being shot.' I told him if he had said he was an officer and had a warrant he would have saved all that trouble.'

"He said, 'You are a damn smart and know so —— much! Federal officers don't have to tell who they are and don't have to have a warrant to search a —— farm.' I told him if he came to my place kicking things over he would get a bullet between the eyes. Then he said he would take me to jail. I said, 'There is not a thing to hold you. I have nothing else to do today.'"

"He said, 'They knowed I was an officer and they went to the house to pour out liquor.' I told him he was a liar and asked him to go to the house and show me where they poured the liquor. He would not."

Ady then quoted Jeff Harris as saying:

"'Well, some celebrate the Fourth with firecrackers, but if I celebrate, I use lead.'"

Little Earl came next to the big chair in front of the judge and jury. The many faces into which he looked were all friendly. Even the defense lawyers were gentle and tender with him. His feet swung six inches from the floor. His innocent eyes surveyed the scene calmly.

He was asked if he knew what would happen to him if he told a lie and said "the boogey man will get me." Close questioning by the judge brought the information that "Boogey Man" would burn him if he told a lie. He is in the first reader at school, but does not go to school much. He said he went to Sunday school and his mother taught him to tell the truth. The defense objected to his testimony, but after a few questions Judge Johnson decided that he was qualified.

Boy Recalls Killings.

He remembered well when his uncle and his father were killed on the Fourth of July, he said. They were all on the porch that morning, including his mother, Edith and Ruby, the baby. He was in the yard.

"This man come around the house and kicked over the chicken coop," he said. "He said, 'What's in it?' That's all he said. Uncle Oscar told him it was chickens and then the man went to the corn crib. Daddy went into the house and mamma and sister went with him. I went too. My daddy was at the trunk.

"The man came to the kitchen door and shot at my daddy and dad and I ran outdoors. The man was running after us. Uncle Oscar was going around the house and the man shot him. Daddy had his gun but Uncle Oscar did not have any. Daddy and I ran."

His testimony did not go beyond this point and did not cover the killing of his father. He said that some one "hollered" to his father to drop the gun.

Edith, who is nearly 10, put down her baby sister and followed her brother on the stand. She was as simple and self contained as such a girl could be, and told a story which was the same as Earl's, except that when the shooting began she ran over to her Uncle Wesley's and stayed there. She told her uncle what had happened.

Uncle Wesley Lowery followed her on the stand. He said he ran over to the Harris house with his gun, a 12 gauge single barrel shotgun, with the sight gone, one shell in the gun and one in his pocket. He saw his brother under a tree and a man with a gun standing over him. So he put down his own gun against the house and went to his brother. He saw the officers later take his gun away with them. He did not know what to do about it, because they were officers. His gun was introduced into evidence by the state and identified by him.

Bullet Holes in House.

John Guilliams, deputy sheriff, told of observation of bullet holes in the Harris house the day after this shooting. There were holes in the wall of the south room near the trunk, and shotgun marks in the kitchen and in the post of the porch, showing where James Harris had fired at Jeff.

Mrs. Oscar Lowery, the young widow with a 3 year old child in her lap, testified that her husband had never owned a gun.

John Lowery, father of the victim, testified that there never had been any liquor in the house.

Dying Statement Read.

Miss Lillian Hunt, stenographer, identified a statement which she took from Lowery on his death bed. This was introduced and read to the jury as follows:

"MR. LOWERY—I am going to die. I knew that I would die when they first started to the hospital with me. We were there on the porch. He just come walking up there. Never said nothing to nobody; just began kicking things around. Kicked over a chicken coop. Went on down there and looked into the little garage down there. Looked around and went back to the house. Walked right in the kitchen and never said nothing. My sister was begging him to tell what he meant. My brother-in-law went in the house. He didn't know what he meant. I just couldn't hardly say which one fired first, but I think the other man fired at him. I was standing on the edge of the porch. I didn't have a thing in my hand or nothing. I was standing on the porch and first thing I knew he ran out toward the little garage. My sister began hollering what had become of the baby. I started to look for it. I got out in the yard and he shot me. I begged him not to shoot me. I hadn't done anything and didn't have a thing in my hand. I ran plumb out between the house and the little outshed of a place. I begged him not to shoot me. He did not tell me he was an officer."

Officer for Many Years.

Jeff Harris, a long, lank, hard featured man, who celebrated his 65th birthday yesterday, testified that he had been an officer of some kind ever since he was 17 years old. Once he was with the Texas rangers. He had worked with Snuke Thomason among the Indians, in the whisky war, and was a teetotaler. He said he was sent for by Thomason. After that he accompanied Thomason in about forty raids, although he had no commission of any sort.

"I took the trail and was looking for a whisky plant," said the defendant. "I saw this house and there were three setting on the gallery, two men and one lady, and I walked toward them and said 'Good morning, I am a federal officer, and I want to look around.' One of the men said 'All right.'

Shot in Head, He Says.

"I walked over to the chicken coop and looked at it and then looked at a corn crib. I started back to where Thomason was. There was no one on the gallery by that time. I had no intention of entering the house, but saw a gun barrel sticking out of a door, and then I was shot in the right side of the head. I ran into the house. I did it to save my life.

"If there was a man waiting to shoot me I wanted to see where he was. I came to a door between two rooms and got a glimpse of the man going out the back. He was not at the trunk [as all the others had testified]. I did not fire from the door (despite bullet marks that bear out the story of the family). I did not fire in the bed room. I did not see any lady or little boy or girl there. [Despite the stories of three.]

"A second shot struck me from the outside. I was hit and suffering. Blood was in my eyes and I couldn't see well. I saw a fellow with a gun and the other man too. This other man [Lowery] was about 10 feet away, and he had a gun pointing at me. I shot at him. That was the first shot I fired. Then I turned on the other man. I got hit three times. I fired three shots. I did not shoot until I was hit twice."

3 Reporters Sent to Jail for Liquor [illegible] Contempt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Agitation over liquor scandals in the national capital reached a climax today when reporters for the Washington Times were sentenced to serve forty-five days in jail for contempt of court after they refused to give the grand jury the names and addresses of persons from whom they said they bought whisky.

Justice Peyton Gordon, who passed the sentence in the Supreme court of the District of Columbia, declined to release the reporters under bond pending an appeal. All three were locked up in the district jail tonight.

Report Published.

The Times, a Hearst afternoon newspaper, several days ago began publication of a report said to have been made by an investigator two years ago purporting to show that Washington is a wide open town, so far as bootleggers are concerned, despite President Hoover's plan to make it a model of law enforcement. Subsequently, under orders from the city editor, the reporters were supposed to have verified the report by buying liquor themselves.

Called before the grand jury today, each of the three newspaper men declined to testify in detail, declaring that to divulge their confidential sources of information would make them dry snoopers and stool pigeons. Justice Gordon then cited them for contempt.

"It is the duty of every citizen, when he knows a crime has been committed, to give the testimony before the grand jury to enable the government to prosecute the criminal, and it is also your duty to respond, as a witness, to those questions," the judge said. "The law does not give you immunity or privileges against the statutes of the district."

Appeal Notice Given.

As the reporters were taken to jail Attorney George D. Horning gave notice of appeal and asked Justice Gordon to fix bond. When the court refused Horning announced that he will either ask a Court of Appeals justice to allow bond or seek writs of habeas corpus.

During the quizzing of the reporters each told the court he had bought whisky in forty-nine Washington speakeasies. Their sole purpose, they said, was to develop a news story about Washington crime conditions. Hendricks testified that to comply with the jury's request would bring them into public disrepute and cause them to lose their positions with the Times. Justice Gordon asked him if he regarded it as any part of his duty as a newspaper man to buy whisky. Hendricks said he felt that it was if his superiors gave him such an assignment.

27, 1925, when he was captured with Lamaccia's widow. The following year he was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, but on Oct. 28, 1926, the Supreme court reversed the decision of the lower court on the ground that prejudicial evidence had been given at the trial. Maggio was never prosecuted again and he dropped from sight until September of 1928, when he was shot again. Again he kept secret the names of his assailants.

On Jan. 8 of this year he was shot twice, in the head and neck. In the meantime, Deputy Commissioner Stege had obtained a deportation order for Maggio and his affairs were forgotten until he was seized by the police on Aug. 6. Questioned as to his presence in Chicago when he was supposed to be on his way to Italy, he produced a cancellation of the deportation.

Trouble for Maggio followed swiftly after that. Warrants were issued charging him with bigamy, rape, and extortion. It was learned that he had a wife and child in Carabaneri, province of Bari, Italy.

Accused of Death Threats.

Dominick Riggo, 2022 North Laramie avenue, charged him with trying to extort $3,000 from him. Teresa Bruno, 26 years old, 657 North Carpenter street, told the police that he had sent her husband a death threat and that when Bruno left the city Maggio took his place in her home.

Others told stories of receiving death threats and paying Maggio sums ranging upward from $300 for "protection." On Aug. 12 he was indicted for rape, on the old charges made by his wife's parents.

But on Aug. 24 he was released on $10,000 bail and although he had been taken into custody several times since then by the police as an extortionist nothing came of his arrests. On Oct. 9 he filed suit for an injunction to restrain the police from arresting him or interfering with his affairs.

SOUTH SIDE SHOOTING

In the south side shooting Cannaven was shot down as he was leaving the Drexel Arms hotel, at Oakwood and Drexel boulevards, with his wife. Cannaven had been living at the hotel and Mrs. Cannaven, who said they were married secretly eight months ago, has been living at 437 South Ashland avenue, La Grange. Mrs. Cannaven told the Hyde Park police that she had visited her husband at his room and that they were going to a restaurant.

Cannaven's automobile was parked in a vacant lot east of the hotel, used as a parking space for the Drexel Arms guests. The couple had just seated themselves in the car when a man stepped to the open door and started shooting, Mrs. Cannaven said. Five shots struck Cannaven's heart.

After firing the five shots the slayer turned and dashed down an alley between Drexel boulevard and Ellis avenue. George Clark, 4008 Ellis avenue, a chauffeur, had just left his home and saw the man running. He gave chase, he told the police, and the slayer fled south to 40th street, then east to Lake Park avenue, where he turned south and vanished.

"MR. LOWERY—I am going to die. I knew that I would die when they first started to the hospital with me. We were there on the porch. He just come walking up there. Never said nothing to nobody; just began kicking things around. Kicked over a chicken coop. Went on down there and looked into the little garage down there. Looked around and went back to the house. Walked right in the kitchen and never said nothing. My sister was begging him to tell what he meant. My brother-in-law went in the house. He didn't know what he meant. I just couldn't hardly say which one fired first, but I think the other man fired at him. I was standing on the edge of the porch. I didn't have a thing in my hand or nothing. I was standing on the porch and first thing I knew he ran out toward the little garage. My sister began hollering what had become of the baby. I started to look for it. I got out in the yard and he shot me. I begged him not to shoot me. I hadn't done anything and didn't have a thing in my hand. I ran plumb out between the house and the little outshed of a place. I begged him not to shoot me. He did not tell me he was an officer."

Officer for Many Years.

Jeff Harris, a long, lank, hard featured man, who celebrated his 65th birthday yesterday, testified that he had been an officer of some kind ever since he was 17 years old. Once he was with the Texas rangers. He had worked with Snake Thomason among the Indians, in the whisky war, and was a teetotaler. He said he was sent for by Thomason. After that he accompanied Thomason in about forty raids, although he had no commission of any sort.

"I took the trail and was looking for a whisky plant," said the defendant. "I saw this house and there were three setting on the gallery, two man and one lady, and I walked toward them and said 'Good morning, I am a federal officer, and I want to look around.' One of the men said 'All right.'

Shot in Head, He Says.

"I walked over to the chicken coop and looked at it and then looked at a corn crib. I started back to where Thomason was. There was no one on the gallery by that time. I had no intention of entering the house, but saw a gun barrel sticking out of a door, and then I was shot in the right side of the head. I ran into the house. I did it to save my life.

"If there was a man waiting to shoot me I wanted to see where he was. I came to a door between two rooms and got a glimpse of the man going out the back. He was not at the trunk [as all the others had testified]. I did not fire from the door (despite bullet marks that bear out the story of the family). I did not fire in the bed room. I did not see any lady or little boy or girl there. [Despite the stories of three.]

"A second shot struck me from the outside. I was hit and suffering. Blood was in my eyes and I couldn't see well. I saw a fellow with a gun and the other man too. This other man [Lowery] was about 10 feet away, and he had a gun pointing at me. I shot at him. That was the first shot I fired. Then I turned on the other man. I got hit three times. I fired three shots. I did not shoot until I was hit twice."

3 Reporters Sent to Jail for Liquor Case Contempt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Agitation over liquor scandals in the national capital reached a climax today when reporters for the Washington Times were sentenced to serve forty-five days in jail for contempt of court after they refused to give the grand jury the names and addresses of persons from whom they said they bought whisky.

Justice Peyton Gordon, who passed the sentence in the Supreme court of the District of Columbia, declined to release the reporters under bond pending an appeal. All three were locked up in the district jail tonight.

Report Published.

The Times, a Hearst afternoon newspaper, several days ago began publication of a report said to have been made by an investigator two years ago purporting to show that Washington is a wide open town, so far as bootleggers are concerned, despite President Hoover's plan to make it a model of law enforcement. Subsequently, under orders from the city editor, the reporters were supposed to have verified the report by buying liquor themselves.

Called before the grand jury today, each of the three newspaper men declined to testify in detail, declaring that to divulge their confidential sources of information would make them dry snoopers and stool pigeons. Justice Gordon then cited them for contempt.

"It is the duty of every citizen, when he knows a crime has been committed, to give the testimony before the grand jury to enable the government to prosecute the criminal, and it is also your duty to respond, as a witness, to those questions," the judge said. "The law does not give you immunity or privileges against the statutes of the district."

Appeal Notice Given.

As the reporters were taken to jail Attorney George D. Horning gave notice of appeal and asked Justice Gordon to fix bond. When the court refused Horning announced that he will either ask a Court of Appeals justice to allow bond or seek writs of habeas corpus.

During the quizzing of the reporters each told the court he had bought whisky in forty-nine Washington speakeasies. Their sole purpose, they said, was to develop a news story about Washington crime conditions. Hendricks testified that to comply with the jury's request would bring them into public disrepute and cause them to lose their positions with the Times. Justice Gordon asked him if he regarded it as any part of his duty as a newspaper man to buy whisky. Hendricks said he felt that it was if his superiors gave him such an assignment.

I. C. PREPARES TO ELECTRIFY ALL CITY TRACKS

Development to Hinge on World's Fair Plans.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Illinois Central is prepared to electrify all of its tracks within Chicago. It has made its surveys, compiled its data, estimated the cost, and reckoned the expected earnings.

"If we have a world's fair on the lake front between Grant and Jackson parks, we will electrify completely before the fair structures are completed," said Vice President F. L. Thompson, in charge of terminals, yesterday. "We will do our part in making the lake front as near spotless as can be. We have been unable to figure out where we could gain revenue sufficiently to justify it at present, but when the fair is certain we will proceed."

The Illinois Central was the first Chicago railroad to adopt track elevation, which it inaugurated for the World's Fair of 1893. It has been said by railroad men that the advertising gained thereby was of enormous value to the railroad. Perhaps that is the motive inspiring the present management.

To Eliminate Steam.

In the meantime five railroads using the Illinois Central terminal will eliminate all steam locomotives north of Roosevelt road. The Illinois Central wil install electrification between Thirty-first and Monroe streets, and use oil-electric engines for the freight service farther north.

This service will haul in the freight not only of the Illinois Central but also of the Big Four, the Nickel Plate, and the Chesapeake and Ohio railroads. The fifth road, the Michigan Central, in this terminal is now planning to utilize oil-electrics for a short period at least. Its freight yard is at Kensington [115th street], so that its freight trains for the 13½ miles to Randolph street will be minus the cinders, smoke, and soot of steam locomotives.

This will mark an epoch in the terminal railroading of Chicago. All of this is scheduled to begin Feb. 1, and if the World's Fair by that time seems to be a certainty, these improvements will be overshadowed by those to follow.

Will Cost $1,976,000.

The Illinois Central freight electrification between 31st and Monroe streets, and the oil-electric operation to the north will cost an estimated $1,572,000. To this might properly be added the estimated cost of the Michigan Central oil-electric locomotives of approximately $404,000. Those two items make an aggregate cost of the improvements of $1,976,000.

It is estimated by the Illinois Central that it will cost only a little more than this amount to electrify all of the tracks within the city limits, as required by the 1919 lake front ordinance, in 1935.

The electric installation on all of the tracks is estimated at $1,100,000 and the cost of fourteen additional electric locomotives is placed at $1,120,000—an aggregate of $2,220,000. And when this is done, the Illinois Central does not intend to stop at the city limits. The electrification will be extended on the main line out to the Markham yard, which stretches along the Illinois Central from Harvey to Homewood.

Under Electric Power.

From this point to Randolph street the freight of the Illinois Central and the Big Four will come in under electric power. The Michigan Central will join in at Kensington and the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Nickel Plate will wheel into the procession at 83d street. This refers exclusively to freight, but it is undoubtedly the forerunner of the electrification of the through passenger service, which is not required under the 1919 ordinance until 1940 under the most favorable conditions and under certain conditions at a much later date.

Elaborate data on the time required to change from steam to electric engines have been collected from roads that have electrified terminals. This varies from a trifle over four to nearly five minutes. It is asserted that this lost five minutes could be more than offset by the greater acceleration and deceleration of the Illinois Central electrics, which attain a mile a minute speed.

Passenger Change Seen.

It is believed the complete freight electrification will substantially hasten the electrifying of the through passenger trains. While no statement was obtainable on this subject from the Illinois Central, it seems unreasonable that President Downs would permit smoking passenger locomotives to travel along the edge of the World's fair area after the steam freight engines have been banished.

All of this is in addition to the Illinois Central's electrification of its suburban service, to which about $30,000,000 has been charged. That is to be improved immediately.

The passage of amendments to the lake front ordinance by the city council, a week ago, has started work on improving the Randolph street terminal of the suburban service, which has been operated on a temporary arrangement for the last three years.

Approximately $960,000 has been spent already on this terminal, and the work of expending $340,000 more started last Monday. The larger part of the improvement has been to excavate under a corner of Grant park, put in steel and concrete supports, and then fill in with earth and restore the grass trees, and shrubs.

In addition an enormous hole has been excavated between Washington and South Water streets. It has been floored with a slab of concrete, upon which ties and tracks were being laid yesterday. This hole extends down nine feet below the level of the lake in normal periods and about eleven and a half feet at present. When the new tracks have been completed and platforms and canopies constructed, which will require about thirty days, all of the South Shore and local Illinois Central suburban trains will be run in and out of this terminal. Other Illinois Central suburban trains will utilize the present temporary terminal.

Terminal Agreement.

But the big surprise in this terminal development was the agreement last week between the Illinois Central and the Michigan Central by which space for two more tracks has been transferred to the Illinois Central. Excavating for them will start as soon as plans for the improvement are completed. It is now planned to have the two added tracks and all other work on the Randolph street terminal in operation by the middle of next summer.

This new terminal will permit of eight car trains, instead of six as at present. This, with the two added loading tracks, and rearrangement of other tracks will permit the handling of approximately twice as many commuters at Randolph street as are now cared for.

ACTRESS SLAPS CRITIC

LILLIAN FOSTER

Attacks Him at Lunch in Savoy Grill.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 30.—A consistent attacker of everything American today enjoyed the contrary experience of being attacked by a member of the same benighted race when Miss Lillian Foster, an American actress playing here in "Conscience," slapped Hannen Swaffer, the flag waving dramatic critic of the London Daily Express, twice across the face for the benefit of those lunching at the Savoy grill.

Mr. Swaffer, who employs just twice as many capital I's as all the rest of the London journalists put together and who devotes practically all of his space to abusing the American theater, has a peculiar method of criticism, compounded of 50 per cent box office mathematics and 50 per cent vilification. Noel Coward took a fling at him last year by lampooning him in a sketch in his revue, "This Year of Grace," which Mr. Swaffer took as a compliment.

"Affected Baby Voice."

The particular remark to which Miss Foster took exception was a criticism of her performance which read:

"Her affected baby voice reminded me of a ventriloquist's doll. Now and then it irritated me so much that I might have rushed outside had there been any snow outside"—presumably to make snowballs.

Miss Foster, annoyed by Mr. Swaffer's remarks, came up to him at the Savoy and addressed him. But Mr. Swaffer did not seem to remember her voice. The two spoke a few words together, and then Miss Foster was seen to raise her hand and deal Mr. Swaffer a stinging slap with the flat of her hand. Apparently thinking that this was not enough, she caught him once more on the recoil with a back hand, after which the horrified walters put her out.

Did It for All Americans.

"I don't regret what I did," Miss Foster said later. "I couldn't stand that smug look on his face. It shouldn't have minded constructive criticism. I shouldn't have minded if he had given me a rousing good roasting, but he took it out on me because I happened to be an American. I slapped him for all Americans. It is his whole attitude towards Americans that I object to. If he continues to say such uncalled for things about Americans I will not hesitate to smack him again."

Mr. Swaffer's chief interest after the event seemed to be concentrated in the fact that his sister and Lady Astor saw the incident.

"A man like myself, of course," he told the press, "is always open to that sort of thing. Cabinet ministers have been assaulted by suffragettes. I was surprised afterwards by my own calm."

HANGS SELF; ILL HEALTH BLAMED.

Ludwig Wahlquist, 46 years old, 3335 North Clark street, a laborer, hanged himself yesterday in the basement of his home. His widow told the police Wahlquist had been in ill health.

Here's a Real Canary Murder; Three Investigations Started

Another murder victim was buried yesterday. There were no elaborate services at his grave, there were no mourners, and no throngs of curious. The victim was "Nimble," pet canary of Miss Anna Gustafson, who committed suicide in her home at 816 Cass street last Oct. 6. A janitor at the county morgue took the body of the canary, which was found in Miss Gustafson's home four days after her death, dug a spadeful of earth in the rear of the building, and dropped the body in.

But the murder will not go unavenged. Three law enforcing agencies began an investigation to discover the slayer.

Probate Judge Horner ordered Deputy Police Commissioner Alcock to determine whether the police are involved. The public administrator's office, represented by Jack Rosen, is seeking "Nimble" on the theory that he was stolen and another body substituted. Coroner Bundesen detailed men to determine whether the death was accidental.

A Canary of Ability.

"Nimble" was not an ordinary canary. He was a songster of ability, but won his name by virtue of such tricks as lighting on his mistress' finger, hopping about her home, and flitting about the furniture. He was valued at $100. The facts in the case are these:

On Oct. 6 the body of Miss Gustafson, who was 45 years old and managed a tearoom on the first floor of her home, was found dead in the basement kitchen, with the jets of a gas stove wide open. The body was discovered by Noah Weinstein, a young attorney, who roomed at Miss Gustafson's home.

Weinstein also found "Nimble" in a bedroom where the gas fumes were beginning to penetrate. "Nimble" was singing cheerfully. Weinstein moved the bird to his room on the second floor beside an open window before Policemen William Fleeman and R. M. Miller of the Chicago avenue station arrived to move the woman's body.

Bird Vanishes; Hunt in Vain.

Policeman William Tobin was stationed at the home to guard Miss Gustafson's effects. He saw the bird perched on its swing. He was relieved late that night, a Sunday, by Policeman M. Gibbons, who said he saw the cage but no bird. The next day Weinstein came to take away personal effects. Policeman A. H. Dempke refused him permission until he obtained the approval of the public administrator.

Late that night Weinstein returned with Rosen. With flashlights they made a thorough search, but were unable to find the bird. The cage was fastened with a lock which "Nimble" could not have undone.

The following Thursday, Oct. 10, Miss Lillian Weinberger, a social worker and friend of Miss Gustafson, went to the home with food for the bird. She was told by Policeman John Barry, then on duty, that the bird was not there. She demanded permission to make a search and found the body in plain sight on a sewing cabinet. But she expressed doubt that the body was that of her friend's bird. She also found that silverware and clothing were missing.

Bundesen Orders Inquiry.

Coroner Bundesen ordered an inquiry and questioned all the police who had been assigned to duty at the home. Friends of Miss Gustafson charged that the police had taken the property, killed the bird, and brought its body back to cover up the theft. The policemen denied the charges and held that the bird had died of the effects of the gas to which it had been exposed.

An autopsy was performer by Coroner's Physician J. J. Kearns, who found that the bird had died of injuries to its neck. He submitted his findings to Rosen, who yesterday asked Judge Horner to demand an explanation from the police department in the interests of the estates of all persons whose deaths are investigated by the police.

Rosen charged that the stolen effects might have covered the cost of the woman's funeral. He said her body was saved from the potter's field through charity. He also expressed the opinion, on the strength of Miss Weinberger's evidence, that "Nimble" is still living.

Writes Note of Apology, Then Ends Life with Gas

Out of work and with only 85 cents left, Charles Newton, 30 years old, 11 West Huron street, wrote a note of apology to his landlady, Mrs. Isabelle McBrown yesterday, and then committed suicide by opening a gas pipe. The note said he hoped his death "won't bother you too much."

WOUNDED ROBBER IS IDENTIFIED AS JOHNNY REED

A man shot and wounded seriously Tuesday night when his companion was slain by a railroad detective on the Soo line at Lake Villa, near Waukegan, was tentatively identified yesterday as Johnny Reed, convict informer, who frustrated the Joliet prison escape of the Chenoa bank robbers two years ago. The wounded man had given his name as Fred Willis, 1123 East 47th street, but A. W. Mulholland, a railroad detective, said that he was certain the man was Reed. Willis is in the Highland Park hospital with a bullet wound in his body. His slain companion is unidentified. The pair were shot when A. W. DeGroff, a Soo detective, surprised them in the act of robbing a freight car.

ALDERMEN O. K. SELLING OF 1930 TAX WARRANTS

The council finance committee yesterday recommended to the council that an ordinace be passed allowing the sale of $7,400,000 of 1930 tax anticipation warrants to meet the principal and interest on bonds which will fall due Jan. 1. The warrants will be issued against the tax levied for the sinking and interest fund and will not effect the corporate fund in any way. The payments on principal amount to $6,500,000 and the interest to $900,000. This is the first time that the city has been forced to sell warrants for this purpose and the noncollection of tax moneys for 1928 and 1929 were credited with the responsibility by the aldermen.

GEN. DAWES SAYS FAIR WILL BEGIN TO OPEN IN 1931

$5,000,000 at Hand to Start Construction.

each exhibit of progress to be made, the exposition management will have the advantage of the advice of the National Research council, the foremost organization of its kind in the country.

"By the expenditure of the first $10,000,000, an exhibition of complete units in 1931 is made possible, susceptible of indefinite expansion, the extent of which will be determined as construction progresses. Whatever money is needed in addition to the present $10,000,000 will best be determined and raised when we can appraise the results of our first expenditures.

"The installation of buildings and exhibits of progress by the industries at their own expense in my judgment will provide the greater part of the cost of the complete exposition, in addition to the $10,000,000 first expended."

Parks Grant Land.

Mr. Kelly told of a meeting of the south park commissioners held last Tuesday at which the question of granting the ground for the exposition was taken up.

"As president of the south park board I have pleasure in announcing that the commissioners unanimously adopted the following resolution," Mr. Kelly said, and read this resolution:

"'Permission and authority are hereby given to A Century of Progress, a corporation, to use for the purpose of the World's Fair, to be arranged and held by said corporation, such portions of the park lands under the jurisdiction of the south park commissioners and fronting on Lake Michigan, in the City of Chicago, as may be hereafter mutually agreed upon between the said park commissioners and the said corporation, upon such terms and conditions as may likewise hereafter be agreed upon between the said park commissioners and the said corporation.'"

New Type of Exposition.

"The south park commissioners are cooperating in the Century of Progress," Mr. Kelly continued, "believing that such an exhibition, framed as it is upon new lines and managed upon sound business principles, will open a new era in the exposition projects of the world.

"We believe that as the old World's Fair in 1893 opened a new era in exhibitions and was imitated by the world, so, now, in this later age, which no longer is content with the old-fashioned type of exposition, the Century of Progress, with its new plan, marks the new era of exposition activities of the world."

Rufus C. Dawes also told generally of the plans for the exposition, said that its purpose was to glorify the progress of the last century, talked of the exhibitions, declared also that ample provision for the enjoyment of visitors will not be overlooked, and continued:

"Our conception of a new form of exposition has received the indorsement of the National Research council, and through them of the scientists of the nation, and recognition by the congress of the United States as being worthy of national support.

"The sum of not less than $5,000,000 is now available to us, and according to the joint resolution of congress, the President of the United States is authorized and requested to invite the participation of nations.

"We plan to present an exposition of the progress of the industries made collectively by men interested in each of the great industries.

"Through these exhibits we shall explain the century of progress, the century that has shown greater progress than all the centuries preceding it, in adjusting man to a comfortable relation with his physical world.

"But we shall not overlook the necessity of providing at the same time spectacular entertainment for the people.

Start Building in Spring.

"After consultation with Edward Hungerford, director of the Fair of the Iron Horse—the centenary of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad—we have prepared detailed plans of tracks and buildings for the transportation exhibit. It is now possible, and in my judgment advisable, to have plans for these buildings made at once and construction upon them begun next spring.

"A new type of exposition requires a new financial and business organization and control. We now have it. The exposition of a Century of Progress ought not to lose money, and it will not eat the taxpayers' funds. We have an efficient organization, and we have spent less money in advancing our efforts to this point than has been the case with other such enterprises."

The architectural commissioner for the world's fair organization late yesterday afternoon closed its three days' sessions, during which Edward H. Bennett, one of the Chicago members, declared architectural plans were fast being completed.

Reduce Crime with Probation System, Advises Prison Expert

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

When the state of Massachusetts, with over three times as many criminals on probation as there are in prison, produces figures showing that crime there has decreased, other communities should find it significant, Sanford W. Bates of Washington, D. C., supervisor of prisons, told the Illinois conference on public welfare at the First Methodist church in Evanston last night. Massachusetts has not built a prison cell in twenty-five years.

"With the fullest use of parole and probation," he pointed out, "Massachusetts stands at the bottom of the list in homicide rates.

Purposes of Prisons Varied.

"When we speak of prisons let us remember that all men who go in must come out—and it is of prime importance to the community that they come out better and safer. The prison of the future will be at once a disciplinary school for those who can be reformed, a place of permanent segregation for the incorrigible, and a laboratory of study of the causes of crime.

"Parole is a necessary element in any protective penal program. Instead of depriving a dependent family of his earnings, it compels an offender to support his family. Instead of allowing him to eat at public expense at a cost of $300 a year, it makes him earn his bread by the sweat of his brow, at a cost of $30 per year.

Judge Children Too Quickly.

Miss Frances Dummer, educational counsel in the Winnetka public schools, in discussing the school as a mental hygiene center, said: "We rather have a habit in our schools of looking at a child and deciding, 'This child is 4-B,' as it were.

"One child in Winnetka spent his time daydreaming over school work, and when he went home would complain to his parents that the work was dull and uninteresting. He didn't like it. He was examined, and found to have an intelligence quotient so high that I'm afraid to mention it. His mentality was so far ahead of the work he was doing that no wonder it was dull for him. He was coached that summer, to give him good habits of work, then was jumped from the third grade to the sixth, where he is fully able to keep up with the other students and enjoys his work.

BILL WILL PROPOSE DRY LAW REFERENDUM BY U. S. CENSUS TAKER

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The polling of the American people on the modification of prohibition by the enumerators who will take the 1930 decennial census is proposed by Representative Schafer [Rep., Wis.], in a bill which he said today he had prepared for introduction.

The measure would require the census takers to ask all citizens whether or not they favor modification of the prohibition law to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. Representative Schafer said, adding that he will seek action on it at the regular session of congress in December.

"This method of obtaining the views of the American people on prohibition," the Wisconsin legislator asserted, "would be cheaper than a national referendum."

ARMY AND NAVY BUDGET PRUNED; UP TO PRESIDENT

Airplane Buying Fund Sharply Reduced.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—From $6,000,000 to $3,000,000 will be lopped off the army and navy appropriations for the 1931 fiscal year unless changes are made in the tentative budget by President Hoover. Investigation today disclosed that, in making up the army appropriations for the next fiscal year, the budget director has slashed the estimates submitted by the war department for purchase of airplanes and operation of the air corps by between $4,500,000 and $6,000,000. A $3,000,000 cut is in prospect for the bureau of aeronautics.

The air appropriations reductions, if permitted by the President, will interfere with the completion of the army and navy five year air expansion programs approved by congress in 1926. It was estimated by air corps officers that the reduction would preclude the purchase of from 100 to 200 airplanes needed to bring the fourth year of the air program up to date.

Secretary of War Good will confer with President Hoover within the next forty-eight hours and present arguments in behalf of the army air corps. While agreeing that possibly some cut could be made, Mr. Good opposes a drastic slash.

Beyond admitting that some cuts will be made in the air corps appropriations asked by the two air services and that the total war department budget for 1931 probably will be slightly smaller than in 1930, White House officials tonight refused to comment on the reports of air corps reductions in the 1931 budget.

300 Ford Employes in Mexico City Go on Strike

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 30.—[U. P.]—Three hundred employés of the Ford Motor company's assembly plant here went on strike today because of the company's refusal to recognize the union, to sign a collective labor contract, and otherwise bring the plant into line with the projected new Mexican labor code. Henry Ford, in a recent statement, said that he would rather dismantle the plant than recognize the union or make collective contracts under the proposed code.

much better off if it seceded from the Union, Mr. Brundy."

"O, I wouldn't say that," countered Grundy, "I think, by the way, we did more in the civil war when there was a secession movement on — we contributed more soldiers and everything else to preserve the Union——"

"Yes," interrupted Senator Caraway, acidly, "and while you're waving the flag, I would like to say you contributed more people to my state who stole everything that could be moved than any other five states—if that is a matter of consolation to you."

Wisconsin's 1924 Bolt.

After that exchange Senator Blaine remarked:

"It would be unfortunate for the record, since you have classified Wisconsin as a backward state, for you not to state why it is a backward state."

"I didn't classify it as a backward state," protested Grundy. "Wisconsin is about the average of the United States, I should say."

"But you think there is something wrong with Wisconsin?"

"Yes, I certainly do," responded Grundy, recalling the 1924 Republican convention and the Wisconsin delegation bolt after its platform was rejected.

"So the trouble with the people of Wisconsin is they are discourteous in political matters?" asked Blaine.

"After that," Grundy continued, 'Wisconsin started an opposition candidacy with the full knowledge that it could not elect that ticket but simply in the hope to destroy the party whose national convention they had participated in. You know, senator, we don't think much of a state, where I come from, that won't stand by an agreement and abide by the will of the majority of the delegates to a convention. I have got that in my system about Wisconsin."

Approves of Eyanson.

"Do you approve of the putting of Eyanson into the secret meeting of the senate finance committee?" asked Senator Caraway.

"Yes, I do," answered Grundy. "I do because the tariff acts that have built up the country and made us what we are and laid the foundation for our greatness were made by men who were in the industry. My recollection as a very young man is of the making of the McKinley tariff bill——"

"Was it made in the same way?" interjected Caraway in a shocked voice.

"It certainly was," answered Grundy. "Maj. McKinley lived at the Ebbitt house. We did not have either the senate or house office buildings in those days. My father was very active at that time in tariff matters. I know he and others came down and met the chairman of the ways and means committee in Maj. McKinley's rooms at the Ebbitt house and they sat there in that room with his wife very ill in an adjoining room, and there the men who understood industry got together and brought out that bill.

Lauds McKinley Tariff.

"And, senators," Grundy added, "that bill was one of the greatest bills the country ever had from a protective standpoint."

Grundy pointed out that industrial leaders in both France and Germany are trusted to write their countries' tariff legislation, and, he continued, "many mistakes here would be avoided if those chiefly concerned were allowed a voice in the framing of such measures."

"You think it was entirely fitting, then," Caraway asked again, "for a man who was on the pay roll of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association to be placed on the pay roll of the government, by which means he got into the secret meetings of the finance committee?"

"Well, I don't think there was any impropriety in what happened," retorted Grundy.

Grundy readily admitted that, as reviewed in recently published memoirs of the late George Harvey, former ambassador to Great Britain, he was one of the group which, after an all night meeting in a Blackstone hotel room in Chicago, agreed upon the nomination of the late President Harding to end the deadlock in the 1920 Republican convention.

Other members of the group were Senators Smoot [Rep., Utah], Watson [Rep., Ind.], the late Senators H. C. Lodge of Massachusetts, Medill McCormick of Illinois, Brandegee of Connecticut, and former Senators James Wadsworth and W. C. Calder of New York. Senator Lodge, chairman of the convention, according to Grundy, presided at the conference, and he it was, Grundy asserted, who urged that both Gen. Leonard Wood and Gov Frank O. Lowden be sidetracked for Harding.

Grundy denied that the late John P. King, Harry F. Sinclair, former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, or the late Jake Hamon was present at the conference, although he admitted all of them were at the convention and "more or less prominent."

Grundy willingly conceded to Senator Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] that the "backward" states of the south and west had contributed largely to Pennsylvania's wealth by their consumption of its products, but, he added, the west and the south could never have reached even their present development if it had not been for the capital supplied by Pennsylvania and eastern states.

ROSENWALD AND INSULL BOLSTER EMPLOYES' STOCK

Help Them Tide Over the Financial Storm.

Samuel Insull, public utilities magnate, has come to the aid of some of his employés who have dabbled in the stock market and who stood to lose their savings. This was learned yesterday following the revelation that Julius Rosenwald had also helped out employés of Sears, Roebuck & Co. in the stock market upheaval.

Mr. Insull would not discuss this latest development in relations between employer and employé. It was learned definitely, however, that he, like Mr. Rosenwald, was not permitting employés of the companies under his control, who had invested in basically sound securities, to be wiped out because of inability to supply margins in the slump of stocks. This aid has been extended only in specific cases that had been investigated.

Causes Much Debate.

Employers were divided in opinion in discussing this action of two of Chicago's richest men. Some pointed out that the practice might encourage reckless speculation among the employés if they thought they had no chance to be cleaned out. John Higgins, vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., who was given the task of carrying out Mr. Rosenwald's purpose, had an answer for this.

"We did the same thing in 1921 when many of our men stood to lose in the market," said Mr. Higgins. "And it is significant that none of those who had to be rescued then were in the recent stock market scramble. They had learned their lesson."

No Second Help.

Mr. Higgins indicated that the Rosenwald millions would not back up an employé twice. If being rescued from a loss in the market once was not enough to teach a small speculator of the dangers of trading on margin, he need not expect help a second time, the vice president said.

In both the Rosenwald and Insull companies, an investigation has been conducted to learn what employés were in need of help because the margin on their stocks had become too narrow in the falling market. Brokers were then notified that collateral sufficient to guarantee a good margin would be furnished as needed.

Mercolized Wax Keeps Skin Young

DO you know that just beneath that soiled, discolored, faded or aged complexion is one fair to look upon? Nature causes the normal skin to peel off in tiny, unseen, flour-like particles, a little each day, renewing the complexion of youth naturally, but there comes a time when this skin shedding slows up. Worry, overwork, sickness, inactivity are reasons that cause the face to be blotchy, discolored, pimply and old looking. The thing to do, if you wish to look your prettiest at all times, is to assist nature in the process of absorption by using pure Mercolized Wax. Get an ounce at any drug store or beauty counter and use as directed. It gently but surely peels away the outer scarf skin, removing freckles, pimples, blackheads or a muddy complexion. The underneath skin, now in evidence, is clear, pink, fresh and velvety, and the entire face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty. To quickly remove wrinkles and other age lines we recommend a face lotion of unusual merit. One ounce powdered saxolite and one-half pint witch hazel,

LEAK THAT SANK LAKE STEAMSHIP STILL MYSTERY

After a day of inquiry, there still was no explanation yesterday of what caused the leak which plunged the Goodrich steamship Wisconsin 300 feet to the bottom of Lake Michigan early Tuesday morning.

The witnesses spoke of what might have been done in the crisis to save the ship and its crew. The captain might have made for the shore when his steam was giving out. He might have run the old ship on the beach near Kenosha, off which it sank, six miles out.

But he didn't. The captain, Douglas H. Morrison of Chicago, who died a hero's death, going down with his ship after he had done his best to save his men, thought the ship would hold up for many hours longer than it did and that tugs would come to tow it in. When it was apparent that this was wrong and that the ship was sinking the fires were out and there was no steam left to beach her.

U. S. Inspector Conducts Quiz.

So Capt. Fred J. Meno of Detroit, superintendent of investigation for the United States steamship inspection department, in charge of the inquiry, bent his efforts toward finding whether the leak or leaks were of long standing, and whether the equipment of the ship was in good order.

The questioning of witnesses was conducted by Capt. Meno in the coroner's office at the Kenosha courthouse. One more witness will be heard in Kenosha today, when an adjournment will be taken until opportunity arrives to question the captains of three other Goodrich line vessels who put out in the storm of Monday night and arrived safely at their ports.

One witness, the purser of the Wisconsin, Harvey Lyons, testified that his best recollection was that there were 75 men on the ship, of whom four were passengers. With nine known dead, and 60 rescued, this would indicate that six were missing, probably drowned, and that thus the total death toll would be 15. However, Lyons said his records had been lost, and he had no positive information as to the number on the ship.

Ship's Officers Testify.

Edward Halvorsen, mate, and Arthur Behl, second mate, both testified that if the ship had been pointed toward the short and beached in the soft sand, there probably would have been no loss of life. But they thought, as they said the captain had, that the ship would hold up long enough at least for rescue of the passengers and crew, and probably long enough to be towed into port.

Capt. Meno asked Halvorsen why the ship had been anchored in the deep water, and the latter asserted it was to steady the ship until help arrived. Every man aboard had on life preservers, the morale was termed remarkable, and everything went in shipshape order, the officers testified.

Kenneth Carlson of Madrid, Ia., the 20 year old radio operator on the ship, told his story of sending out the appeals for assistance, and was commended by Capt. Meno.

Seaworthy, Officials Say.

Capt. Edward Taylor, president, and Capt. William E. Franklin, superintendent of the Goodrich line, testified that the ship was in the best condition of seaworthiness. They had no definite facts to offer concerning the cause of the disaster, but it was reasonable, they said, to believe that the violent storm had shifted the cargo, and that the load, in crashing against the hull, might have strained the plates or burst a pipe below the water level.

Other members of the crew and Capt. Alfred E. Kristofferson of the Kenosha coast guard described the sinking of the ship and the rescue battles. Coroner A. B. Schmitz testified that in his opinion no inquest was necessary, no evidence of criminal negligence having appeared. Capt. Meno said that after all witnesses had been heard, he would submit a report to his superiors in Washington.

Funeral services for Capt. Morrison will be on Saturday at 9 a. m. from the residence, 4924 Adams street, to Resurrection Catholic church. Burial will be at All Saints cemetery.

'VOICE OF BRIAND' AGREES TO FORM FRENCH CABINET

Hopes to Hold Post Until Poincare Returns.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 30.—While a hot exchange of verbal darts is going on between Edouard Daladier, Radical-Socialist leader, who gave up the task of forming a ministry last night, and former Premier Briand, whom M. Daladier says "duped" him, Etienne Clementel, president of the senate finance committee, accepted the task of forming a new ministry tonight.

If he succeeds it will be a Briand government under a different name, with the wily former premier dictating the policies from the foreign ministry and the easy going M. Clementel scraping up enough votes in the chamber to keep the government above water until Raymond Poincare is ready to resume power.

Briand Declines Honor.

President Doumergue called M. Briand this morning and offered him the premiership. M. Brjand declined and suggested M. Clementel, who announced that he would form a government of "republican conciliation" from the same parties which supported M. Poincaré.

M. Briand hotly denied tonight that he had duped M. Daladier, who was trying to form his first ministry.

"Why, I gave him the benefit of all my experience and advised him what to do and what not to do and also assured him of my support of any government he might form," he said.

Wait for Poincaré.

It is believed in political circles that M. Clementel will be able to remain at the helm until the Young plan is voted and the five power naval conference in January terminated. After that, if M. Poincaré has recovered from his illness, he will step down.

M. Clementel is a wine grower, author, and politician. He has held portfolios in several governments as minister of finance, commerce, and agriculture. He took an outstanding position in the allied debt negotiations in 1924. Politically M. Clementel is Radical left, but is moderate enough to receive the approval of the other parties. He is 65 years of age.

GIRL WINS $8,000 FROM MERCHANT WHO WOOED HER

Love Letters Are Read in Court.

Miss Elfriede Worthmann, blue eyed, blonde fraulein from Berlin, Germany, yesterday won $8,000 damages from August Deverman of 7838 Ogleby avenue, operator of a string of 5 and 10 cent stores, in Circuit Judge George W. Bristow's court.

The young woman, now a student at Columbia university medical school, sued the chain store man for breach of promise. The case terminated suddenly when Deverman, who is married, failed to appear to put in a defense, but sent in a letter saying he wanted to settle on $8,000. Attorney Francis Healey for the girl agreed to this settlement and the jury signed a verdict for that amount on the order of the judge.

Love Letters Shown.

Twenty-five love letters written to her by Mr. Deverman were a part of the evidence in the suit.

The merchant and the German fraulein, according to her evidence, met in June of 1926 on board a liner while both were on their way to the United States. She was then 19 and he, it was stated, was in his early 40's.

Miss Worthman said he told her that when she married him she would have a car and chauffeur and maids and everything her heart could desire and he also promised that in five years he would buy her an estate on the Rhine and they would go there to live, she recalled.

His Letters Dwindle.

Miss Worthmann, through Attorney Healy, said Mr. Deverman wrote her two letters a week for a year. The twenty-five of these which were read in court were of dates from July, 1926, to April, 1927. At first, during June and August, 1926, there were two a week, but they grew fewer, until in November and December there were only two each.

Often he called her "My Dear Cinderella," and on one occasion he whote: "Since you mention stockings, I am sending you some of our stock in the store. They are, of course, not the best, for we are selling them not over 98 cents."

In one letter he promised to put her in a beauty contest. In another, after she had discovered he was a married man, he said his home life was unhappy, and that his wife didn't understand him.

In this letter he continued:

"They will tell you that I am bad; I should never have loved you. I assure you I could not help it."

GIRL TELLS HOW SHE SLEW HUBBY TO "END MISERY"

Bares Sordid Story of Paris Debauchery.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 30.—A weird and sordid tale of a life of debauchery led by a smart young Parisian set, who are always bent on seeking new "sensations," and which ended in murder, was told in a hushed courtroom here today, when the trial of Mme. Didi Weiller for murder began.

Didi, who is the blond daughter of a rich manufacturer, pumped three revolver bullets into her husband last December after a night of orgy in the strange haunts of Montparnasse and Montmartre, many of which are familiar to American tourists.

Odds in Favor of Killer.

She appeared today to answer for the killing, with the odds at ten to one for acquittal, for Parisian juries never have failed to acquit women murderers, whom they consider victims of "crimes of passion" and not real crimes.

Didi today told a spicy story, between sobs, of how she had met her husband, a nephew of Gen. Weiller, a Legion of Honor man, in a Montmartre resort. They fell in love, lived together for five years, and finally married shortly before the arrival of an infant.

On the night of the shooting, she admitted, she had quarreled with her husband, but later they "made up" and started on a round of black and tan dance resorts, where wealthy white men and women mix freely over cocktails and champagne with their darker brethren.

Tells of Killing.

When Didi and her husband returned home, he flew into a wild rage, due, she said, to wounds suffered in the war. Didi feared bodily injury, so she emptied her revolver at him.

Judge—But after he lay wounded and helpless on the floor you wanted to finish him, didn't you?

Didi—I did not want him to suffer any more.

Judge—So you stepped up, nimbly bent over him, and shot him in the ear, didn't you?

"Oui, oiu," cried the defendant, and there was such an uproar in the court that the session had to be adjourned for five minutes to restore order among the excited Frenchmen.

A maid then testified that after the shooting Mme. Weiller powdered her nose, rouged her lips, and then called the police.

Ask Council for $310,000 to Repair Storm Damage

Storm damage to city property from the gales that swept Lake Michigan last week was brought to the attention of the aldermen yesterday when requests for $310,000 for repairs were presented to the council finance committee. Repairs to the two mile crib off Oak street beach, which supplies water to the loop and adjacent districts, call for the expenditure of $200,000 according to the figures, and the other $110,000 is needed to repair street endings along the lake front.

ALWART PICTURES UNION'S CUDGEL OVER COAL CO.

Independent Dealer Tells Story to Grand Jury.

The difficulties of an independent coal dealer, who was willing to sell coal at a "reasonable" profit without adding any racketeer extras to his bills, were related to the grand jury yesterday afternoon by Paul J. Alwart of the Alwart Brothers Coal company. He was one of the organizers, he said, of the Chicago Retail Coal Merchants' association, but when he dropped out of the organization because of its too close alliance with the unions, his troubles started.

Alwart told the jurors and Assistant State's Attorneys George Lavin and Homer Dodge that the coal association was formed in 1926 with about seventy members. The original idea was to promote good fellowship in the trade. He said he soon found a certain clique working with the Chicago Coal Teamsters' union.

His Workers Strike.

"I sent in my resignation, but it was not accepted at first," he said. "I demanded that it be accepted and two days after I was so notified I found I had a strike on my hands."

Alwart said he was advertising his coal prices in the newspapers and that Roy Younger, one of the union business agents, told him this was the cause of the strike and that he must discontinue this practice. The strike would be called off, he was told, if he stopped advertising. At first he refused, but finally had to give in.

"From then on strikes were periodically called at my yards, especially in the cold snaps when the coal business is good," he said. "I turned over my hauling to a cartage company, thinking this would end my troubles, but it did not help."

Sends Increased Dues.

Alwart said a friend advised him to rejoin the association. He said he sent in an application with a check. He was then notified, he said, that the dues had been increased to $700 and he sent the additional amount, but that failed to bring the desired membership then.

His next trouble was a charge by the union that he had violated some of the rules. A "kangaroo court trial" cost him a $500 fine. He said, however, that he understood this fine was paid by the association when he threatened to make use of some affidavits in his possession.

In 1928 he was nearly put out of business by strikes and only the intervention of Mayor Thompson with John Sheridan, president of the union, saved him from ruin, Alwart said. He added that Younger and Charles Rickett, another business agent, told him that his "only salvation was to get back in the association."

"Forced to Boost Pay."

Alwart said that because of his troubles he was forced to pay higher wages to his teamsters and chauffeurs as well as to the coal "hikers." He was first forced to pay a $1 a day increase to each teamster and 75 cents to each hiker, and later he was raised another dollar. He said this continued until the situation was called to the attention of the authorities at Washington, D. C.

The grand jury will adjourn today, but the prosecutors said the evidence will be presented to the new jury next month.

BOARD OF ASSESSORS DECIDE PRINTING COST INQUIRY NOT THEIRS

Action on charges that the James T. Igoe Printing company, headed by Congressman James T. Igoe, has defrauded the county of $62,206 by inflating bills for the printing of personal property tax lists was again delayed yesterday by county officials.

J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert, made his demand before the county board finance committee for an investigation by the state's attorney three weeks ago. The committee decided the matter was entirely up to the board of assessors. State's Attorney Swanson refused to act unless investigation was demanded through official chanels. Yesterday the assessors sent the complaint back to the finance committee, holding Jacobs responsible for the inflation, since it was his duty to approve or disapprove the bills, and denying that the problem was theirs.

Jacobs made a heated demand for the board to request Swanson to act. He denounced the alleged inflation as a daring raid on the county treasury. He also repeated his contention that it is up to the assessors to make amends. The committee voted to refer the matter back to the assessors.

ESCAPES TRIAL WHEN HE WEDS GIRL ACCUSER

Walter J. Van Alstyne, who says he is a graduate of the University of Southern California, solved one of his troubles yesterday by marrying Miss Ernestine Jung of Niles Center, who had made a confidence game charge against him. She had accused him of defrauding her of $4,100 while they were engaged.

"Are you ready to marry Miss Jung?" Judge Francis Borrelli asked Van Alstyne when he was arraigned in the Felony court.

"I would like to marry her, but I could not marry any girl while under this cloud," replied the defendant.

Van Alstyne was hurried to the county building and a marriage license obtained. After the marriage ceremony was performed Assistant State's Attorney Frank J. Mast entered a dismissal order. A second charge of abduction, preferred by Miss Muriel Limpus, who was ill and could not be in court yesterday, was continued.

GYM EXERCISES BY CLEMENCEAU BRING RELAPSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Georges Clemenceau suffered a relapse today after insisting on doing his morning gymnastics, against the doctor's orders, besides getting up three times during the night to write a few pages of his memoirs.

Dr. De Gennes found him in almost complete state of collapse when he called at 10 o'clock this morning. His valet admitted to the physician that his master had summoned a physical instructor at 7 a. m. and had gone through 15 minutes of strenuous setting up exercises.

The doctor left word that a gendarme be posted at the doorway of the Clemenceau home to guard the former premier against unwelcome visitors, and not to admit the physical instructor again, even if the "Tiger" calls for him.

U. S. RUSHES SIX DESTROYERS TO CHINESE WATERS

Heavy Fighting in Civil War Brings Order.

MANILA, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The United States destroyers Pope, Truxton, and Peary left here tonight for Chinese waters on orders from Rear Admiral Charles B. McVay Jr., and the Stewart, Pillsbury, and Parrott will depart tomorrow morning under similar instructions. These six ships only recently returned from Chinese waters.

Admiral McVay's order was interpreted here as meaning that American naval authorities in China considered the situation serious. The move followed closely the renewed fighting in the Yangtse valley between Nationalists and "Peoples Army" rebel forces.

Rebels in Retreat.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 30.—Heavy fighting between government troops and rebel forces has been going on since Sunday and is increasing as the government forces push on, spreading battle lines along an area from Chengchow in northern Honan province to Yuchow, in the southwest.

According to government reports the Kuominchun rebel line is retreating to the west bank of the Loho river. The government claims 500 rebels were taken prisoners with 500 rifles, six machine guns and one field gun captured at the battle of Yenshih. The government also claims that its airplane bombers wiped out the Kuominchun forces at Tengfeng.

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek arrived at Hankow today and immediately summoned a military conference. It is understood that Gen. Chiang will proceed to the front at once to intensify the attack on the rebels.

RAID CHINESE TOWNS

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD FLAGSHIP, CHINESE SUNGARI RIVER FLEET, FUCHIN, Manchuria, Oct. 30.—City Magistrate Sueh Cha-ojf of Fuchin tonight announced that soviet troops have either bombed, burned or looted a dozen important towns, as follows: Macholi, Dalai-nor, Suefenho, Tunming, Suiyan, Nobey, Tsaohsinehun, Yaoho, Muin, Moshan, Tungkiang and Fuchin, since the beginning of hostilities.

With strong northern gales blowing over the Sungari and Amur rivers, it is not believed that the Russian fleet will make a new attempt to enter the Sungari with the object of menacing Harbin and intervening towns. Admiral Shen Hung-lieh, commander of the Chinese northeastern fleet, as well as the Sungari river gunboats, has announced that he has ordered all cargo ships off the lower Sungari within three days. The gunboats will remain stationed on the Sungari, between Fuchin and Lahasusu, until the Russians are forced to take their fleet off the Amur, which usually freezes over before the Sungari.

The admiral believes that unless the Reds make another attempt to enter the river within a fortnight, the freezing river will provide an effective blockade for one month and until the river is sufficiently frozen to enable military transport on its surface.

By this time the Chinese expect military forces will be sufficient to block any Russian attempt to invade.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

STATE ENGINEER RUSHING CHICAGO AREA ROAD PLANS

Cleaveland Says Delays Will Be Minimized.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—[Special.] Harry H. Cleaveland, director of the state department of public works and buildings, today announced that surveys and plans for construction projects in the program for state highway developments in the metropolitan area are being rushed, so that when funds are available, and the necessary rights of way have been secured, contracts may be let without delay.

"We have made a most thorough study of the program of construction proposed by the citizens' committee which was formed at the request of Gov. Emmerson some time ago. We have also given careful consideration to the report which was submitted by the Chicago Motor club. We find that in the main these programs are identical, differing only in the amount of highways which are to be planned, in the amount of new two-way roads which are to be constructed, and in certain details regarding quality of construction."

Engineer's Staff at Work.

"There are sufficient projects on which there is unanimous agreement to more than absorb the funds which will be available in 1930. Mr. Frank C. Sheets, chief highway engineer, and his staff are busily engaged in making detailed surveys and plans for all of the road projects recommended in these reports, and the necessary right of way dedication papers, which must be signed before contracts are let, will be released to the local right of way committees at the earliest possible date."

Appreciation and general approval of the recommendations submitted also was expressed by Mr. Cleaveland.

Need for Wider Roads Seen.

"The department recognizes the great importance and outstanding significance of widening as rapidly as possible radial highways leading from the city of Chicago," he continued, "and we are convinced that soon practically every state bond issue route radiating from Chicago and lying within the boundaries of state bond issue route 22 will have to be widened to carry at least four lines of traffic. We appreciate especially the importance of separating grades not only with railroads, but also at intersecting main highways, in order that safety and continuous flow of traffic may be obtained.

"The problem of securing the right of way necessary for these projects is one of the most serious to be overcome in speeding up highway improvement in the metropolitan area, and as has always been true, this phase of the work is to be performed by the people of the metropolitan area. Also, considerable time may be consumed in negotiating with railway companies regarding the division of cost of railroad grade separation.

Some Projects May Be Retarded.

"It is therefore obvious that these problems may be more difficult of solution in the case of some projects than others, and that unavoidable delay may retard action on some construction which has been given a preferred priority rating by the committee.

"It would be unwise to hold up action on other projects of practically the same importance merely on account of the priority rating which, at our suggestion, has been recommended. In such event the department will be forced to adopt the only practical course of placing under contract for construction those widenings, new roads, and grade separations for which the right of way is promptly obtained. Otherwise the speeding up of the metropolitan highway program which is earnestly desired by all parties concerned would be greatly handicapped."

Leviathan Breaks Tourist Record at Cherbourg Port

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 30.—The United States government's flagship Leviathan broke the summer tourist record for the port of Cherbourg, carrying 12,252 passengers and 16,075 sacks of mail, according to figures published today by the Cherbourg chamber of commerce. The White Star liner Majestic was second with 11,644 passengers and 25,201 sacks of mail, and the Berengaria third with 10,415 passengers.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.

SCIENTIST ILL

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, center of a 29 year "pure food" war as chief chemist of the department of agriculture from 1883 to 1912, is seriously ill at his home here.

The storm center of such controversies as "the battle of benzoate of soda" was 85 on Oct. 18. His age and his decline during the last few weeks have caused anxiety among his friends and family. His insistence on purity of food and food flavors and preservatives kept him in the limelight over a long period of years. After his resignation he became contributing editor of a magazine devoted to food problems.

JAILS AUTOIST FOR 4 MONTHS IN DRY CRUSADE

As the second step in his campaign to enforce sobriety in Kane county, County Judge Olney C. Allen at Aurora yesterday sentenced Fred Topple of Wheaton to 120 days in jail on a charge of driving while drunk, and announced that in the future all drunken drivers will be given jail sentences.

Topple was charged with driving an automobile which collided with another driven by Mrs. E. Mosely of Aurora on Oct. 4, seriously injuring Mrs. Mosely, who had just returned from a hospital following an operation.

Judge Allen's campaign for sobriety was launched a month ago, when he sentenced one man to work on the county roads under guard and announced that all other persons convicted for the second time of violating prohibition laws would be given similar sentences.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES DELAY APOLOGY OVER M'ANDREW

Consideration of Trustee James Mullenbach's resolution demanding that the board of education apologize to the people of Chicago for the so-called trial and ouster of William McAndrew as superintendent of schools nearly two years ago, was indefinitely postponed yesterday by the school board's committee of the whole.

Mr. Mullenbach and Mrs. W. S. Heffernan were the only school board trustees to vote against postponing action on the resolution.

PETITIONS ASK BOND ISSUE FOR SUPERHIGHWAY

Protest Assessment for Through Streets.

BY HAL FOUST.

Twenty-one owners of property assessed for the widening and paving of Augusta boulevard addressed a letter to the west park board yesterday, protesting against the practice of levying special assessments for through streets. They argue that fast through traffic detracts instead of adding to the value of abutting residence property.

The taxpayers, headed by Thomas P. Bolger, 1045 North Lorel avenue, in the same letter indorse the $20,000,000 bond issue for the construction of the Austin-Kinzie elevated boulevard, contending that this is the only equitable system of financing traffic arteries.

Conception of Values Changing.

The west park board, like other local governments, for years has taxed property owners for street improvements that have brought traffic past their doors. It was accepted as a fact that heavy automobile travel increased the value of realty.

The growth of congestion has changed this former conception of the relation of traffic to realty values.

Today it is accessibility to rapid transportation and not the volume of traffic passing the site that influences property prices. Busy boulevards are not the most desirable residence streets. As for business, rapid through traffic in front of a store discourages customers from parking to shop.

The west side is suffering from street congestion. Narrow streets are choked with automobiles. Daily an average of 113,000 cars crosses the western city limits and 158,000 cars enter the central business district from the west.

West Side to Decide Tuesday.

The entire west side on Tuesday is to vote on a project that will remove 80,000 of these automobiles from the surface streets. Property owners are being asked to pay to lessen the traffic in front of their homes rather than to increase the number.

This removal of 80,000 cars from the surface streets is calculated not only to relieve congestion but to reduce the motor toll. There were more than a thousand persons killed by automobiles in Cook county last year.

Would Solve Many Problems.

With 80,000 cars off the surface streets there will be more space available for parking. Local traffic—the housewife on a shopping trip to the community business center—will not have to buck the rush of through traffic. School children will have fewer cars to dodge.

These rehabilitated surface streets will also serve in driving to and from the elevated boulevard from various parts of the west park district. The superhighway will give west side property the new factor in determining realty values—accessibility to rapid transportation.

"The opponents of this highway," reads the property owners' letter to the park board, "are offering as a counter proposal a so-called through street program and are laying special stress on north and south through streets. If this counter proposal is carried out, it means the obnoxious special assessment feature. And through streets, even if completed, can not serve permanently to relieve traffic congestion, but will breed more congestion by installing more stop and and go lights."

RAISE LEGAL ISSUE IN GIVING SCHOOL LAND TO WIDEN ROADWAY

President Caldwell of the school board yesterday asked the board's attorneys whether it can legally dedicate a 17 foot strip of its Austin tract between Cicero and Central avenues for the widening of Roosevelt road. James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago plan commission, recently censured the school board for obstructing the Roosevelt road widening project by demanding compensation for its property.

Members of the council finance committee yesterday entered into an agreement with President Caldwell for the sale of a large part of the Austin school tract which is valued at between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. Under the arrangement the aldermen will advertise for bids and accept or reject them in accordance with the views of a special committee of citizens appointed by the school board to oversee the transaction.

HUSBAND CRUEL ON JUNGLE TRIP, WIFE CHARGES

Mrs. Ella Sage, 10509 Avenue L, yesterday filed a bill for divorce in the Superior court against William C. Sage, a mining engineer. She charges cruelty, alleging that her husband was guilty of extreme mistreatment when he transferred her from a civilized life to a barbarous existence in Peru, South America, subjecting her to inhuman hardship.

The Sages were married April 6, 1928, after a short courtship. The following August he urged her to accompany him to Peru. On the first day of their arrival he is said to have forced her to ride for 11 hours on a horse, although she had never before mounted a horse. The following day she was forced to cross on horseback a narrow cable bridge over a deep ravine, the bill states.

The following December Sage is said to have deserted her among strangers and uncivilized Indians. She succeeded in returning to her home by communicating with her parents. Mrs. Sage is represented by Attorney Pearl Hart.

Favors Tax Increase for Realty Reassessment

George O. Fairweather, member of the joint commission on real estate valuations, which recommended the scientific reassessment of Cook county real estate, yesterday indorsed the proposed 6 cent increase in the county's taxes for 1929 to defray the cost of the work. The indorsement was made in a letter to President Cermak of the county board. The proposition is on the ballot for the election of Nov. 5.

CHICAGO TO GET NEW TRACKLESS TROLLEY BUSES

The virtual victory of northwest side residents in their fight for 7 cent surface lines feeder bus service in Belmont and Diversey avenues will introduce a new type of transportation in Chicago. This was learned yesterday when surface lines officials announced that they plan to initiate the service with electrically driven buses that derive their power from trolleys like street cars, but do not use tracks.

The announcement followed a suggestion made by Chairman Charles W. Hadley of the Illinois commerce commission at a hearing yesterday morning that the surface lines procure the funds necessary to establish the feeder bus accomodations. He said that when these funds are available the commission will issue an order authorizing the new service.

Funds for Service Promised.

Harry P. Weber, counsel for the surface lines, assured the commission that sufficient money to establish the new service will be obtained. He estimated that approximately $200,000 will be required.

The day's developments indicated to northwest side residents that they had won their long fight to obtain the 7 cent feeder buses, with street car transfer privilege, in preference to the 10 cent bus service operated by the Chicago Motor Coach company.

The commerce commission's original order authorizing the surface line buses has been opposed in the courts by the motor coach company, but last week the Illinois Supreme court handed down a decision upholding the commission. The coach company has asked a rehearing.

New Electric Bus Described.

The new electric buses will be put in operation in both Diversey and Belmont avenues, according to Attorney Weber. They will be of the same general design as the surface line buses now operating in Diversey avenue, but instead of gasoline engines, high speed electric motors will be used for motive power, the electricity being obtained from overhead trolleys.

The trolley wires will be strung on each side of the street and will permit a deviation of about ten feet on either side for passing moving or parked vehicles. A motorman will operate the bus in much the same manner as he now does a street car. Each coach will seat forty persons.

Attorney Weber said that Vice President G. A. Richardson and engineers of the surface lines have been studying the trackless trolley bus for some time.

GIRL BANDIT GOES ON TRIAL; STATE REJECTS HER PLEA

Miss Josephine Dobscher, 19 years old, 1611 West Ohio street, called the "red slicker bandit" by the police, was refused a bargain yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks. She offered through her attorney to plead guilty if the state would waive the felony and allow her a Bridewell sentence.

"Absolutely not," said the prosecutor when approached with the bargain proposition. "She is the same as any man who commits a similar offense. Too many of these girls are running around with men committing stickups."

A jury was chosen yesterday and Hyman Bortwick, 2853 West Twenty-second street, told how he was held up by the girl and William Levinson, who has not been apprehended.

U. S. Lien on $80,000 Fund of Alleged Bootlegger

Chief Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue Robert E. Neely yesterday secured a lien on an $80,000 trust fund which John J. Nolan, reputed to be a wealthy bootlegger, had established in the Foreman Trust and Savings bank. Nolan is under indictment for failure to pay more than $1,500,000 in income taxes and the fund was attached pending the outcome of the suit.

Rogers, Ark., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Apparently a victim of an accidental discharge from his own shotgun, J. Everett Stroud, 45, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Will Rogers, wife of the humorist, was found dead in a ravine near here today. Accidental death was the verdict of a coroner's inquest. Indigestion Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude ideas. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

11 CAPTAINS ARE SHIFTED; RUSSELL WARNS POLICE

Lax Officers Will Face Trial, He Says.

Eleven police stations will have new commanders this morning as the result of an order issued yesterday by Commissioner of Police Russell transferring eleven captains, two sergeants and fifty-four patrolmen. The order is the latest step taken by the commissioner to place the lid on gambling which has been uncovered recently by men from his office and by the state's attorney's forces.

Three of the captains, Patrick Kelliher, Paul A. Wheeler, and Thomas Duffy, are taken from their clerical work on the first deputy's roll, to which they were assigned a week ago, and given active duty again. The period they spent "on the bench," according to the commissioner served as a reprimand, but any more lax enforcement by captains will be treated more drastically.

To Face Suspension.

"After this, instead of benching the captains by placing them on the first deputy's roll, I shall suspend them and prefer charges against them with the police trial board," said Commissioner Russell. "I don't mean that any of the captains misbehaved but I want every one on their toes to obtain a more strict enforcement of the laws."

Matthew Hamer, Deering street to South Chicago, replacing Lieut. John J. Ford, who has been acting captain.

Joseph J. Dubsch, as acting captain, Brighton Park to Chicago Lawn.

John P. Horan, Sheffield avenue to Town Hall, replacing Lieut. John J. Benson, who has been acting captain.

Cleanup Is Expected.

Replacement of Capt. Ryan by Capt. Allman, by reputation one of the "hardest" men in the department and who earlier in the year was sent successively to New City and Stockyards to clean up those districts, was seen to be the most significant shift in the order. Investigators under Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, last week found gambling in a restaurant in the East Chicago avenue district and it was reported that Allman was placed there to conduct another cleanup.

CRIME COMMISSION DEMANDS PUNISHMENT OF ALLEGED FIXER

Officials of the Crime Commission yesterday pondered the question: "If one judge has promised to discharge a defendant is another judge bound by that promise?". The query refers to the case of Vito Marzullo, charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice by offering a bribe in an effort to prevent prosecution of William Ward, a pickpocket, first convicted in 1895.

"Marzullo was a fixer in the Ward case," said Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Crime Commission, "and it is important that he be prosecuted. John Pastorello was the prosecuting witness against Ward. Marzullo went to his home and offered Pastorello $150 to dismiss his charge against Ward. A policeman was present in the house and heard the offer. Marzullo was arrested and taken before Judge Edgar A. Jonas and the case was continued several times, and then Judge Francis Borrelli took Judge Jonas' place.

"Attorney Nunzio Bonelli, representing Marzullo, told Judge Borrelli that Judge Jonas had promised to dismiss the charge against Marzullo when the Ward trial was over, but our court observer says he did not hear any such promise made."

Ward was convicted Tuesday. Marzullo's case will come before Judge Borelli tomorrow.

TRIAL WITNESS SUES PANTAGES; ASKS $250,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Frederick Wise, recent witness against Alexander Pantages in the trial in which Pantages was convicted of rape, today filed a $250,000 slander suit against the jailed theater magnate.

Wise, who is an actor and a playwright, demands $150,000 for the alleged slander and an extra $100,000 punitive damages. He asserts that the millionaire defendant twice accused him of conspiring with Eunice Pringle, complainant in the rape trial, to blackmail him.

According to Wise's complaint, Pantages first uttered the charge on Aug. 9, shortly after Miss Pringle's screams had brought police to Pantages' office suite. Wise charges Pantages pointed him out on that occasion and said: "It is nothing but a blackmail plot. He and Eunice Pringle framed me."

On Oct. 24, during the trial, Wise asserts, Pantages publicly charged him with "conspiring with Eunice Pringle and others to blackmail me."

Wise states that he never saw either Pantages or Miss Pringle before Aug. 9, when, attracted by screams, he helped to lead the girl out of Pantages' office and calmed her.

Shoot Express Cashier Dead; Scoop Up Cash

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Two unmasked men entered the American Railway Express office at closing time tonight, shot the cashier dead, bound another employé, took several hundred dollars from the cash register, and made their escape. John M. Ivester, the cashier, was shot without warning.

BOMBS SOLD LIKE GROCERIES; JURY GETS CONFESSION

Two on Trial Hear Secrets Bared.

Bombs were traded over the grocery counter, just as other commodities, according to confessions read to a jury yesterday in Judge Harry Lewis' Criminal court by First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup. They were the confessions of Carlo Oliviero, who operated a grocery and candy store at 1755 West Taylor street, and Joseph Cerra, 2443 Arthington street, a truck chauffeur.

Oliviero and Cerra are on trial for the sale and manufacture of bombs. An effort to prosecute Cerra early in the summer failed, because Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the court refused to allow the prosecution to introduce his confession into evidence. Judge Lewis, however, ruled differently at the present trial, and the jury yesterday heard the confessions of the men whom Assistant State's Attorney James Brown contends are responsible for much of the bombing in Chicago and vicinity.

Defendants Deny Confessions.

The defendants are now denying the truth of their confessions, charging they were the result of police brutality. Judge Lewis, however, after spending three days outside the presence of the jury, decided that Lieut. George Barker and his bomb squad did not use violence or other unfair methods in obtaining the confessions.

Cerra was the original bomb maker. He, according to his confession, was skilled in the art because of his previous experience in making small, harmless bombs for Italian celebrations in Melrose Park. He imparted his knowledge to Oliviero, the grocer, and from then on the grocery store was the headquarters for the manufacture of the explosives. Dynamite, black powder, cotton, fuses, and the lead pipe with caps were stocked on the shelves of the store behind the regular grocery items. One of the bombs found in the store is on display for the jury.

Price Set at $75.

Cerra in his confession said he was approached on the subject of bomb making by Peter Fioretta, who is now in the penitentiary on a different charge.

"Fioretta told me that if that bomb [the first to be made] was good, he would fix me up good for the next bomb," says Cerra in his confession. The price for the first bomb was $75.

"I made about fifty scare bombs for Fioretta, bombs that would only break windows and not harm anybody. I sold him the fifty scare bombs for $650."

Cerra told of making eight or nine "heavy" bombs and of helping in some cases to place them in various stores. The victims of these bombs, as admitted by Cerra, will be brought into court today to testify as to the fact that bombs were exploded as related in the confessions.

CRIMINAL COURT.

John K. Baldi, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Stanley Klarkowski.

Welcome Heath, assault to rape, sentenced to the Chester asylum for criminal insane by Judge John J. Sullivan.

Michael Tangner, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary, by Judge G. Fred Bush.

Walter Hardy, rape, sentenced to 5 years in the penitentiary by Judge John P. McGoorty.

Booze Case Defendant on Probation.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Thelma Long, alias Mrs. Thelma Holland, 22 year old expectant mother, escaped a penitentiary sentence for violation of the state liquor laws today when she was placed on probation for three years.

The woman originally pleaded guilty to charges of possession of a still and received a one to five year prison sentence. She fought the sentence and finally a motion to set aside the judgment was granted and she was permitted to enter a not guilty plea.

On Oct. 9, date of her trial, she reversed her plea to guilty on the assurance of the state that her case was one for probationary consideration because of stigma on her unborn child by incarceration in a prison or jail.

At the time of her arrest she was caring for John Holland's six children by another marriage. Holland was sent to prison for life on liquor charges as a habitual criminal. Holland's former wife on her death bed accused the woman of stealing her husband.

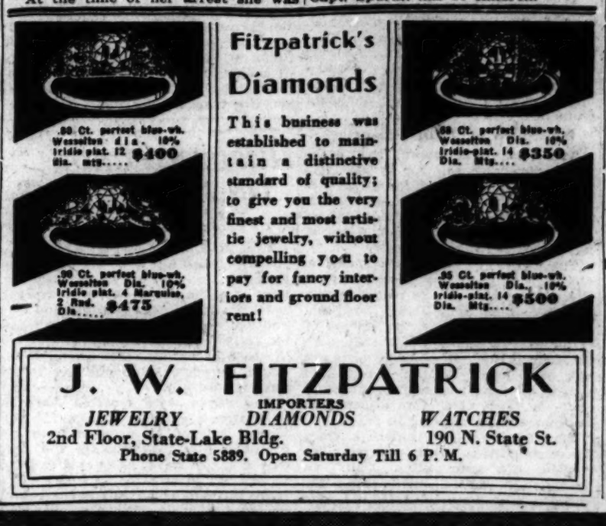

A federal grand jury inquiry into the alleged activities of a bootlegger during a recent convention at San Diego, Cal., involving two public officials and a number of residents there, was begun here today.

Mayor Harry Clark and Chief of Police A. R. Hill were summoned along with several other citizens of San Diego.

Federal agents said the action resulted from the arrest of Charles Mulock of San Diego, who, government evidence disclosed, had been given exclusive rights to sell liquor to persons attending the convention.

Justice Is Not Blind!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Justice is no longer dispensed by ignorant and individual domination. Another ancient prejudice stands convicted by AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE which insists that a jury "twelve good men, tried and true" decide the facts.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows ~~that~~ heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

BRITAIN REFUSES TARIFF BARS TO AID AGRICULTURE

Would Raise Living Costs, Farmers Are Told.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Labor government today rejected demands for tariff protection to British agriculture. For months the farmers have been asking the government for measures to prevent the dumping of German wheat in England, the imports of which were 25 times greater this year than last.

In parliament this afternoon Conservative members demanded measures to counteract the German wheat imports, either through an import tax or through a subsidy to the British wheat growers. In refusing the demand, Minister of Agriculture Buxton said the Labor party's stand is that a food import tax would mean higher living costs and that it was impossible to levy an import tax under the existing Anglo-German commercial treaty. He rejected the subsidy proposal as impracticable.

Protest German Advantages.

"The Labor government cannot grant a subsidy, nor solve this problem of British agriculture any more easily than could the last government," Mr. Buxton said.

Those backing the demand for tariff protection or a subsidy for agriculture, argued that the British farmer could not compete with the Germans, who not only had cheap labor, some as low as 6 cents an hour, but who also got a bounty from the government. It is impossible to rehabilitate agriculture here, they said, or make it pay so long as the continental countries, benefitted by more favorable conditions, can undersell the British agriculturists in their own market. Furthermore, they argued, the continental bounty system on wheat growing, by putting the British farmer at a disadvantage, was also adding to unemployment here.

May Revise Trade Pact.

While no relief through protection was promised by the government today, it appeared likely that when the present Anglo-German trade treaty expires at the end of next year it will be amended so that duties may be applied on those agricultural products which are subsidized by the German government.

Today's demands for agricultural protection are the result of a campaign for free trade within the British empire, with a tariff on imports, including food, from other countries, and are being backed by the Canadian, Lord Beaverbrook, and a section of the Conservative party.

U. OF C. GETS SYRIAC MSS. DEALING WITH EARLY CHRISTIANITY

Two valuable Syriac manuscripts, which may throw new light on Christianity in the near east from the fourth to the tenth centuries, have become the property of the University of Chicago. They were brought out of Turkey by a native of Iraq who got them from a monk at Beirut. They were subsequently sold to Prof. Martin Sprengling of the oriental languages department of the university.

The larger of the books is believed to be the largest Syriac manuscript in existence. Measuring 25 by 15 inches, it weighs 50 pounds and contains 662 pages. It is called a "Collection of Selected Discourses of All Kinds on All the Feasts Composed by Orthodox Holy Fathers." The shorter book contains liturgical acts, songs, prayers and Bible readings for every day of the year.

The manuscripts are handwritten od goat or antelope parchment and show marks of waterlogging at the edges, probably from having been kept in caves or cellars, according to Prof. Sprengling. The inscribed parts are in perfect condition, and more than half the material has never been published.

DELAY INDIANA RUM CASES UNTIL AFTER ELECTION

Attorneys for the 100 or more "principals" in the northern Indiana rum conspiracies succeeded yesterday in postponing the arraignment of their clients until Wednesday, the day following most of the municipal elections in Lake county. Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick agreed to the continuance at South Bend after the lawyers said they had learned the details of the indictments only yesterday and would be unable to consider the contents by Monday, when the defendants were originally scheduled to be arraigned.

About 100 others, alleged "small fry," liquor offenders, will be forced to plead on Monday before Judge Slick at Hammond, where all the Lake county cases will be heard.

The principals who will face the court Wednesday include Mayor Raleigh P. Hale, Chief of Police James Regan, and Chief of Detectives Martin Zarkovich of East Chicago and two score of Gary policemen and several minor politicians and officials. Hale will probably be reelected Tuesday, according to East Chicago political gossip.

BRITISH MINERS TO GET SHORTER DAY, SAME PAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Advance news of the Labor government plans on a half dozen different subjects leaked out tonight. The most important is the plan to redeem the preelection pledge to reduce the coal miner's working hours without simultaneously reducing his wages.

The scheme, outlined today, provides for cutting down the working day from eight to seven and a half hours instead of the seven hours the miners ask. The government is also expected to take the course of nationalizing royalties in order to prevent the price of coal from going up, which would cause a setback to industry just as it is beginning to get on its feet.

Another important move is the appointment of a committee of 17, headed by the earl of Donoughmore, to investigate methods to end government by bureaucracy.

Japan Criminal Prefers Chances with Judge to Jury

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Oct. 30.—The Japanese criminal has clearly shown during the last year that he prefers to be tried by a judge. The jury system, which was introduced for the first time in this country a year ago, proved far less popular than its supporters had anticipated. Only 123 cases were tried by juries during the entire year.

ITALY INCREASES ITS NAVY BUDGET BY $30,000,000

Rushes Completion of All Ships by 1932.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Oct. 30.—In order to assure the completion, by 1932 of, Italy's present naval building program, an increase in the naval budget was decreed today. The official Gazette reveals that for the fiscal years of 1930, 1931, and 1932 Italy's naval chief will be able to dispose of an additional $10,093,900 annually over the present yearly budget of $21,286,100.

All craft called for on the present program have been laid down. They consist of two so-called treaty cruisers of 10,000 tons, of which one is of the formidable Trento class; two 5,500 ton cruisers of the Condottieri class; four destroyers of the Exploror class, and five submarines. They are all to be put in service by 1932 at the latest.

"No Naval Dreams."

Announcement of the increase in naval expenditures was made without comment. However, Admiral Carlo Grenet, Italian naval authority, whom some consider the unofficial mouthpiece of the government, declares in the Corriere della Sera that there is nothing startling in the increase.

"I do not want to create the false impression that Italy is dreaming of great naval developments," the admiral says. "Anybody who knows Italy's financial situation and knows how much it costs to start even a modest series of naval developments, will not misinterpret the announcement. The money is to go for completion of the program approved at the January ministerial council."

Six 10,000 Ton Cruisers.

Admiral Grenet claims that the program is the result of deterioration of pre-war units and that the Italian navy consists in reality only of a small but efficient nucleus of light units. He says that Italy will be able to count, by 1932, on six good 10,000 ton cruisers to head the list, which includes a lot of crack smaller cruisers, speedy destroyers, and 32 submarines.

The new Italian submarine Tito Speri of the Mameli class was tried out in the gulf of Spezia today and established an Italian depth record of 341 feet. It remained at the bottom for 20 minutes, maintaining communication with the surface all the time by means of a hydrophone. It is of 830 surface tons, 211 feet long and is the last of a series of four.

WARDER DENIES CHARGE OF CHIEF BANK EXAMINER

New York, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Frank H. Warder, former state superintendent of banking, took the witness stand today to deny that he ordered his chief bank examiner not to send his men to the now defunct City Trust company to examine its accounts.

His appearance on the witness stand came as a great surprise near the end of the eighth day of his trial on a charge that he accepted a bribe of $10,000 from the late Francesco M. Ferrari, president of the City Trust, in exchange for keeping examiners out of the bank last September.

George W. Egbert, chief examiner, testified for the state last week and charged that at four different times Warder had directed him not to look into the affairs of the Harlem Bank of Commerce and the Atlantic State bank, which became the City Trust company, and also advised him not to go into the City Trust after it was organized from the two other banks.

Warder was preceded on the stand today by his 23 year old daughter, Virginia. Having testified that her father was dining with her at the New York Athletic club at the time the bribe was said to have been delivered by an earlier witness, Miss Warder, on cross-examination, turned out to be what the state believes is the best witness for the prosecution yet to have taken the stand. She admitted that Ferrari had given her a Chrysler car three years ago.

THE SENATE MEETS MR. GRUNDY.

Joseph R. Grundy, the Pennsylvania lobbyist, was given a turn in the witness chair by the senate lobby investigators, and what thereupon followed was as pertinent to the whole subject of national government as it was irrelevant to the particular subject the senators had in hand. Mr. Grundy as representative of industrial interests in Pennsylvania is not a person high in the esteem of the senators who were quizzing him, but all in all they got along fairly well in a discussion which ranged from the forming of the federal constitution to the use of cement in agriculture.

Mr. Grundy maintained with spirit his main contention: That it was unfortunate the American congressional system had to grant equality of voting in the senate to areas of small importance and areas of great importance. Thus certain of his inquisitors—Mr. Borah of Idaho, Mr. Walsh of Montana, Mr. Caraway of Arkansas, etc.—were in positions of importance the authority for which was not derived from the importance of their states in population, in industry, or anything essential to the welfare of the country. Some of the members of the United States senate represent scenery with the same voting strength in the senate as that of the representation of the country's essential enterprises.

Mr. Grundy suggested that inasmuch as the condition was without other remedy it might be appropriate for the senators from what he called the backward states to use moderation and not constantly to undertake to base a control of the great states upon the authority of the small rural populations. Senator Walsh suggested that the witness wished to improve their intelligence. He replied that he would want them only to exercise it.

His point proved entertaining to the senators, but it need not be hoped that it will prevail. The states which make small contribution directly or indirectly to the progress of the country or the maintenance of its government will press upon its affairs an influence which has no political responsibility in the matters acted upon. Their states have little or no direct stake in the questions to be decided and they can enjoy their individual eccentricities without accountability.

There is no correction for this unless it arises in the good judgment and intelligent character of the person who is able to throw monkey wrenches without having any of them curve back on his own head. Irresponsibility is the chief charm of senatorial existence when the states represented are inconsiderable in the life of the nation.

It is an added thought that many of these western states which produce irresponsibles were hurried into the Union by the Republican party after the war to counteract the influence of the returning Democratic states and that they now form alliances not with the progressive but with the unprogressive south.

OBSOLESCENCE AT SEA.

Whatever the official view of the wreck of the steamer Wisconsin, the public judgment is likely to be that the old boat should have been condemned before the disaster. The Wisconsin was built in 1881. Twice it had burned to the water's edge and twice it was rebuilt. Once it ran aground in a fog and again it was icebound. It is reported a week ago to have limped into the harbor of Racine.

The extreme age of the Wisconsin should have prompted the federal inspection service to be especially critical. The Wisconsin apparently was not without symptoms of decrepitude and the inspectors would have been justified in the strictest application of their authority. Perhaps the inspectors may be relieved of responsibility on the plea that the Wisconsin measured to the department's regulations. If so, the regulations may be blamed, and the inspection service indirectly, for the inspectors are authorized to suggest changes in the rules.

Navigators complain that the government regulations are preoccupied with unessential or at least secondary details; that the boats are required to carry superannuated equipment in addition to modern instruments merely because the old rules still obtain. The experience of the Wisconsin indicates that there may be some reason in this complaint. It is claimed that the Wisconsin passed a recent inspection, but she was obviously unseaworthy. Her lifeboats may have been in condition, her pumps installed according to specifications, but the Wisconsin should not have left port. The importance of these details must not be undervalued, but certainly the first consideration is whether the vessel will float.

The regulations apparently need to be revised according to first principles. Inspectors should have authority to condemn obsolete vessels which under the present rules may be kept in service so long as their auxiliary equipment is satisfactory. A boat is a machine. Any other machine which has been at work for forty-eight years would be a museum piece. Most machines are obsolete in twenty-five years, some much sooner. There is no reason why boats should be kept in operation so much longer than other types of machinery. Great progress has been made, especially since the war, in marine engineering. Measures for greater safety have been produced. A boat launched nearly fifty years ago is an inexcusable relic not merely because of the years of buffeting and strain which it has experienced but because tremendous improvements in construction are available. If steamship operators are not sufficiently enterprising to replace their property according to reasonable principles of obsolescence, it is a legitimate function of the government to rule antiquated vessels off the water.

RAILWAYS AND MOTORWAYS.

The plan of constructing superhighways along railroad rights of way may prove a departure of far reaching importance in highway engineering. If the west side highway is authorized it will be the first elevated boulevard in Chicago to parallel a railroad embankment and one of the first of its kind in the country. The virtues of this construction are so obvious that, once it is introduced on the west side, it will undoubtedly be a model for many similar projects.

The railroads enter Chicago along logical, direct routes. They were designed to carry the greatest traffic at the least expense. Consequently they follow radial lines to the point of greatest congestion, a transportation principle which is equally important for motor traffic. Highway engineers are impressed with the necessity of providing Chicago with an adequate system of radial highways. Why not adapt for the use of the automobile the system which the railroads have laid out?

The cost of acquiring property for a wide, elevated boulevard is negligible along a railroad right of way. That is a considerable saving, for often the expense of condemning property is greater than the cost of actual construction in street improvements. Furthermore, the construction should be easier and less expensive along a railroad embankment: The railroad elevation saves the building of one retaining wall.

The west side is the greatest sufferer from inadequate transportation facilities. It is, therefore, imperative that the west side should have the first elevated motorway along a railroad. But other sections of the city have the same opportunity. Railroads take the straightest course north, northwest, south, and southwest. There is every reason why all these railways should also be motorways.

WAGING THE KELLOGG PEACE.

Chinese army and navy leaders complain that the Kellogg peace which is raging on the Manchurian front is a great disadvantage to them. They are endeavoring to interpret Russian movements by the new formula. Admiral Shen says he has lost a third of his marine force and does not know how to explain it. Before the pact he could have noted and reported a loss in battle, but inasmuch as this is peace, being waged by two governments which have taken the oath never to resort to force for the settlement of disputes, he has an incongruity on his hands. He probably must charge the loss to Russian hospitality and good will.

It is reported that in the battle of Lahasusu nearly 1,200 lives were lost, 400 Chinese soldiers, 300 Chinese marines, 60 Chinese sailors and 400 Russians, the last item indicating that the soviet forces have not found themselves immune in encountering the effects of the peace. Under the Kellogg treaty the Russians cannot be attacking the Chinese and invading their territory, but Admiral Shen intimates that the illusion is more disturbing than a reality. He is troubled to distinguish between what he saw in Europe when there was a war and what he sees in Manchuria when there is a peace. The Kellogg pact powers have defined the situation as peace and therefore when Russia raids villages, kills people, plunders farm land and attacks the Chinese military posts it must be in friendship. If the peace could be exchanged for a war Admiral Shen says he would be glad to take a more vigorous part in it and adopt measures which would give greater security to the country, but that the Chinese shrink from offending world opinion.

These embarrassments can be understood. Probably when the Chinese feel strong enough they may make a good will demonstration up the Amur valley and celebrate the peace heartily in some towns held by the Reds. By such carnivals of the dove the equilibrium may be maintained. Otherwise these outbreaks of peace will not give the participants equal opportunity to acquire merit.

THE UNDERMINING OF LIBERTY.

[New York World.]

The Supreme court of the United States has ruled in effect that in Iowa a man's house is no longer his castle. The legislature of that state has decreed otherwise. The court has sustained a decision of the Iowa courts that under Iowa law a dry agent does not need a search warrant when he enters a house to seek evidence of a violation of the prohibition law. Every door is supposed to open at a dry agent's knock, and no spot in any man's home is now immune to his prying eyes and busy fingers.

That such a condition exists is no fault of the courts. They have merely interpreted the purport of a statute for which presumably there is ample sanction in the state constitution. But this interpretation means that the drys in Iowa have repudiated one of the long cherished ideals of English speaking peoples in all parts of the world. In their desire to jail a few citizens who do not easily bend their necks to sumptuary laws they have decreed that the homes within their state are no longer sacrosanct. And all this is done under the guise of defending the home.

Is it possible that the lawmakers of Iowa have never heard of the writs of assistance of 1755, which empowered customs officers of the crown to search any home at their discretion in an effort to detect smuggled goods, and which provoked the freemen of Massachusetts to fury? Have they never heard of James Otis, who resigned his position as public prosecutor in that colony in order to appear on behalf of the people against these writs? There was a time when Americans abhorred tyranny. Where is the spirit of James Otis today?

DON'T SLEEP IN A BARREL.

THIS morning a gentleman from out of town came into the office. He has been having some interference with motion and sensation in his feet for a year or two. His physician suspected pernicious anemia because that disease sometimes causes a disease of the spinal cord with symptoms in the feet and legs. Examination of his blood ruled out that trouble. Another physician suggested locomotor ataxia. Examination of his blood and spinal fluid ruled that out. Had he come in later in the day I would have asked him if he were accustomed to sitting with his legs crossed. After he had gone I read in the American Medical Journal a report of paralysis of the feet and lower legs due to the habit of crossing the legs. This report was by Dr. H. W. Woltman, who had observed some twenty-seven cases.

Most of the important nerves and blood vessels are placed deep in the body, away from bones and embedded in fat. This architecture protects these important structures from injury. But around the knee joint and just below it the bones get plenty close to the skin, and here and there important nerves must run over bony knobs. The foot is another region in which nerves are more easily pinched than is the rule.

When a man crosses his legs he may press an important nerve against a bony knob located near the knee. This explains the tendency of the crossed foot to "go to sleep," a tendency which every one has noticed. This pressure, persisted in, may cause a more or less permanent paralysis of motion and sensation.

Women are not prone to develop this disorder because, in the first place, they do not have the cross legged habit. Second, their legs are fat. Third, their knees are built slightly different from those of men; they are a little less bony and gnarled and a little more inbent.

If a person has recently lost a lot of adipose tissue he is especially prone to this form of foot palsy. Dr. Woltman tells of a very fat man who was persuaded to reduce by eating nothing but carrots. He quickly lost a lot of weight and felt like the "last of pea time" in consequence. His carrot diet turned him yellow. Between his yellow hue and his weakness he became melancholy and he went to a ball game in the hope of forgetting impending death. He sat cross legged on the bleachers. Paralysis of the legs developed. Nothing remained but the undertaker. Rest, a better diet, and no carrots made a new man of him.

A man got drunk and sat on the end of an open barrel. He fell asleep and slipped into the barrel, more or less doubled up. He got this form of paralysis. A man playing poker and drinking whisky all night fell asleep as he sat cross legged, with his head on the table. When he settled he paid with leg paralysis, in addition to coin of the realm.

WHEN TEETH ARE SENSITIVE.

A. A. writes:

1. Is it a sign of oncoming pyorrhea if one's teeth hurt when he drinks ice water or anything cold?

2. I have had trouble with my foot for about seven months. I think it is eczema. The skin is always peeling and there is itching.

REPLY:

1. I judge you have sensitive dentine. This is not a symptom of pyorrhea.

2. So-called eczema of the feet is generally due to ringworm. It may be due to dyes in the socks or shoes. Find out which you have.

MUCH DEPENDS ON BUILD.

Daily Reader writes:

1. What is the correct weight for a man 21 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall?

2. How can he reduce? What foods will do this? Will exercise alone do this?

REPLY:

1. About 135 pounds, though much depends on bodily conformation and the size of the bones.

2. Any person can lose weight by increasing his daily work or exercise and by decreasing his food supply sufficiently. The fattening foods are: all starchy foods, all sweets and all fats.

But more important, even, than the proper selection of foods is proper elimination of quantities eaten.

IT'S A PAINFUL HEADACHE.

D. R. writes: What is migraine?

REPLY.

A form of headache. A name by which it is commonly known is sick headache. In some cases the pain is limited to a lateral half of the head.

BRING UP A HOUND IN THE WAY HE SHOULD GO, AND WHEN HE IS OLD, ETC., ETC.

We were afraid it would be a trifle difficult to bring up Tylwyth Teg, our Sealyham pup, in a proper manner, but the cultural upbringing of a small hound is really quite easy if you only get some good books on the subject. The authors of dog books have given great attention to the subject, and naturally they know all about it. So all you have to do is to follow their advice and you'll have no trouble.

We bought four books on how to rear a pup so he will take all the prizes at the dog show, and run for congress, and be generally an ornament to the community, and we don't mind passing on the information.

In the first place, give your Sealyham, or otherwise pup, a tablespoonful of minced raw meat twice a day mixed with his chopped puppy food. A dog is a carnivorous animal and his ancestors have handed down to him a fiendish desire to eat raw meat. But while you do this you must also remember to follow the advice of the other dog authorities, equally renowned, who say do not give your hound any raw meat under any circumstances. His far off ancestors may have eaten raw meat, but they chased their game to earth, and the chase gave them their fine appetites. Your parlor raised hound not being able to run down his game, even in Lincoln park or the Boul Mich, has no need for meat. Give him milk and puppy biscuit, toasted bread, cooked carrots, and other kinds of chicken feed, and if he turns up his nose at it kick the pants off'm.

But, ah, that brings up another important subject in which you must follow the authorities with great care. A dog has pants, of course, especially after he races around a while, but never kick Mr. Teg in the pants. Get a nice little switch, and when he will not obey you switch him over the snoot. But do not forget also that the other books say you must never strike a doggie. It turns his love for you to clabber. He will regard you not as a great beneficent being but as a bull-witted brute who can only control him by force and not by kindness. You must talk and reason with the small hound and make him see the error of his way by argument and by an appeal to his better nature.

And never give him eggs, but you should give him an egg every now and then; it's fine for him. And don't give him bones. But be sure and give him bones. And don't let him become lonesome and yowl. On the other hand, let him get lonesome and yowl; it teaches him to be manly and self-reliant. You may get thrown out of the flat by the landlord, but probably that is why the dog yowled; he wanted to move.

Anyhow, the books were unanimous on one thing: the growing purp must never have potatoes in any form, shape, or manner; raw, boiled, or fried. That's good, but we have decided to read no more dog books. The next one will say: "No better food for the growing dog or the one that is fully grown and ready to vote is better than the common or garden potato. Serve him potatoes at each and every meal." We are glad that there's one subject all the dog authors agree on. But no more books.

And the Paris Restaurant Keepers, They're Stung, Too. And They're the Guys We're After.

It will be hard to shed tears over the panic of the Paris Yanks over the decline in stocks. We tried to weep over the story of tourists trying to sell back for half price the diamonds and the pearls they had bought and giving up expensive hotel suites to live in a hall bedroom and canceling great banquets and dinners they had ordered for their friends, but, doggone it, not a tear would come. They love their Paris and there they are, and so why should they wreck our happiness? Besides, they don't know the half—etc., etc., etc.

ANYHOW, THE WAILING WALL in Wall street will be deserted on election day next week. Nothing makes the average New Yorker happier than voting for Jimmy Walker. Poor souls, it's nice that some sunshine can come into their hectic lives now and then. Jimmy ought to run oftener.

"LOBBYIST GRUNDY Tells Borah to Keep Silent on the Tariff."—THE TRIB. Well, Mr. Grundy, you'll be surprised. Telling Mr. Borah to keep silent and Mr. Borah keeping silent are two quite different things. Go ahead, Lobbyist Grundy, try and keep Mr. Borah silent on the tariff or any other subject. Go ahead, keep him silent! Yes, you can—lykell, lykell, lykell!

64 Damn Pages!

Hey! This here now 1929 Linebook. Only 64 damn pages, you know. So many requests for favorites poured in on us yesterday that we're snowed under. Aborigine's "Red Rambler" and "Circling Birds," J. K.'s "Art of Friendship," everything of Ernest Byfield's, Helene Mullin's "Death on Golgotha," Phil Baker's "It Is!", Jeanne Delamarter, Marjorie F. W., Lynnette, Snowshoe Al, Judy Shea, Oracle, Duke Bakrak, and —we rise blushingly to bow our thanks—dozens of our own things. Hank's got out the rubber type and gone manfully to work—but only 64 damn pages, friends and fellow citizens. What to do? Maybe we'll have to raise the ante and insist on two votes before anything goes in. ("Make it three," growls Hank, backing off hastily as the 5 o'clock mail comes in.) All right, three votes it is. Polls open at all hours. Vote early and avoid the rush. We thank you.

IT SORT OF TAKES away one's appetite when he goes aboard a big Atlantic liner to be told that "all cats, dogs, birds, lizards, chameleons, and the like brought on board by passengers must be immediately placed in charge of the ship's butcher." LOOK OUT TONIGHT when graves do yawn and witches prance around on brooms. Oh, who cares? After what the stock market has done to folks they'd only look at a graveyard skeleton or a hobgoblin, give a weary yawn, and say, "Oh, tommyrot, gitthell outten here!" R. H. L.

DANGER AND SAFETY

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

DETROIT. — The city was thrown into the wildest excitement this evening by the ringing of bells, calling the soldiery to arms. A dispatch was received by Mayor Barker from the mayor of Toronto stating that he had received positive information that a rebel raid was to be made on this city tonight. The people flocked into the streets by thousands. Word was sent to all the churches and the congregations dispersed. Col. Hill, the military commandant, at once ordered out three companies from the barracks and one from Fort Dearborn. The city will be patrolled until morning.

BUFFALO. — An official message was received by the provost marshal of this city from Canada stating that the rebels in Canada are to make an immediate raid on Buffalo. The military are now under arms and the city will be patrolled tonight.

CHATTANOOGA.—A special to the Gazette from Knoxville says that Gen. Gillem encountered Vaughn at Morristown and routed him, capturing five pieces of artillery and 200 prisoners. Hood attacked Decatur yesterday, last night and this morning, and was handsomely repulsed each time.

CHICAGO.—The sad news of the death of Gen. T. E. G. Ransom, late in command of the 17th army corps, has been received. He died at Rome, Ga., on Oct. 29 of disease induced by exposure in the service. Gen. Ransom was born 29 years ago in Vermont. He came to Illinois in 1851, first locating at Peru, and removed to Chicago in 1855. He fought at Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Garretsburg, Vicksburg, Pleasant Hill and Jonesboro and had been four times severely wounded.

WASHINGTON.—In an official proclamation President Lincoln announced the admittance of the state of Nevada to the Union.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 31, 1899.

WASHINGTON. — Admiral George Dewey is to wed Mrs. Hazen, widow of Brig. Gen. William Babcock Hazen. There is the admiral's own authority for the statement. The betrothal took place today. Asked when the wedding would take place, the admiral said: "The sooner the better," which is taken to indicate some time before Christmas. Mrs. Hazen is a notable society woman and the sister of John R. McLean, the Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio.

LONDON.—Gen. White, at the head of 12,000 British, and Gen. Joubert, commanding the 16,000 Boers, measured arms in the vicinity of Ladysmith yesterday and the British, as usual, claim the victory, although admitting casualties of 100. The armies fought from daybreak until the middle of the afternoon. That hostilities will reopen today is considered certain.

NEW YORK.—William H. Webb, the shipbuilder and philanthropist, is dead, aged 83 years. Mr. Webb was reputed to be worth $20,000,000.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 31, 1919.

WASHINGTON.—Following a two hour session of the cabinet and a 20 minute conference of President Wilson with Attorney General Palmer, the word went forth that the government intends to swing the full force of its power at once against the miners' unions, scheduled to strike tomorrow. Assistant Attorney General Charles B. Ames left Washington for Indianapolis, where he will go before Judge Anderson in the federal court and ask a sweeping injunction restraining the United Mine Workers, its officials and members from striking.

INDIANAPOLIS.—The United Mine Workers are said to be prepared to abandon their demand for the six hour work day.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, author and poet, died at her home, "The Bungalow," in Branford. Mrs. Wilcox was born in Johnstown Center, Wis., and was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. She was 64 years old.

COPENHAGEN.—Refugees arriving at Helsingfors from Petrograd say that the bolsheviki, furious at the threatened attack on Petrograd by Gen. Yudenitch, have executed thousands of officers and prominent people,

SMALL CHANGE CHARITY.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Another tag day has passed and it is hoped that the workers attained their goal of a few thousand dollars.

What must be the opinion of the thousands of visitors to our city when they are panhandled for a mere dime or a quarter or a half?

Do they judge the spirit of Chicago by this method of supporting our institutions? Is it becoming for Chicago to conduct and support civic affairs in such a small manner—with dimes and quarters begged on the street corners?

Why not organize and manage our charities in a big and just manner, one big community fund subscribed to annually and in proportion to one's means and heart, a fund budgeted and distributed to meet the needs of every worthy charity and organization?

WILLIAM E. MARSH.

IRELAND'S FREEDOM.

Chicago, Oct. 29. — In reading Dr. Hardy's letter this morning it occurred to me that I should like to ask Dr. Hardy and other ardent Republicans who are dissatisfied with the extent of the freedom of the Irish people what Ireland would do in case of war without the protection of the English fleet.

Their worst enemies do not doubt the courage of Irishmen, but does he really believe that this small country could alone defend herself, especially when we take into consideration her geographic situation?

I have come in contact with Irish men and women who have visited Ireland in recent years, and who express themselves as very pleased with the present government, who have attacked their herculean task with vim and vigor and intelligence.

There are many reasons why Ireland should not and cannot sever entirely her connection with England. Besides, it is the opinion of most people who are in a position to know that there is more freedom in Ireland than in England at the present time.

If Irish statesmen and patriots, even as late as Parnell, could have foreseen the extent to which the country has won her fight for freedom, they would have surely questioned the motives of unscrupulous persons and newspapers who endeavor, in the United States especially, to keep up foolish agitation.

CATHERINE DOOLEY.

D. S. C. FOR GRUNDY.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Hurrah for Grundy! At last a human being has been located who has the audacity to speak the truth to that inquisitorial committee of the U. S. senate who persist in hampering President Hoover and prosperity. Too bad that men of Grundy's type are not sitting members of the senate.

AFTER THE BATH.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Is it customary for the citizens of this city to go to a cleanar after taking a bath in Chicago water, or do they just leave the mud on? JOHN T. BLATCHFORD.

LAKE FRONT CONSTRUCTION.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—The terrific damage suffered by the outer drives and sea walls in the recent storm prompts a question: Is this loss of millions of dollars to the taxpayers of Chicago due to poor engineering or to faulty construction?

It is to be assumed that the engineer or engineers who specified these works had available data as to type and form of construction and the proper mixture of concrete; that being the case, the present breaks in the construction, which seems to have had about the resistance of an Indiana sand dune, present a fine opportunity to make tests, particularly of the concrete mixture, to ascertain how it compares with the specifications on which bids were taken and contracts let.

Is there some one in a position to answer this question?

THE CHICAGO FLOOD.

Havana, Ill., Oct. 29.—Some months since your correspondent, Mr. Evans, while explaining the attitude of the eastern iron interest in holding up the depth of Lake Superior so that they could carry full tonnage to their great profit, let loose the statement that Lake Superior had been raising its lake level by withholding back the natural flow through the locks and dams in St. Mary's river, but that recently it had opened up these flood gates because Lake Superior was getting too high.

Has it ever occurred to THE TRIBUNE that the recent high water in Lake Michigan and Lake Huron may be the result of letting into Lake Michigan and Lake Huron too much water from Lake Superior?

Perhaps you are getting just what we did down here when your sanitary district poured down its flood from Lockport into the Illinois and drowned out all the Illinois valley and helped to raise the Mississippi in the great floods of 1926 and 1927.

The writer suggests you make an investigation on the amount of water let down the St. Mary's river in the last six months and compare it with the usual amount of several years back. It might jar you to get at the truth.

BEN L. MCFADDEN.

SUPPOSING.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28.—You had an editorial on the difference between Edison's doing and the average politician's way of dealing with governmental matters. On the same page you had a cartoon, in which Uncle Sam was saying: "I wish I had a few Edisons in politics."

It's easy enough to say such things and to portray them in the form of clever cartoons. But what I would like to know is, what would an Edison do in the political situation? Just what did your editorial writer have in mind, just what was your cartoonist thinking about when he wished for more Edisons in government? An editorial on this subject would be much appreciated; it would teach me a good deal, or else it would teach the writer something he didn't suspect. Why not have an editorial on what an Edison would do in politics and government? H. B. HAM.

DOCTORS CLASH ON HOW LAWYER SLEW SON-IN-LAW

Wetherford, Tex., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Contradictory testimony in the murder trial of R. H. Hamilton, prominent Amarillo attorney, as to whether he shot Tom Walton Jr., his unwanted son-in-law, in the back or from the front, was introduced today and the state unexpectedly rested it case.

Physicians and an undertaker disagreed as to how young Walton was killed when he entered Hamilton's office to tell of his secret marriage to the attorneys' 17 year old daughter, Theresa.

The killing occurred at Amarillo last spring. Tom and Theresa were married while attending the University of Texas.

Woman Tells of Outcry.

After one of the four shots that killed Walton had been fired, the victim cried out, "No; no; don't do that!" Mrs. Loraine Hill, elevator operator in the Amarillo building testified. She said she saw Walton walk down the hall toward his father-in-law's office and a moment later heard a scream.

Dr. J. R. Wrather of Amarillo, president of the Potter County Medical society, said his examination indicated Walton had been shot from the front.

Dr. John Vaughn, a one time surgeon and physician at the Mayo clinic, declared two shots through Walton's chest had been fired from the back. Dr. Raymond Swindell, who gave Walton a hypodermic just after the shooting, declared the threads in Walton's vest had been broken and pushed into the wounds at the back, indicating the slain man had been shot from the rear.

The first defense witness, Horace Griggs, undertaker, testified he made only a superficial examination several hours after the shooting. He said, however, he believed the shots had been fired from the front.

Defendant Aids His Counsel.

Throughout the trial today Hamilton was at ease, leaning forward from time to time to suggest questions to his lawyers. His wife and youngest daughter, Mary Gail, nine years old, sat near him. The other two daughters, Theresa and Helen, played bridge at the Parker hotel where Hamilton has reserved the entire floor for his twelve attorneys, family and witnesses.

After Dr. Aulick had said Hamilton's reputation at Waco has been good, District Attorney Edward Thomerson asked:

"Isn't it a fact that when you lived in Waco it was common talk that this defendant, R. H. Hamilton, is the man who helped horsewhip Brann?"

Defense Establish Reason.

"No, it wasn't common talk," the pastor replied.

R. B. Hood of defense counsel then asked the pastor whether it wasn't true that Hamilton had horsewhipped Brann because Brann charged girls in Baylor university were immoral, while Hamilton's sister was a student in the school. Dr. Aulick said he had heard that was the reason for Brann's whipping. He also admitted he had heard that Hamilton participated in the whipping, "although it wasn't common talk."

Brann, sometime later, was shot to death at Waco, Tex.

Rail Officials to Attend Conference on Crossings

Executives or six railroads running through Gary yesterday accepted the invitation of Mayor A. E. Tinkham to attend a grade crossing elimination conference on Nov. 20. A plan for elevation of all railroad tracks at an estimated cost of $10,000,000, of which the roads will be asked to pay 65 per cent, will be submitted by Edward J. Noonan, traffic engineer. Railroads whose representatives will attend the conference are the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Erie, the Monon, the Michigan Central, the Indiana Harbor Belt line, and the Nickel Plate.

PASTOR DENIES CHURCH SHARED COMPANY FUNDS

Answers Usury Charge of Stockholders.

"I worked for my church without a salary because I could get along on my salary as president of the United States Mortgage company, and knew my church could not afford to pay me a salary as yet. But not a penny of the company's funds was used, loaned or donated to the church."

The Rev. K. G. Nilsen, unsalaried pastor of the new Parkside Lutheran church, Parkside and Barry avenues, was talking. He told his story of his association with the mortgage company, in the management of which, it was charged in a bill for injunction filed Monday in the Superior court, he practiced usury in order to build and support his church.

10 Stockholders Ask Stay.

The bill was brought by ten stockholders through Attorney Bernard J. Brown, a stockholder, to prevent issuance of two stock issues, on the allegation they are being defrauded of ten years' dividends.

"In 1927, the company was put in the hands of a receiver, after I headed a stockholders' committee bringing action against the officers, who had dissipated funds of a $6,000,000 corporation," said the Rev. Mr. Nilsen. "The stockholders then asked me to head the company. Judge Hugo Friend discharged the receiver in 1927," he said.

Says He Received $300,000.

"At that time the company's assets had shrunk to $60,000, with a liability of $1,613,000. This year I have recovered for stockholders $300,000 in liquid assets.

"On Sept. 27, a plan of reorganization was presented to the stockholders, 11,500 preferred stockholders voting for it and only 4 against it," Nilson explained. "No new stock was to be issued."

City Club Indorses Bond Issue for Forest Preserve

The City club yesterday indorsed the proposed $2,500,000 bond issue for the creation of sanitary and recreational improvements in the forest preserves. The issue was placed on the ballot by the county commissioners at the suggestion of the forest preserve advisory commission, headed by Brig. Gen. Abel Davis.

DAVIS' FOUNT OF DYNAMIC IDEAS SPURS FILIPINOS

Makes Short Work of Many Problems.

BY FORD WILKINS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, Oct. 30.—It is becoming more or less generally recognized in the Philippines that one of Gov. Gen. Dwight F. Davis' chief assets for his job is his dependable stock of new and practicable ideas.

More than perhaps any other governor general he has been able in his short incumbency—barely six months—to suggest new lines of activity which the people of the islands, both Americans and Filipinos, can take hold of and work with. The first outstanding plan of practical development was proposed by Gov. Davis at a luncheon tendered him by the Rotary club.

Suggests New Industry.

"You men of business," he said in a short talk, "have overlooked one industry capable of bringing in millions of pesos every year. It is an industry requiring no large investment of capital. The resources for its development lie all around you, unexploited. You probably have no idea of what I'm going to refer to. It is the tourist industry."

Gov. Davis put it up to the Rotarians to take the lead in developing this industry. A representative has already left for China, Japan, Honolulu and America to interview travel agencies, seek out promotional methods, and spread news about the beauties of the Philippine islands.

Aids Land Settlers.

On a trip to the southern Philippines the governor visited all the important ports and made a two weeks' investigation of conditions. There he picked out one outstanding problem and is bending every effort to attack it.

He found thousands of people, anxious to settle public lands, who were unable to gain title without waiting for five or ten years. The fault, he found, lay with the bureau of lands, whose system of registry was thoroughly inadequate. A capable committee is now meeting every day seeking to straighten out the tangle.

When a recent devastating typhoon swept across the island of Luzon, Gov. Davis made two trips of inspection to the devastated region. He appeared unexpectedly one mornings at Nichols field, the army airport at Manila and asked for a plane to carry him over the flooded region near Infanta and Polillo, where he saw enough to crystallize an idea that he had been formulating.

Tackles Typhoon Relief.

He called in the head of the Red Cross and representatives of other relief organizations and pointed out that cooperation in relief work was vitally essential and facilities for relief need to be organized and made ready in advance of the first warning from the weather bureau. This plan of coördinating typhoon relief in the Philippines is now being worked out.

Besides working out an extensive plan for landscaping for the grounds of Malacanan palace, intending to make it one of the real show places of the orient, Gov. Davis got hold of the mayor of Manila and enthused him with the idea of relatively inexpensive beautification of the city by landscaping and tree planting.

SUITOR FINED $100 FOR THREAT.

Felix Kalinowski, 42 years old, 2108 North avenue, a restaurant owner, was fined $100 by Judge John L. Lape in Shakespeare avenue court yesterday on a charge of threatening Miss Frances Kyrut, 35 years old, 5344 Aligeld street, because she refused to marry him.

Free-for-All Tariff Fight May Wreck Parties

The bitter fight over the tariff now on in Washington, we are told by correspondents on the spot, is something deeper and more serious than it seems to the casual observer. It may appear to the eye as nothing more than a squabble over this or that rate in the new tariff bill, but, stript of all disguise, says the correspondent of the Hearst newspapers, it is "a political free-for-all, in which control of Congress and perhaps of the Presidency are at stake."

Some ominous possibilities of this new war loom large. Washington hasn't seen such a contest "since the historic set-to between President Wilson and the Senate over the Versailles Treaty," writes W. W. Jermane of the Seattle Times. To-day "both the West and the South are against the East; if such a union can be made permanent, party reorganization will come." Therefore "there may be something more at stake in what is now getting under way than the fate of Mr. Hoover and his legislative program."

Editorial sentiment in the leading newspapers throughout the country upon this subject is shown in the leading article in "The Literary Digest" this week, and from it the public will get a clear and searching description and analysis of all its phases and what the fight may lead to. # M. V. L. 'PREFERS' LANDMESSER IN 38TH WARD RACE

Fight Splits Adamowskis and City Hall Camp.

Frank H. Landmesser is the "preferred candidate" in the special report of the Municipal Voters' league issued last night on the contest in the 38th ward for the unexpired term of the late Ald. Max Adamowski. The vacancy will be filled at the judicial election on Nov. 5. The chief contenders are Landmesser and John J. Kaleth, a son-in-law of the late Ald. Adamowski. Both are Democrats.

The contest has brought about a division in the city hall camp in the ward and also in the Adamowski family. Landmesser has the support of Recorder Clayton Smith's Democratic organization and the old Deneen organization which had for leader the late Joseph Haas and is now headed by Senator Theodore Steinert.

Family Reported Divided.

Ben Adamowski, a son of the late alderman, is an attorney in Recorder Smith's office and is supporting Landmesser against his brother-in-law, Kaleth. Mrs. Mary Adamowski, widow of the late alderman, is said to be supporting her son-in-law, Kaleth.

Weeks ago Kaleth appeared before the ward Democratic club, but failed to get the indorsement, which went to Landmesser. At this juncture Mathias A. Klinger, Republican, withdrew as a candidate in favor of Kaleth, and the ward Republican club, which had indorsed Klinger, went to Kaleth and established him at its headquarters.

Strife Develops in G. O. P.

Meanwhile the old Republican ward machine developed engine trouble. After the death of the ward committeeman, Thomas H. Byrne, superintendent of streets, there was strife over the succession. John Dempsey took over the duties, and this was not pleasing to some of the old Byrne leaders, including Adolph Becker, president of the old Byrn ward club.

Now the Dempsey wing is supporting Kaleth, while the Becker crowd, although it has made no open indorsement, is supposed to be quietly with Landmesser. Recorder Smith's forces are arguing that Kaleth is the "city hall's candidate," while the Kaleth backers are charging that Landmesser is a "rubber stamp" for Smith.

In case of a close contest a third candidate, Michael Walsh, might get votes enough to cause a run-off election in April, as, to win the first time, a candidate must have a majority of all votes cast for the office.

HARRISON SAYS RACE FOR MAYOR IN 1931 FAR FROM HIS MIND

Carter H. Harrison, five times mayor of Chicago, who returned home yesterday after an European tour, has no thought of being a candidate for mayor in 1931, he declared. But he left a way open to retract that statement.

After talking about his travels through France and Germany, Mr. Harrison, in response to a request that he discuss the political situation here, said:

"Almost every one I met today wanted to know if I was going to run for mayor. I haven't the faintest idea of doing any such thing. Nothing could be farther from my thoughts at the present moment. But I learned long ago never to be too definite on such a matter. Something might come up which would change the entire appearance of things.

The former mayor, who will be 70 years old next April, was in ruddy health and high spirits.

SENATE TARIFF FIGHT TURNS ON ADJOURNMENT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Democrats and radical Republican senators were preparing today to resist efforts of old guard Republicans to force and adjournment of the special session of congress by the middle of November.

The Democrats and radicals want to go ahead rewriting the tariff bill, expecting to be able to reduce some of the industrial rates and to increase duties on farm products. If it proves impossible to pass the bill in the special session they want it acted upon before the Christmas holidays in the regular session.

Plan Indirect Death.

The senate regulars, as led by Senators David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], Walter E. Edge [Rep., N. J.], realize they will not be satisfied with the bill passed by the senate and hope that the Republican majority in the house will stand pat against acceptance of a conference report which reflects the senate measure. Hence, they say it is useless to try to enact a tariff bill and that the senate might as well quit by the middle of November. This group would sidetrack the bill entirely at the December session, it is assumed.

Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], assistant majority leader, upon whom much of the responsibility of leadership will fall in the absence of Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], who is leaving for Florida tomorrow, says he has not given up hope of passing the bill before the close of the special session. Senator Jones thinks it possible to limit debate in such a way as to make more rapid progress.

Gives Far Westerners Chance.

Far western senators have taken new hope of getting amendments which they desire with the increasingly prominent part played by Senator Jones and by Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.], in the absence of Senator Watson. Both Senator Jones and Senator McNary are for duties on shingles, lumber, and other proposals rejected by the finance committee.

The senate will resume consideration of the tariff bill tomorrow after losing two days on account of the death of Senator Theodore E. Burton. Amendments increasing duties on vegetable oils, as desired by farm organizations, will be taken up.

BI-PARTY GHOST HOPS BACK INTO JUDICIAL BATTLE

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

"Bipartisan alliance," the prankish phantom which has galloped alongside the judicial campaign, materialized again yesterday at two seances. A. J. Cermak, Democratic county chairman, and Edward J. Brundage, godfather of the People's Ticket Against Coalition, served as mediums. The candidates, including the seventeen sitting judges, comported themselves in judicial serenity, but the politicians made it a day of ectoplasm and politics.

Mr. Cermak, addressing a luncheon in the Gold room of the Congress under the auspices of the women's division of the nonpartisan organization backing the Democratic ticket on which are running 12 Democrats and 10 Republicans, raised the ghost, which had dropped out of sight for two days.

Cermak Speaks of Alliances.

"Our detractors," said Cermak, "speak of a bipartisan Deneen-Cermak alliance on the sanitary district. As I recall it, the proposal of the Snow-Barrett-city hall Republicans was for a bipartisan deal on a 50-50 basis. We decided to go ahead with the Deneen group and elect Mr. Elmore president on a promise of economy and efficiency. This has been rigorously kept.

"A year ago there were 4,780 jobs on the sanitary district. These have been reduced to 1,200 and of these, 700 are technical jobs, outside of politics.

"Which would the voters prefer, a 60-40 division on 1,200 jobs or a 50-50 split on 4,800 jobs as the city hall crowd proposed?

"In the nonpartisan alliance between the Deneen group and the Democrats to control the sanitary board, the agreement was, first, that the board should eliminate all unnecessary jobs; second, that only efficient men should be employed; third, that economy should be practiced. Yet they try to call this a bad thing and picture it as 'tainting' the Democratic judicial ticket.

"If this be a crime I plead guilty, let them make the most of it."

Brundage Continues Inquiry.

Mr. Brundage persisted in his inquiry as to whether State's Attorney Swanson was "in on the deals." He issued a put out from headquarters.

"I want the public to know the real purpose of bipartisan transactions," said Brundage, "so I ask again: Is not this coalition ticket a continuance of the sanitary district and south park bipartisan deals? When the sanitary district organization was last perfected did not State's Attorney Swanson sit in? Were not certain trustees also present against whom the public was expecting indictments? Those indictments have not been pushed by the state's attorney. Is not the state's attorney's inactivity explained somewhat by the fact that Senator Deneen got the chief cabinet places and forty per cent of the sanitary district pay roll although he had but two trustees to deliver to the new combination? The public would be enlightened by a true answer to these questions. Personal abuse of me will not obscure them.

"I am sorry, indeed, that designing falsifiers should have induced Boetius Sullivan to make such preposterous statements. Shortly before Roger Sullivan's death he and other friends tendered me a birthday party. His son should have known better. I was not the manager of Senator Sherman's campaign when he ran against his father. Neither do I know of any such circularizing as he mentions."

Rivals Address Women Voters.

Spokesmen for the three rival judicial tickets appeared before the Lake Shore League of Women voters at the Fortnightly club, Mrs. A. A. Carpenter presiding. Michael Igoe spoke for the Democrats, B. W. Snow for the Republicans, and Mr. Brundage and Robert M. Adams for the People's ticket. The speeches were later described as genteel and devoid of political warmth. They reiterated the arguments advanced by all sides in the last month.

Mr. Snow spoke of coalition as having been a gradual growth. Mr. Brundage said he was for it in 1918 and in 1921, when the city hall sought to raid the bench, but "what opened my eyes was in 1926, when three judges were knocked off to make places for personal friends of the political bosses."!

Mr. Igoe and Mr. Brundage.

Mr. Igoe, after referring to the old rule of reelecting good sitting judges, said the real issue was over the filling of vacancies. He asked Mr. Brundage if he saw any flaws among the sitting judges.

"Well," said Mr. Brundage, "the Bar association criticized five of them, mostly for displays of temper. And one judge was criticized for releasing two prisoners from the penitentiary. Some judges are reversed in more than half the cases taken to the Supreme court. I think a judge ought to be at least a 50 per cent guesser."

BRUNDAGE GROUP RAPS WILLIAMS FOR 2 DECISIONS

Judge Defends Freeing Two on Writs.

Headquarters of the People's Ticket Against Coalition made a campaign issue yesterday of two decisions of Superior Judge Charles A. Williams, who is a Democratic candidate for reelection next Tuesday. The cases involved the release of a slayer and a rapist on writs of habeas corpus.

"The bar association criticized Judge Williams for two of his decisions, but didn't tell what they were," said a statement from the Brundage camp signed by Stephen Love, one of the judicial candidates. "We believe the voters should know.

Tells History of Case.

"In one case a defendant had pleaded guilty to murder and had been given a life sentence. Nevertheless this judge, who is so enthusiastically approved by Tony Cermak, did, nine years after this conviction, upon petition for a writ of habeas corpus release this defendant from the penitentiary for the sole reason that the record in the case failed affirmatively to show that the defendant had persisted in his plea of guilty. As far as I know this murderer is still at large.

"Not satisfied with the damage which he had done in the above case, this same judge, by the same procedure of habeas corpus likewise liberated from the penitentiary a man found guilty of assault with intent to commit rape. The petition charged the record was faulty for the reason the defendant had been found guilty of 'assault with intent to rape' instead of 'assault with intent to commit rape.' It is almost incredible that in a civilized community, at an enlightened bar, a man found guilty of the crime charged against this defendant should seek his release because the word 'commit' was not in the verdict."

Cites High Court Decision.

Before answering this statement Judge Williams cited the decisions of the Supreme court in both cases and remarked that there was no criticism directed at him by the higher court. In brief, the Supreme court records show the following:

Joseph Chapman pleaded guilty to murder on May 1, 1918, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. On Dec. 13, 1927, a petition for a writ of habeas corpus was presented to Judge Williams, who ruled that the omissions rendered the imprisonment of Chapman faulty and he freed him.

"The mere statement of the respondent's [Judge Williams'] conclusion shows that it is fallacious," said the Supreme court. "The petition for a writ of habeas corpus on its face disclosed a want of jurisdiction to entertain it and the respondent [Judge Williams] should have refused to do so."

Second Case Comes Up.

While that case was pending in the Supreme court, Attorney W. G. Anderson, who represented Chapman, asked for a writ in behalf of Emil Schneider, who was convicted in Du Page county. Anderson argued that because the jury had left out the word "commit" the conviction should not stand and Judge Williams upheld him on this point. In ordering Judge Williams to expunge his record the Supreme court said the same offense was denoted, regardless of the omission. Then it said:

"It has been repeatedly decided that no court can review, upon petition for a writ of habeas corpus, the record of a case determined by another court possessing the same requisites of jurisdiction and power."

Reversed Only 20 Times.

"I have been on the bench 17 years and have presided in 12,000 cases and have been reversed less than 20 times," Judge Williams said. "In the Chapman case I saw merit in the point raised by the attorney and I asked that the attorney general's office be represented at the trial. Assistant Attorney General William Harrison and Assistant State's Attorney Q. J. Chott agreed with me.

"In the Schneider case I thought the Supreme court should be asked to pass on the issue and I told State's Attorney Chauncey Reed I would hold Schneider's case in abeyance till he could go to Springfield and file a motion with the Supreme court to set aside my order. He declined, but did so some months later.

"Until the Supreme court makes a decision on any point we must follow the law as it has been previously interpreted. That's what I did in those cases."

ENDS LIFE IN NEW BUILDING.

The body of Charles Peterson, 61 years old, 5941 Glenwood avenue, a steamfitter, was found hanging from a steam pipe in a building under construction at 5250 North Ashland avenue yesterday morning. A note in Peterson's pocket asked that his brother be notified, but gave no reason for his act.

FAN PREJUDICES IN CAMPAIGN FOR VIRGINIA VOTES

"De Priest Incident" and Dry Issue Stressed.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Religion and race prejudice, involving the much discussed "De Priest incident" and the wet and dry issue, have combined to make the present political campaign in Virginia the most "depraved" in the history of this proud commonwealth, in the opinion of Carter Glass, United States senator, business man, newspaper publisher, and former secretary of the treasury.

Senator Glass is one of the chief targets of opposition, composed of a large assortment of "antis." They are anti-machine anti-Smith, and as zealous on the score of religion and the dry issues as they were a year ago. The list includes the Cannonites, followers of Bishop James Cannon Jr., and the Hoovercrats, who voted the Republican national ticket last year.

Feeling on both sides is intense, and respective headquarters in Richmond are in a maze of statements and denials of vicious circulars and propaganda, which are being put out in almost every section of the state.

Gov. Roosevelt Mentioned.

The Hoover citizens club of Richmond has printed in the state papers an advertisement dealing with the De Priest incident. Like other such instances, it does not specify as to just what constituted the De Priest incident.

The advertisement reads:

"There have been prepared by the Democratic organization for circulation between now and election a large number of sordid pamphlets illustrating the De Priest incident calculated to influence race prejudice in this state.

"The Democratic organization will not tell the people of Virginia in this pamphlet that Gov. Roosevelt, the Democratic governor of New York, but recently entertained publicly at a luncheon a large number of Negroes who could not claim the congressional privileges of De Priest.

"They deny Tammany is an issue in this campaign when they refuse to repudiate the leadership of Tammany Hall, and when Dr. Pollard himself has admitted he would support a representative of Tammany if nominated for President in 1932. Yet they are seeking to drag the race issue into this campaign when the Republican party of Virginia has earnestly striven since 1921 to suppress it."

Democratic leaders are trying to tell the voters that Gov. Roosevelt denied that he had any recent, or, in fact, any public luncheon for a large number of Negroes. But the denial is having a hard time catching up.

BIGGER SCALE AID FOR FORESTS URGED UPON GOVERNMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Appeals for a stronger national policy of forest development and conservation were made before President Hoover today by representatives of delegates in Washington for the national forestry conference held under auspices of the American Forestry association.

Spokesmen who called at the White House were former Gov. Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire, George D. Pratt, president of the American Forestry association, and John W. Blodgett of Grand Rapids, Mich., representing the National Lumber Manufacturers' association.

Urging larger appropriations for the purchase of forest land, Mr. Bass asked the President to support legislation carrying out the provisions of the McNary-Woodruff act. The appropriation this year is $1,000,000 short and it will take 35 years to complete the purchases contemplated by the forest reservation commission, he said.

PASTOR CHARGES CHURCH CONTROL BY TEXTILE MEN

New York, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Churches in the textile towns of North Carolina are "owned and controlled by the mill owners," and their clergy act as "moral police for the industrial overlords," the Rev. B. Spofford, member of the Church League for Industrial Democracy, charged today at the conference on the southern textiles industry at the Russell Sage Foundation.

Dr. Spofford, who has just returned from a personal investigation of conditions in the North Carolina strike region, appealed to the churches to support the mill workers in their fight for better wages and living conditions.

Water Unfit, He Says.

The housing furnished by the mill owners he declared as so bad that the workers, getting it free, "were paying too much." The dwellings provided for the laborers, he declared, are mere shacks, without running water or any sanitary facilities and are unfit for human beings to inhabit.

Drinking water for the workers, said Dr. Spofford, is drawn from wells into which cesspools can drain. In Marion, N. C., he asserted the mill hands are obliged to work at least 60 hours a week in rooms whose summer temperature ranges from 90 to 100 degrees and in which there is no ventilation.

Governor's Action Commended.

The action of the governor of North Carolina in appointing a committing magistrate in Gastonia after a local grand jury had failed to indict any one for the killing of Mrs. Wiggin, a mill worker, was commended by Roger Baldwin of the American Civil Liberties union of New York, who also had made a personal investigation of the situation.

Mr. Baldwin also commended the governor's offer of a reward for the apprehension of Mrs. Wiggin's slayers.

INSTALLATION takes only a few hours. Your furnace need not be shut down for more than a half-day. Other than that, no change is ordinarily required in any heating system. And—once your Bryant Gas Boiler is installed—your basement takes on a new and cleanly usefulness. No fuel storage, no tools, no refuse, no soot or grime, no noise. Your furnace room can be transformed into a recreation room, den or play room.

Bryant Gas Heating is truly automatic because a Bryant (1) demands no mechanical knowledge or effort, (2) has no revolving parts to wear out or get out of adjustment, (3) requires only semi-occasional visits to the furnace room, (4) "orders its own fuel," (5) makes its own adjustments to changes in outside temperature and (6) holds inside temperatures uniform within a single, thermometer-measured degree . . . all for the effort involved in the weekly winding of an 8-day clock.

All controls and other accessories are concealed, making it possible to install the Model 45 in any basement room, alcove or passageway without partitions or screening of any sort.

The few gauges which ever call for an owner's passing attention are grouped in an instrument panel similar to that in your automobile dashboard.

Only the necessary piping is exposed. Otherwise the boiler is a handsome piece of metal furniture which will harmonize unobtrusively with its surroundings in a basement recreation room, play room, billiard room or movie studio.

PEP TALKS LOSE KICK IF COACH USES 'OLD LINE'

Veteran Grid Players Liable to Yawn.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 30.—Mr. Will Roper, the Princeton football coach, in the course of two rather petulent public rebukes to his team preceding the game with the Navy last week, made the interesting observation that football play consists of 90 per cent fight and ten per cent skill.

It was this theory that provoked the unpleasantness between Harvard and Princeton a few years ago, the Harvard people holding that the Princeton boys fought more than the law allowed. But, without going into that regrettable matter, I wonder if the boys of University of Chicago who are to play Princeton next Saturday have been sufficiently inflamed to undertake the game.

Mr. A. A. Stagg, who coaches the Chicago teams, has long been recognized as a bit of a psychologist himself, and I recall his telling about a boy who did something spectacular in the closing minutes of a game a long time ago, scoring a touchdown or something of the sort when his physical strength had left him and nothing remained to sustain him but some undefined emotional force.

Chicago Seems at Disadvantage.

But I do not believe it has been Mr. Stagg's procedure of recent years, if it ever was, to drive his players to frenzies either by private goading or public shaming, so if what Mr. Roper says is true, as of course it need not be even though he said so, the Chicago team would seem to be at a disadvantage.

Mr. Roper is one of the few football coaches in the country who could get away with the sort of remarks about the football players under his charge and the generous vindication of himself and his teachings which he loosed last week in his psychological experiment on the athletes. First he wrote a piece for the Daily Princetonian admitting that the players and not the coach were responsible for the defeats inflicted by Brown and Cornell. This was followed by an oration delivered before an audience of New York sport writers at a luncheon in which Mr. Roper said the team alone must assume the responsibility for winning or losing the rest of the games on the schedule.

Would Court Disciplinary Action.

Just lately two coaches have been relieved of their contracts because their football teams had not been winning, but Mr. Roper's remarks about the Princeton varsity, although they might be interpreted as a reflection on the disposition of the young men, have not been challenged by any one. I should think that if Mr. Roper's players were the hairtrigger fighters which he desired them to be, the first reaction that he could have expected from his remarks would have been a series of jolly good pokes on the nose from the first young man of the squad to reach him.

But I feel quite sure that any member of the football team who did kick down the door of Mr. Roper's room at the field house and start smacking him hither and yon, in a sincere fighting rage of the kind prescribed for football men by Mr. Roper himself,

2 Injured Maroon Backs Are Out of Princeton Game

Twenty-six Chicago football players are leaving at noon today to meet Princeton in an intersectional battle Saturday.

Coach A. A. Stagg will lead a crippled Maroon outfit. Two of the best ball backs in the Midway camp will be left behind. Red Burgess, the only letter man in the back field, and Joe Temple, the hard hitting sophomore, are not making the trip. Temple might be used, but if he suffered further injury he could not play the rest of the season. Stagg decided to leave him at home so that his bad leg will be ready for Wisconsin a week hence.

With these men out and Knudson, another power back, an uncertain quantity, the Chicago attack is weakened. Chicago may resort to passes, with occasional thrusts at the line by Van Nice. Stagg said he could not name a starting lineup until just before the game.

The team leaves at 12:47 this afternoon from the Englewood station, arriving in Philadelphia Friday. That night the squad stays in Trenton, taking the thirty minute bus ride to Princeton for a workout that afternoon, and then going to the training table for dinner as guests of the Tigers.

The Chicago party leaves Princeton at 7 p. m. Saturday, going to Washington, where it will stop over until Monday afternoon.

Two freshmen teams will stage a game on the practice field this afternoon at 3:45 p. m., which will be open to the public.

ARMY-NAVY GRID BREACH WIDENS AFTER MEETING

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—The breach between the Naval and Military academies over the question of football eligibility rules was widened rather than narrowed by today's peace conference between Rear Admiral S. S. Robison and Maj. Gen. W. R. Smith, heads of the two institutions.

Beginning as just a row between the two academies, the field of operations was broadened during the day to make room on the firing line for two cabinet members, the secretary of the navy and the secretary of war.

Defend Their Positions.

Following the breakup of the parley between the general and the admiral both sides defended their positions. Secretary of the Navy Adams took up the cudgels for the navy department, blaming the Military academy for the breakdown of negotiations. Secretary of War Good countered with a blast of his own upholding the West Point views and offering to arrange a game with the Navy in 1931 on the same terms and conditions on which the Naval academy was willing to play a game this year.

At the conclusion of the battle of statements one thing appeared certain—a game between the football teams of the two academies is out of the question so long as the heads of the schools hold their present views. No agreement was reached today and, according to Maj. Gen. Smith, no agreement is in prospect.

Break After 1927 Game.

The last game between the teams of the two academies was played at New York in 1927, Army winning, 26 to 14. Following that battle, the navy department broke off football relations after the Army declined to adopt the three year eligibility rule.

Maj. Gen. Smith started the battle of statements by issuing a communique immediately after the conclusion of the conference, a parley which was held after President Hoover had expressed the hope that football relations could be resumed.

Secretary Adams stated that the Navy had suggested three offers. One was that West Point adopt intercollegiate football rules; another that West Point players be permitted four years of football before becoming ineligible, and a third which was a suggestion that four games be arranged, two under navy rules and two under military academy rules.

"The military academy refused to agree to any of these offers," Mr. Adams said.

SUIT SHOWS GENE DOUBTED ABILITY TO K. O. DEMPSEY

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, filed an application in Supreme court today to amend his answer to the suit of Tim Mara, New York sports promoter. Mara seeks $405,000 of the fighter's ring earnings under an agreement signed prior to Tunney's first bout with Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia in 1926.

The new answer declared that any agreements with Mara were null and void because the sportsman threatened to use political influence to prevent the bout in New York if Tunney and Gibson did not sign. It was further pointed out that the bout was not held in New York, as agreed.

Tunney's answer said he wished to fight in New York state "because he could win the decision and get the championship if he outboxed the then champion, Jack Dempsey, without knocking out said Dempsey during said contest."

WINNING TICKETS BRING $79,399 IN SWEEPSTAKES

QUEBEC, Oct. 30.—(AP)—George Kowalchuk of Hackett, Alberta, and James Westcott of Springvale, Mass., won the first two prizes each amounting to $79,399.50 in the army and navy veterans sweepstake on the Cambridgeshire race at Newmarket, England. The sweep was arranged so that each horse was drawn by two ticketholders. Both of these men drew Double Life.

Second place went to C. A. Viger of St. Hyacinthe, Que., and Harry Evanson of New York, who each won $26,466.50 by drawing Vatout.

ILLINI VS. WILDCATS.

ILLINOIS and Northwestern meet at Dyche stadium Saturday in what may prove the tightest weekend game in the Big Ten. Illinois must win to maintain even an outside chance for the title. Northwestern would like to beat Illinois of all teams just as the latter's favorite rival is Michigan.

This is a game in which Illinois, on form, appears to have a shade, but which could be decided by the "breaks." The Wake has seen both teams recently—Northwestern against Minnesota and Illinois against Michigan. In these days it is hazardous to predict from what one has seen. It is hazardous to express the opinion that if Illinois forwards, from tackle to tackle, play as they did against Michigan, and Northwestern forwards play as against Minnesota, the lines are about equal. Illinois' greater experience is matched by Northwestern's greater ambition.

Northwestern, in our opinion, is superior on the ends. Illinois has the better back field, both in experience and numbers, although neither eleven has a sure-fire fourth down plunger. With Frosty Peters in the fray, Illinois has the better punting and drop kicking potentialities. That boy is dangerous anywhere within the enemy's 40 yard line.

If we were a bookmaker we'd lay about 13 to 10 with Illinois favorite and let the other fellow do the guessing.

Stock Market Echoes.

Says one of our friends, "Last year I made money in the market and, of course, had a big income tax which I am paying quarterly. On next installment day, Dec. 15, I'll say to the government like I have said to my brokers, 'Come on and sell me out if you want to'."

Another friend whose paper losses ran into six figures was incensed when he read the interview with a prominent mercantile leader, "This reaction is a good thing. It will not hurt business." Then he raved: "I give my wife $100 every Monday morning to spend in his store. Last Monday I gave her $20 and she asked what will I do with $20, and I said I don't care what you do with it. Buy everything you want, but don't forget to bring me back $10 tonight and go up and ask Mr. ——— if that is helping business any."

As one nearly but not quite down-and-outer said, "Truth and justice at last prevail," as the ticker kept on recording rising quotations.

HARD SCRIMMAGE PREPARES PURPLE FOR ILLINI GAME

Northwestern's grid warriors participated in the stiffest workout of the season yesterday as they topped off preparation for the conflict with Illinois at Dyche stadium Saturday. Today's drill will be considerably lighter, Coach Hanley stated, while Friday's practice merely will keep the boys on edge.

Offensive and defensive scrimmage kept the Wildcat athletes going at a rapid clip. Instead of calling in a freshman squad to put on the Illinois offense, Coach Hanley divided his varsity squad into opposing teams, and had them going at each other most of the afternoon.

The end of the workout found the gridders more than eager for a hot shower and rub down. Every member of the squad took part in the practice. Bill Calderwood, full back, and Bill Griffin, half back, who have been on the casualty list, were able to run signals and probably will play Saturday.

Larry Oliphant Hurt.

Larry Oliphant, regular end, sustained a bad cut over his eye and will probably be forced to don a specially prepared mask in Saturday's game. Several stitches were taken in the wound.

The Illini will not lack for rooters in Saturday's engagement as nearly 15,000 students and alumni will be in the stands. The famous Illinois band of 150 pieces also will make the trip.

The B team game scheduled between Northwestern and Illinois teams at Urbana Saturday has been called off by the former. The Purple squad has sustained such a large number of injuries and ineligibles that it was unable to master an adequate B team.

JOLLEY RECOVERS PLACE

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Walter Jolley, two year veteran end, was returned to his old place by Zuppke during the Illini drill today, and he may start against Northwestern Saturday.

It was against Northwestern in 1927 that Jolley first came into prominence. He caught a pass and scored the tying touchdown. Then Butch Nowack place kicked the extra point and the Illini were started on the road to the Big Ten championship.

Stop Purple Plays.

In this afternoon's session Steinman was at the other wing post while Wolgast, a two letter man, was on the second eleven, paired with Maillin. Burdick, regular tackle, was back in the lineup. Bob Zuppke sent the Illini through a strenuous scrimmage against freshmen using Northwestern formations.

The Purple running plays were stopped by the Illini forwards, Crane, Wietz, Gordon and Burdick, while Kawal did good service in backing up the line. Through the air the freshmen were a little more successful, but Timm, Walker and Mills batted down a majority of the attempted passes. Play was inconsistent and occasionally a freshman would break through for a fair gain.

Just a Few Hunting Tips That May Avert Trouble With the Game Warden

BY BOB BECKER.

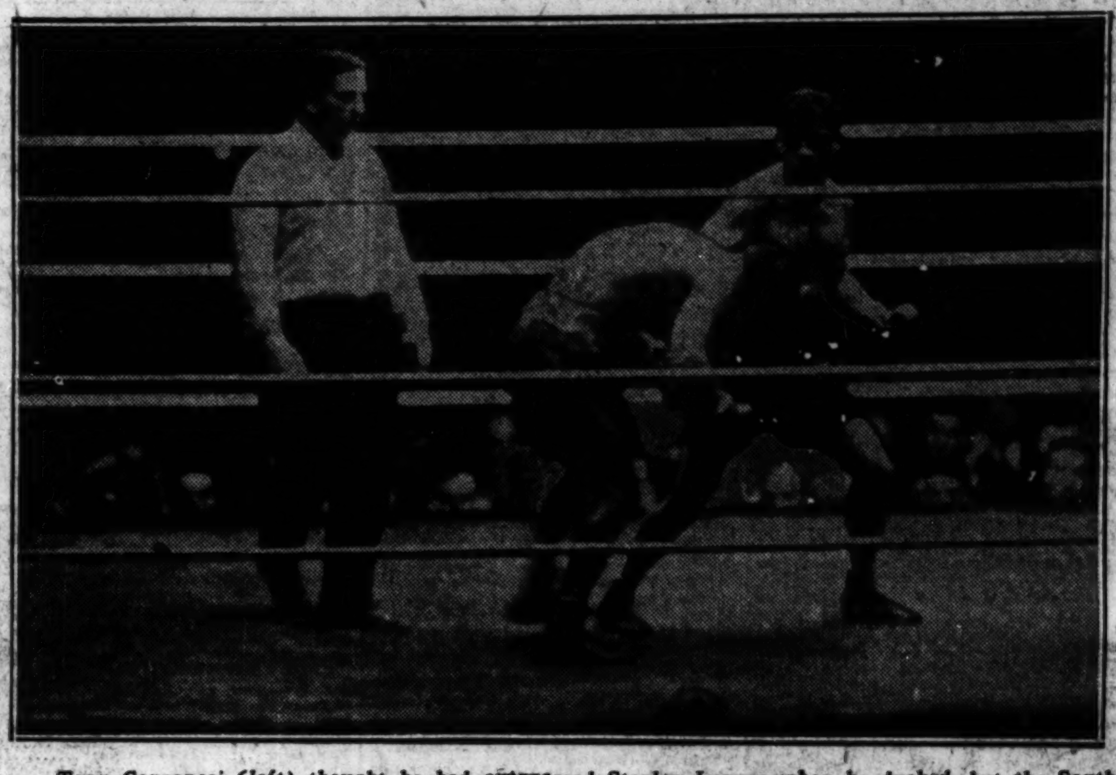

Game laws make dry reading for the average citizen, but familiarity with the little book which tells what is legal hunting and what is not may save a sportsman a good many shekels in the course of the hunting season. Ignorance of regulations governing the shooting of feathered and furred game is no excuse when a game warden takes you by the arm.

Here are two or three important "don'ts" which Illinois hunters should keep in mind while hunting this season. First, the statutes make it unlawful to hunt or kill any feathered or furred game (from a pheasant to a fox) if the party or parties are sitting or standing on any part of an automobile. In other words, no gunning from any kind of a gas buggy. Nor can you use the headlights of an automobile to blind game while you operate a gun. This is usually considered about the lowest form of pot hunting and ranks with dog poisoning as despicable stuff.

Another thing that every hunter should keep in mind is this: According to the statutes one can be arrested and fined for entering upon lands which are posted with "no trespass" or "no hunting" signs. There is another stinger in this regulation which is well worth knowing. If the owner of land has run a notice in a local newspaper to the effect that his lands are posted and trespassers should keep out, any one entering upon those lands may be arrested and haled into court for trespass.

Another important regulation is this: If a hunter deliberately sets fire to a marsh or meadow to rout game he is liable to arrest, and even if he didn't start the fire he can be arrested for hunting around the blaze.

Days of Mechanical Player Past; Coaches Want Thinkers

Although football coaches receive their share of praise for victories and heroes are lauded for exceptional feats on the gridirons, the average fan does not realize how many formations were planned by smart warriors in the heat of battle.

FRITZ CRISLER.

Every one closely connected with the game realizes that conditions must be met as they arise on the field. An eleven may have a different attack or style of defense than it had used in previous contests. A coach cannot teach his team how to combat such an offense from his position on the side line.

It is up to the players to adjust themselves to meet plays or change their own style of attack to make yardage against a new style of defense. This especially is true since the forward pass became a dangerous offensive weapon in 1906. In the old days weight and strength were the dominant factors, but now it is speed and agility combined with a keen knowledge of the many possibilities of every formation.

Crisler Alert Player.

While officiating in games I have seen several instances where the players, led by a smart captain or quarter back, devised plays on the field. These natural leaders soon discovered their own formation would not gain the necessary yardage because of the style of defense employed by opponents.

Back in 1921 Chicago defeated Princeton, 9 to 0. Fritz Crisler, whom I consider one of the greatest ends ever developed in the middle west and the best who ever wore the maroon played on the right flank for Chicago. Crisler, being a basketball player, was an excellent forward pass receiver. On many plays he was delegated to go down the field and cut in or out to receive the tosses.

After Crisler had been unable to catch the passes, he instructed his captain to take time out and explained conditions. He knew he was being chased down the field by Princeton's defensive left half back. When the Princeton half back pursued Crisler, there was an unprotected area back of the Princeton scrimmage line.

Half Back Trails Crisler.

A play immediately was devised in which the Maroon half back followed Crisler down the field. Short passes were made to this back as Crisler lured the Tiger defensive back down the field. This clever generalship enabled Chicago to score a touchdown and also aided in carrying the ball deep enough into Princeton territory for Chicago to register a field goal.

Bennie Friedman, Michigan quarter back of 1925 and 1926, was another alert field general. While playing in the full back's position on defense, Friedman was in a position to detect faults of his linemen and secondary players. He instructed them according to the attack, with the result that opposing elevens seldom made sustained drives. Friedman also evoked formations on the field and told his forwards what to do on these plays.

AUBREY DEVINE.

Another great warrior of this type was Aubrey Devine, who piloted Iowa to a Western conference championship in 1921. He was one of the first to take advantage of optional forward pass formations. If Devine saw he could not complete the throw, he tucked the ball under his arm and either skooted around end or off tackle. Like Crisler and Friedman, I have seen him make up plays in the huddle and most of them gained ground.

Stuhledreher Heady Player.

Stuhledreher, quarter back on the Notre Dame eleven during the days of the Four Horsemen, was another heady player, and the same was true of Stinchcomb of Ohio State. Both were excellent ball carriers, and they always were looking for a weakness in an opponent's defense. Charley Erb, who piloted the Golden Bears of the University of California when the late Andy Smith was head coach, was another strategist.

Bo McMillan of Center college always showed resourcefulness, and during his playing career knew virtually as much football as many coaches of his day. Johnny McGovern of Minnesota, Sprackling of Brown and Laurie of Princeton were among the other great field generals who not only planned plays on the field, but also heeded advice of their forwards when informed of holes in the opposing line.

Harmeson of Purdue, Glassgow of Iowa, and Holman of Ohio State are the only players seen this year in the Western conference who instruct their players to perform a little different from the assignments given by their coaches. Carideo of Notre Dame is another who heeds information given by his teammates, and the ball carriers are instructed accordingly.

The day of the mechanical player has passed. The coaches now are looking for the fast, alert performers who can plan plays to meet conditions on the field.

What You Might Have Seen and Heard at Fight

BY DON MAXWELL.

Dempsey offered Chicagoans a fine program; $5.39 was top price for tickets; there have been no counter sport attractions this week, and yet the crowd at the Coliseum last night fell three thousand short of capacity.

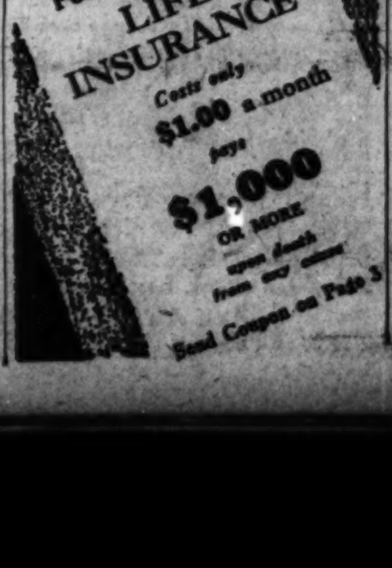

Four fans picked at random answered:

2. "Bad weather."
3. "The radio. Why should a couple spend $12 to watch the fights when they can tune in at home for nothing?"
4. "Dempsey and Harmon are staging fights too close together, one tonight [Wednesday] and another good one coming up Monday. Chicago can stand only one fight card a week."

Dempsey as a fighter never failed to pack the house. Dempsey, as a promoter has now suffered two financial losses. Both of his shows have been good ones. Don't sell Jack short. Cards like last night's can't help but make enthusiastic fans.

Dempsey astonished the fans inured to promotional jealousy and pettiness by having Sammy Mandell introduced from the ring as "the lightweight champion who fights Jimmy McLarnin at the Chicago Stadium Monday night." That was sportsmanship. It probably was smart business, too. Good fight shows at the Stadium

CHILEAN'S RIGHT STAGGERS TONY; WILE SAVES HIM

7,844 Pay $31,558 to See Bout.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Tony Canzoneri of New York, one time world's featherweight champion, was given the ten round decision over Stanley Loayza of Chile in the windup of Jack Dempsey's boxing show at the Coliseum last night. The verdict of Judges Tommy Thomas and L. E. Osborne and Referee Davie Miller was unanimous. The attendance was 7,844. The receipts were $31,558.87.

Although Canzoneri was entitled to the decision, a large part of the spectators booed the verdict.

It was a gruelling battle featured by infighting. There also were long range slugging and frequent rallies in which the principals stood toe to toe and head to head flaying with both hands. Neither was knocked down, although both connected with hard right crosses and slashing left swings to the jaw.

Loayza Jars Italian.

In the fourth round Loayza caught Tony flush on the jaw with a right. Tony's legs sagged and he clinched repeatedly until the end of the round. The blow hurt Tony and Loayza won the round.

The body punching Canzoneri inflicted from the start of the fight weakened the South American so that he was in a bad way when the bell rang for the close of the final round. Stanley had no power behind his blows and the Italian cuffed him about the ring with both hands. Loayza fought back, giving the former 126 pound champion one of his hardest fights.

Both were marked when they left the ring. Canzoneri's eyes were swollen. He received a cut under his left eye in the sixth round. Stanley's lips were cut and his face was badly puffed. The rosy color of their bodies was evidence of the effect the blows had on their mid-sections.

Canzoneri Saves Energy.

Canzoneri showed the better ring generalship. The Italian conserved his energy and by far was the stronger in the final three rounds. Whenever the going became too rough, Tony clinched or went into close quarters to avoid the vicious right hooks and left swings. Loayza missed frequently, some of his swings causing lost balance. Canzoneri was quick to take advantage of such tactics and frequently caught the Chilean out of fighting position.

Canzoneri had the better of the third round, which was featured by infighting. Canzoneri found a way to get through Stanley's crouching defense, using both hands to score with uppercuts. Then came the fourth and Loayza's blow to Canzoneri's jaw. It staggered the Italian and sent him against the ropes.

Stanley, thinking he had Canzoneri on the verge of a knockout, tore in and tried to put over a final punch. But the wily Canzoneri knew enough to hold on and clinch. By such tactics he weathered the round.

Sixth Round Even.

Canzoneri held his own in the fifth round. The sixth was slow with honors even. Starting with the seventh the body punching Loayza received tired him and the fight from then on was all in favor of Tony.

Pilkington Wins Decision.

Irish Jackie Pilkington of New York was given the decision over Tony Hererra of Mexico in the only other ten rounder. Pilkington was substituted for Sid Terris and, with a week's training, won a decision over one of the toughest lightweights in the game.

In the opening bout Al Donnelly and Smiling Springer, local featherweights, went four rounds to a draw. Joe Smallwood of Washington, D. C., stopped Eddie Ballatine of Chicago in the first round. Eddie was knocked down three times for nine counts. They met at 148 pounds.

Miller and Thomas alternated as referee and judge, while W. A. Battye and L. E. Osborne took turns as the sitting judge.

Gus Sonnenberg Throws Cantonwine; Keeps Title

Portland, Ore., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestling champion, successfully defended his title against Howard Cantonwine, Iowa grappler, here tonight. Sonnenberg won two straight falls, the first in 38:30 and the second in less than a minute, using flying tackles to pin his opponent both times.

Favorite Runs Outside and Loses.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Paul Bunyan's string of victories ended at Aurora yesterday. They piled 118 pounds on his back in the Halloween handicap. Jockey L. Martin lost a dozen lengths by racing him wide all the way, and he wound up beaten three lengths by Trieze, son of Omar Khayyam, which hails from Kansas City.

Paul Bunyan did not fail without running a game race over a track that was deep in mud. He was challenging all the way down the stretch and even at the end, when his chase was hopeless, he put on a belated rally, and was going fastest of all when they passed the line of finish.

Greenock and Andromeda soon ran each other into exhaustion. Trieze moved up out in the middle of the track and Paul Bunyan came with his rush out near the outside fence. Trieze soon sailed to the front and Paul Bunyan had raced second place at the head of the stretch.

Trieze's Second Victory.

It was the second victory in a row for Trieze and he also had to come from behind. Greenock went out in the early stages as if he was going to run away with the whole pot. Andromeda trailed him not far back, and Trieze was running third with Paul Bunyan last as they straightened out for the run down the back stretch.

From there home it was a two horse race, with Trieze saving just enough ground to stay in front all the way. Bunyan never got nearer the inside rail than the center of the track from the time he started from the extreme outside post position until he galloped past the judges.

Trieze was the second choice in the betting and paid $8.06. He ran the mile and seventy yards in 1:50. Paul Bunyan was at $3.16 to place.

The racing was conducted under disagreeable conditions, but about 3,000 were on hand when the program opened. It rained part of the afternoon and a heavy fog hung over the track, making it impossible to distinguish the colors or recognize the horses on the back stretch and far turn.

Mud Handicaps Judges.

Reveillon, an aged son of mighty old Fair Play, scored one of his unexpected victories in the mile and an eighth fifth race. He came from far back and Jockey Cleverly, who rode him, was so mud covered at the windup the judges had to go into a huddle before it could be determined whether it was Reveillon which splashed first past the line of finish or some other horse in the field of 12.

Reveillon beat Otilla by three lengths and Pat Field was third. In the betting Reveillon paid $29.00.

KENTUCKY AND CENTRE SEVER SPORT RELATIONS

Danville, Ky., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Centre college and the University of Kentucky have, by mutual agreement, canceled all athletic relations that were booked for the coming winter and spring. The cancellation came as a result of the announcement that Kentucky had decided to leave the Centre Colonels off their 1930 football schedule, severing relations that have continued since 1891, because Kentucky wishes to play more southern conference schools.

In the 35 games that have been played between the two schools since 1891, Centre has won 20 times to 13 for Kentucky. The last game between the two institutions was played Saturday afternoon at Danville and Kentucky was victorious by 33 to 0.

Vanderbilt to Play Gophers Again in Opener Next Year

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Vanderbilt university, opening opponent of the University of Minnesota football team this year, will have the same place on the Gophers' 1930 schedule, F. W. Luehring, athletic director, announced today. Luehring previously denied reports that the schools had scheduled a game for 1931. Minnesota beat Vanderbilt this year, 15 to 6.

"Drunkenness Is a Disease and I Can Cure It"
—Leslie E. Keeley, M. D., LL. D.

THE EDITOR of a powerful Chicago Newspaper before his death, challenged this statement of Dr. Keeley that "Drunkenness is a disease and I can cure it." He defied Dr. Keeley to cure the men whom he would send to the Institute. The results were so convincing that, through his great newspaper, he was personally responsible for thousands of men and women taking The Keeley Treatment for Liquor.

SMITTY—NOT SO DUSTY

Offer to Fields Spurs Mandell and McLarnin

Another world's championship fight is in the making for Chicago, according to announcement yesterday by Paddy Harmon. Harmon is staging the ten round fight at the Chicago Stadium Monday night between Lightweight Champion Sammy Mandell and Jimmy McLarnin of California.

The promoter yesterday offered Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, a guarantee of $50,000 to defend his title against the winner of Monday night's fight. Before making the offer to Gig Rooney, manager of Fields, Promoter Harmon obtained a promise from both fighters to meet Fields. If the match is made it will be staged in February.

With such a match as a reward for the victor, Mandell and McLarnin resumed training yesterday with greater zest. Mandell boxed six rounds with Danny Delmont, Harry Dublinsky, and Mexican Rios. Mandell, who is developing a hard right cross, sent the Mexican reeling against the ropes by using a stiff left lead followed by that stinging right cross. Mandell appears to be in splendid condition.

McLarnin stepped four rounds, boxing with his brother for two stanzas and with Russell Whalen for two more. Jimmy knows that a knockout win over Mandell will make him an attraction all over the country and intends to try for such a conclusion.

Charley Smith, the English heavyweight, and Otto Von Porat of Norway, who meet in the ten round semiwindup, also engaged in lively workouts. Smith boxed with Seal Harris, colored heavyweight, and Von Porat pulled on the gloves with Tom Jones for three rounds and for three more with Edgar Norman.

MIKE HALL FAILS IN SECOND RACE ON ENGLISH TURF

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The second attempt of Mike Hall to gain honor on English turf failed today when the American bred gelding finished among the also rans in the Cambridgeshire stakes.

The historic mile and furlong jaunt was won by Lady Zia Wernher's Double Life, with Capt. J. D. Cohn's American owned horse, Vatout, second. Jacques Wittouck's Palais Royal II., which won the fall classic last year, finished third in the field of 33.

Mike Hall, which ran thirteenth in his first English appearance in the Cesarewitch, never was a factor in today's race after the first mile. Joe Childs, the king's jockey, who had the mount on the American horse, said the colt ran a fair race.

"I'm Now Addicted to Mint Julep Shaves!"

"If using BRISK shaving cream means falling off the wagon, I'm taking a headlong plunge," writes R. A. Porter of South Orange, N. J., "I'm 'on' the mint julep shave for life!"

"I've heard the claims of all the various shaving creams and tried them all, but nothing ever did the work like BRISK. Man—just to put it on your face is like a cool breeze on a sunburned skin! But the way it helps the old razor—you'd never think a whisker had any resistance at all. I now shave in half the time it formerly took and never have any cuts, scratches or soreness. In fact I call my morning BRISK shave my beauty treatment!"

Once you get a box of BRISK, open the lid and shave with BRISK, you will never "monkey" with anybody's tube, stick or powder.

Take the flat, oval box of BRISK in one hand and rub your moist brush over BRISK.

Lubricates the Razor Stroke.

BRISK lathers instantly and freely in hot or cold water—and plenty of lather is the first requirement of a good shave. BRISK absorbs two to three times the amount of water that old fashioned shaving cream does. Hence it makes two to three times the amount of lather—and a lather that stays moist on your face until you finish your shave!

The rich, moistureful lather quickly "cuts" the beard oil and soaks the hair soft for easy, clean cutting. Moreover, it lubricates the cutting stroke of the razor. You know how a bit of soap on a saw eases its passage through a log—well, that's how BRISK smooths the path of the razor. The razor does not "pull" or bump along over your face, but glides sweetly over the skin, cutting down the hair closely and closely and almost without effort.

Every stroke of the razor does a clean job. No need to go over and over the same spot and "butcher" your face to get a close shave.

Starts the Day Right for You.

The man who starts out with his face feeling and looking fit starts out in a winning stride. BRISK gives you the kind of shave that starts the day right for you and keeps you in pace all day long. BRISK is new, even unto the package. It's a flat, oval tin box made for men only. And it holds an amazing lot of shaves because you have to use so little compared to other shaving creams. Get BRISK now at any good drug store or toilet goods counter—fifty cents.

BRISK has four brothers: ZEST, a refreshing after-shaving lotion; TRIM, a hair dressing in cleanly stick form; SMOOTH, a powder that kills shine without showing powder; STIP, a new type "stoptic" that closes cuts pronto!

BADGERS LOSE BEHR FOR GAME AGAINST PURDUE

Injuries Keep Star Out of Lineup.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—At a conference tonight attended by Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite, Trainer Bill Fallen and team physicians, it was announced that Sammy Behr, Wisconsin quarter back, will not play against Purdue Saturday because of injuries received in the Iowa game.

Coach Thistlethwaite will use either Walter Graebner, a sophomore understudy, or Half Back Bill Lusby to call signals. Lusby was at it in practice tonight.

PURDUE BUILDS DEFENSE

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Preparing for what he expects will be the best offensive the Boilermakers have faced this season, Coach Jimmy Phelan today sent his Purdue regulars against a yearling eleven, using Wisconsin plays in the last scrimmage. The squad leaves for Madison tomorrow night. Phelan and his players feel that neither Michigan nor Chicago offered much in the way of an offense, so they expect the going to be different at the homecoming battle in the Badger camp Saturday.

George Stears, veteran guard, was sent to the hospital last night with a severe cold. Even yet Phelan intends to take Stears to Madison, although the Chicago lad may not be in shape to play throughout.

Yearlings Make Gains.

The Badger plays, as presented by the yearlings this afternoon, were executed with substantial gains, particularly by means of the aerial route. Although there will be no student migration to Madison, as classes will be in session here, the Boilermaker team will not lack supporters. The Purdue Military band will leave Friday night on a special train along with several hundred townspeople. More than 1,100 tickets have been sold here.

IOWA TAKES IT EASY IN THIRD LIGHT WORKOUT

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—The third easy workout in as many days was given the Iowa football squad by Coach Ingwersen tonight. Varsity linemen were again excused from drill. Capt. Glassgow, who got a layoff yesterday, was in uniform for today's workout, but Farroh, the other regular half back, was excused, and Thomas, full back, likewise got a day off.

The entire squad will report tomorrow for the first scrimmage session, in preparation for the Minnesota game, here, Nov. 9.

COCHRAN TAKES 2 BLOCKS; LEADS REISELT 6 POINTS

New York, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Welker Cochran of Hollywood, Cal., gained a slight margin over Otto Reiselt, former world's titleholder, today by winning the fifth and sixth blocks of their special three cushion billiards match. The double victory left them all square with three blocks won by each and gave Cochran a margin in points of 300 to 294.

Cochran made a long gain in the afternoon block, running 72 points before Reiselt attained the required 50.

GABBY STREET NEW MANAGER OF CARDINALS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Gabby Street, coach and scout for the St. Louis Cardinals, was named manager of the team here late today by President Sam Breadon. He succeeds Bill McKechnie, who signed to manage the Braves. Street for years was Walter Johnson's catcher at Washington.

Review Mistakes

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 30. —[Special.]—Coaches Tom Lieb and Jack Chevigny and members of the Notre Dame football squad who made the Carnegie Tech trip last Saturday attended the Granada theater here today, especially to look at moving pictures of that game. During the course of the grid movie, errors were pointed out by the coaches.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 30. — [Special.]—Notre Dame's varsity football teams concluded practice today for the intersectional football game with Georgia Tech Saturday. Assistant Coach Tom Lieb directed the first team in a snappy shadow scrimmage against Tech's plays and Jack Chevigny put the shock troops through a live offensive skirmish against picked freshman, to polish the reserves' plays. Tom Conley was used at right end with the varsity today, although Manfred Vezie, varsity flank man, injured in the Wisconsin game, will make the Atlanta trip.

Backs received instruction in taking out ends while the linemen worked out under Lieb. The entire squad hit the tackling dummy for 15 minutes.

The team leaves tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock and will stay at an Atlanta hotel, Friday night. About 40 players will make the trip.

Although the Golden Tornado has suffered two defeats this season, there was no trace of overconfidence in Notre Dame ranks this afternoon. Coach Rockne's men have not forgotten what happened to an otherwise championship team in 1926, when a supposedly weak Carnegie Tech team defeated it. Then, too, they are eager to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of Coach Bill Alexander's men.

COMISKEY HOME; TO CONFER WITH BUSH NEXT WEEK

Upon his return home yesterday, Charles A. Comiskey, venerable owner of the Chicago White Sox, announced that Donie Bush, new Hose manager, will arrive here next week for a conference relative to club plans for the 1930 American league drive. The confab will mark the first actual effort in Sox rebuilding plans.

Bush, who resigned as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and signed to pilot the White Sox a day or two before the 1929 campaign closed, was in Chicago for the world series, but, it is understood, did not confer with Sox officials. He is spending the winter at his home in Indianapolis.

W. E. Girls to Use Men's and Women's Cage Rules

Western Electric athletic leaders plan to organize two girls' basketball leagues—one playing girls' rules and the other playing boys' rules. This decision brings the total number of cage circuits at the works to five. One of these leagues will start games at 6 o'clock in the morning. It will consist of six teams of night workers.

would have courted serious disciplinary action. It is all a great puzzle.

The Navy players against whom Mr. Roper thus endeavored to inflame the Princeton players were all strangers to them, and it is easy to understand that, football being a game and not a phase of war, the players might advance to the contest in a spirit of mutual competitive good will. If courage and spunk were the qualities which Mr. Roper hoped to arouse in the players, he should have been prepared to fight his men individually, because he gave them cause for a fairly active rage against himself without making out a plausible case for fighting against the Navy.

Although he might have enjoyed a personal fight, being a man of good figure, great vigor and turbulent disposition, there is reason to doubt that such a challenge to the semi-military authority of the coach over the player would have been readily forgiven. It was humiliating enough to be accused, as they were in the Daily Princetonian, but the paper, after all, is a school publication and this scolding could have been accepted as a spat within the family. But at Princeton, to be shamed before the sport writers from New York papers was something on the order of being bawled out in the presence of the servants. Inasmuch as no player socked him under these circumstances, maybe was right all along.

Provokes Limited Rage.

I realize, of course, that the kind of fight which Mr. Roper exhorted by this indirect appeal is a synthetic and limited rage. It springs from nothing and the player is expected to keep it within certain bounds at all times, because if he lets himself go in a free, natural expression, kicking his opponents in the esophagus, raking their features with his cleats and tweaking their feet from their legs with full abandon, his team is likely to be penalized, and if this happens, he is held up to scorn. Still, the composure of the Princeton players, their inability to grow hysterical at the word of command, may be interpreted as a symptom of civilization and maturity.

Mr. Knute Rockne, whose psychological experiments with his players always are governed by a sense of humor, once confessed that when the time came to go into his sermon between halves, he always was afraid to meet the eyes of the seniors on the squad who had been listening to the same kind of oration every fall for three years and by now knew it to be no more legitimate than formulated devil-baiting. After hearing the same thing several times, an intelligent football players learns to lawn with his eyes.

I recall an appeal of this kind by Mr. C. C. Pyle when he was operating a professional football team based on the Yankee stadium. The game was going against Mr. Pyle's players and in the 'tween-time he pounded up and down the squad room under the grandstand, waving his walking stick and shouting: "What the hell's the matter with you men? Now next half I want you to go in there and fight. Do you get that? Fight."

His athletes were sprawled on the floor smoking cigarets. Mr. Ralph Scott, late all-American, turned to one of the other players. "In case I forget," said he, "remind me to fight for dear old Charlie."

Gophers Drill on Old, New Formations

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Despite rain and consequently a wet gridiron, Minnesota's regulars had outdoor practice today. Dr. C. W. Spears first sent the athletes onto Northrop field to absorb new plays and to polish up old ones. Then he finished with a dummy scrimmage against freshmen in the fieldhouse.

If the weather permits the varsity will go into a hard scrimmage against the freshmen tomorrow.

DRILL ON FUNDAMENTALS

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Performances in grid fundamentals will determine who will make the trip to Minneapolis tomorrow noon when the Indiana squad leaves for the game with the Gophers Saturday. Coach Pat Page sent his men through a blocking and tackling drill today. Two varsity teams also ran signals. The personnel of one team was: Thomas and Zeller, ends; Unger and Jasper, tackles; Bennett and Shanahan, guards; Mankowski, center; Jaros, quarter back; Dauer and Koenig, half backs, and Balay, full back. On the other were: Catterton and McCracken, ends; Waraksa and Hojnacki, guards; Shields and Honajcki, tackles; Ringwalt, center; Brubaker, quarter back; Ross and Faunce, half backs; Todd, full back.

Of these four were formerly "B" team players. They are Dauer, Jaros, Waraksa, and Thomas.

CARDS PICK BRADENTOWN.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Bradentown, Fla., has been selected as the 1930 training camp of the St. Louis Cardinals, Secretary Clarence Lloyd announced today. The Red Birds trained at Bradentown in 1923 and 1924. It was again chosen after negotiations with San Diego, Cal., fell through and after Avon Park officials failed to guarantee improvements in the playing field and hotel accommodations there.

make for bigger attendance at the Coliseum.

The Coliseum management has solved the problem of seating patrons. Ushers at the opera won't be more courteous or efficient than were the traffic directors last night.

The only poor fight of the night was that between Kaplan and Wolfe. Two less handsome gladiators never climbed through the ropes. Even if they had fought brilliantly it would have been difficult to wax enthusiastic. Referee Davie Miller should have been given the decision. He worked harder than either furry faced Wolfe or funny faced Kaplan.

During the Kaplan-Wolfe engagement, the Kid was shoving Wolfe all around the ring. The southerner was in distress. Loud and clear came the admonition of a fan:

"Don't get excited, Wolfe. A lot of folks have been hit harder this week than you have been tonight."

Joe Smallwood, who knocked out Eddie Ballantine, was once employed as a page in the United States senate. It's fortunate for the senators that none ever addressed him harshly.

Before the main bout a delegation from Springfield was assisted into the ring carrying a huge silver loving cup. One of the delegates turned out to be an orator. While he was shouting at the top of his lungs, a gallery bug bellowed: 'Louder." The orator blushed, shot his cuffs, and retired. The crowd gathered that Dempsey was presented the cup as a reward for visiting Springfield. Fight crowds don't seem crazy over introductions and speeches. They want knockouts.

Alekhine and Bogoljubow Adjourn After Forty Moves

ROTTERDAM Oct. 30.—(AP)—The twentieth game of the chess championship match between Dr. Alexander Alekhine of Paris and E. D. Bogoljubow of Triberg was adjourned today after forty moves, with Dr. Alekhine a pawn ahead. The present score of the match: Dr. Alekhine, 9; Bogoljubow, 5; drawn, 6.

Nesser Keeps Place in Ohio Speed Attack

Holman, Holcomb, and McConnell completed the back field aggregation, with Holman calling the signals. Alternating with Nesser during the latter practice were Huston, Fouche, and Horn.

Linesmen were given a long defensive drill by George Hauser. The Buckeyes have two more days of practice before they entrain.

BYERS IS DE PAUL SCORING THREAT AGAINST LOYOLA

While De Paul university's showing on the gridiron this season hasn't been anything so good, Coach Ed Anderson figures a victory over Loyola Sunday at Soldiers' field will make the season highly successful, despite two early season defeats.

Clair Byers, whose flashy work last year carried him across the enemy goal line nine times, has regained his 1928 pace after an indifferent start and is expected to be De Paul's main scoring threat. Another possibility is Bob Hartman. The sophomore half back played a prominent part in the Demons' win over St. Viator. Capt. Phelan, Red Harrington, and Bill Johnson make up the rest of De Paul's back field for the Loyola game.

AUER MOVED TO CENTER TO PLUG MICHIGAN LINE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Reorganization plans for the Michigan football team took another turn today with the grooming of Howard Auer for center and the insertion of three new men in the back field.

Auer, who has been at right tackle most of the year, played center in high school at Bay City, Mich. He has been doing fairly well at tackle, but the failure of Al Bovard to come up to expectations and the unsteadiness of Smith, a sophomore, led Line Coach Jack Blott to devote most of his time to Auer this afternoon. Blott tutored him in the art of snapping the ball and charging from the center position.

Failure of the backs to furnish effective blocking has been responsible for the poor showing of Michigan's ball carriers, and Kipke spent most of his time helping Back Field Coach Cappon send the backs through a long session of taking out tacklers.

No scrimmage was held, since most of the workout was given over to individual instruction. Morrison was the only man of the four new backs used yesterday who remained today. Wheeler and Gembis replaced Heston and Priest at the halves, while little Red Wilson appeared in place of Hudson as quarter back.

RESERVE BOARD MEETS AND KEEPS EYE ON MARKET

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Another meeting of the federal reserve board on the stock market situation took place today, but without resulting in any announcement. The impression prevailed that no action is contemplated.

While the question of a possible reduction in the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York has been under discussion, it is considered probable that no change will be made this week. Directors of the New York bank are scheduled to meet tomorrow.

That excessively optimistic statements by leading spokesmen for the present and last Republican administrations have contributed to the speculative frenzy which led to the recent stock market crash was asserted by Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], minority leader of the senate.

He Criticizes Hoover.

Senator Robinson said that while prices of stocks were soaring when speculation was at its height, "no one in authority stood in the way or resisted the movement—a movement which clearly from its inception foreshadowed disaster." Millions of small investors, he said, "have now lost their resources and are involved in bankruptcy and ruin.

"It may be well to trace the beginning of this calamity," said Senator Robinson. "If the foundation of the belief of ruined investors was faith in the strong position of American industry it is also true that the prophets and high priests of American prosperity, represented by no less personalities than a former President of the United States, the secretary of the treasury, and the former secretary of commerce, now President, contributed by unduly and repeated optimistic statements to the creation of enthusiastic if not frenzied ventures in stocks.

Played Politics, He Charges.

"The good faith of these gentlemen may not be impugned except insofar as their zeal is justly attributable to the desire for that partisan political advantage which is so often derived from real or fancied business conditions.

"Had the Democratic party been in power when the stampede on the stock exchange occurred the ruinous results would have been charged by Republican leaders to the financial policies of the administration."

CHEERFUL NEWS APPEARS IN DAY'S DIVIDENDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 30.—Further indications of the soundness of business was forthcoming today in the announcement of a flock of extra dividends, increased payments and initial distributions by corporations in all sections of the country.

An additional list of corporations are expected to attest to the excellent condition of their affairs and improvement in earnings by the declaration of extra dividends in the next week or so.

General Motors to Act.

Among these is the General Motors corporation, whose directors will meet on Nov. 14. The understanding in the financial district is that the board will vote at least an extra equal to the 30 cents extra paid in July.

An outstanding demonstration of sound business was taken by directors of the American Tobacco company in the declaration of an extra dividend of $2 a share on both the common and the "B" common stocks. This was offset in a way as far as the tobacco industry is concerned by the omission of the quarterly payment of $1.75 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock of the Tobacco Products corporation. This was caused by the recent failure of the United Cigar Stores company to declare its dividends. Tobacco Products is a large holder of United Cigar stocks.

The National Supply company declared an extra dividend of $2 a share. The annual rate of the A. O. Smith corporation was increased from $1.20 to $2 a share with the declaration of 50 cents quarterly.

Put on $3 Annual Basis.

The common stock of the Bulova Watch company was placed on a $3 annual basis yesterday when directors voted an initial disbursement of 75 cents, quarterly. The action was taken simultaneously with the listing of the 275,000 shares on the New York exchange.

The Bon Ami company declared an extra dividend of 50 cents on class B stock and an extra of $1 on class A, both payable Nov. 13.

An extra dividend of 50 cents a share was declared on the common stock of the Dictaphone corporation, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents on common and $2 on preferred. All dividends are payable Dec. 2, to stock of record Nov. 15.

News and Gossip of Stock Markets

Nearly Every One Suffers.

Wall street was rife yesterday with pitiful stories about the thousands of individuals who were wiped out in the market smash. Mainly they were about the little people, the holders of stocks on margins, who had accumulated a few thousand dollars and who were sold out because they could not put up additional margins. However in Monday and Tuesday's declines it was the rich men who were most seriously hurt and these losses, tremendous in size, extended to a long list of prominent names. It could hardly be said that any one on the long side of the market, no matter whether a speculative or investment holder, came off unscathed.

Unreasoning Liquidation.

How utterly beyond reason the decline was extended in numerous issues of large earning power may be seen from an analysis of many corporations whose securities have suffered in the deluge of offerings. Fox Film, which might readily serve as an example, reached a low level of 40 Tuesday, where the yield from its $4 annual dividend was 10 per cent. Yesterday this return was reduced to less than 8 per cent.

Buy for Employes.

A strong supporting factor in the market for a good many securities is the buying of corporations of their own stock for employés. The steel corporation in particular has been a heavy buyer and such companies as National Biscuit, Standard of New Jersey, and American Telephone also are taking this opportunity of picking up stock for employés.

Reassures Stockholders.

Phillips Petroleum stockholders who have not been unloading their stock in the current decline were reassured by Frank Phillips, president of the corporation, that "Phillips Petroleum is a sound investment at much higher levels." Mr. Phillips sees no justification for the decline in the company's stock. "We hope our stockholders will not unnecessarily liquidate because of the condition of the stock market," he said. "Conditions within the industry and the company are better than for a long time."

Many Disputes Develop.

The biggest crash in the history of the stock market is likely to leave a long trail of disputes, arguments, and possibly lawsuits over accounts that were sold out at the lowest prices on Monday and Tuesday. Because of market conditions it was necessary for brokers to protect themselves, which most of them did by giving notice to the customer that unless the additional and required margin reached the broker by a specified time, usually 10:30 or 11 a. m., he would be sold out. It is the claim of many customers that they should not have been sold out, and some of the claims were being adjusted at various brokerage houses yesterday.

Chicago Curb Market Stocks

A soft opening on the Chicago curb yesterday was followed by an increasingly strong tone throughout the session that resulted in a sharp rally at the finish. Several good advances were marked up and early declines were in almost every case cut down. Middle West preferred rights fluctuated in active trading, opening at 1⅛ and shooting up to 6 at the close, for a net rise of 2 points.

Transformer was the soft spot of the early trading, starting off at 25, for a 15 point loss, but a volume of buying orders which followed announcement that earnings were expected to be $7 a share forced the issue back up to 33 at the finish. Among the group to record advances of 1 to 3 points were Sundstrand, Fox Theaters, Standard of Indiana, Niagara Hudson, and Middle West preferred. General Realty was the chief loser in a dip of around 13 points and Walgreen was 5 points lower.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Cotton goods prices were being steadily maintained, with slightly better, although still light, interest in both coarse and fine gray goods. Yarns were subject to some discounting. Wool goods markets were quiet. Burlaps were quoted unchanged with little variation in quoted Calcutta shipment prices. Spot raw silks were again lower and quiet. Japan markets were held from further weakening by stronger yen exchange.

DELUGE OF MARKET MESSAGES SWAMPS LAND AND SEA WIRES

New York, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Telephone, telegraph, cable and radio companies were unanimous today in reporting that their business has been tremendously increased—to record proportions in some firms—by the necessity for speedy communication occasioned by stock market conditions in Wall street. The break in prices was felt all over the United States, in Canada and in European capitals, such as London and Paris.

The Commercial Cable company, of which T. M. Drew, with forty-one years' service in the field, is business manager, had the biggest day in its history. This did not except the busiest days of the world war.

R. G. McCloughin, assistant general manager of the metropolitan district of the Postal Telegraph, said that business in the cities using the Postal Telegraph service had increased between 10 and 15 per cent in the last two days. A 10 per cent increase was noted in Boston.

The business of the Postal Telegraph company in the financial district has grown far beyond any point ever before known.

The Western Union Telegraph company, from its general offices, announced that the figures showing the increase of business yesterday had not yet been totaled, but the wires of the company had carried the strain of the heaviest stock trading in history.

RAW SILK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—SILK—Raw futures closed easy. Sales, 2,250 bales; December, $4.80; March, $4.81; May, $4.80. Open market quotations [60 day basis]: Shanghai, steam, extra B, $4.90; Canton, double extra A, 14-16S, $3.45; Japanese, crack double extra, $4.95.

Chicago Board of Trade Stocks

A small increase was made in stock trading on the Board of Trade, with a decline in the most active shares early and a recovery, the close being irregular. Allied Mills advanced a point, Mining Corporation of Canada came in for more trading and with Allied Mills there was about 75 per cent of the total business centered in these two issues. Square D A advanced 2 points on light offerings and Wrigley gained nearly a point on the announcement that the company is extending its foreign operations, which have been unusually successful.

Trading in 684 additional shares of Allied Mills common will start today, making 1,040,197 shares admitted. Electric Household dropped 5⅝ points with only one trade.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw market was quiet and unchanged today at 3.83 for spots, duty paid, with no sales reported. Reflecting the better tone to the stock market and a report that owing to present low prices, the single selling agency in Cuba had temporarily withdrawn from the market, raw futures were generally higher, although at the extreme advances, offerings increased and reactions followed, with the market closing net unchanged to 4 points higher. Approximate sales, 66,150 tons. Prices follow:

BARGAIN DAY IN STOCK MARKETS DRAWS THRONGS

Cash Sales Feature Odd Lot Demand.

BY O. A. MATHER.

It seemed yesterday that the public, which makes and breaks stock markets, turned squarely around and bought stocks. Bankers and capitalists, business and professional men, clerks and laborers—every stratum of American citizenship—joined the army of "bargain hunters" that rallied the securities markets.

The scenes and episodes in the banks and brokerage houses of La Salle street were almost as amazing as on earlier days when the markets were crashing. A deluge of small orders for stocks swept in by telephone and mail, while in many banks and brokerage offices long lines of new customers waited, with money and checks in hand, to turn in their orders.

Veteran heads of the La Salle street houses frankly admitted they never had experienced such a demand for stocks in small lots. In some of the big houses, these odd-lot orders represented a large share of their total business. And never were there so many women seen in the different offices, and all with the money to buy a few shares of stock that either they had selected or the brokers would recommend.

Many Women Purchasers.

"It is the turn of the market," one of the heads in a big brokerage house chuckled. "I have watched a long parade of women and men today, all buying a few shares and paying cash for them. And the women—I never have seen them turn out in this fashion. They seem to believe it is 'bargain day'—and perhaps they are right. Didn't somebody once say that a woman's intuition is often better than a man's judgment? And the same thing is happening in New York and other cities, so our wires tell us."

Most of the big Chicago houses gave special consideration to small buyers yesterday, although ordinarily the filling of such orders is not much encouraged. In some offices special clerks were assigned to handle odd lots. In other offices rooms were set aside for women customers.

"We are trying to take care of every new customer and every small trader," a partner in another big house explained. "These myriad driblets of buying have joined to make a flood and it is the salvation of the market. These stocks are being paid for outright, so there will be few margin calls on the buyers. And these stocks will be put away and won't come back on the market on the first rally for profit taking. We believe in the next few days that millions of shares will disappear from the market. It is investment buying, which is the best sort of buying."

The banks reported a steady stream of depositors withdrawing some of their savings in order to buy stocks. However, it was not a reckless withdrawal; only part of accumulated nestegg that small depositors evidently believed they could afford to risk and lose. Several of the big organizations that distribute securities commandeered adjoining offices in order to accommodate the crowds of buyers. One such reported it had taken orders for around 170,000 shares in purely odd-lot buying.

Reynolds Analyzes Situation.

And so, Chicago's financial district is more optimistic than it has been for many a day.

"The country is not broke, the people are not ruined and prosperity has not departed," Arthur Reynolds, head of the Continental Illinois bank, analyzed. "In fact, it would seem that the enormous wealth and resources of the country are coming into play.

"Stocks were too high and they were crushed. An army of speculators, big and little, have been hurt. But there is a reserve army willing to buy securities at more reasonable prices and they will profit where others have lost. It is a shifting of wealth within our own country; nothing has departed."

Other bankers pointed out that there is no dearth of money and credit, with the vast liquidation freeing great sums for other purposes. While loans on securities will remain heavy, the low prices of good stocks will result in dividend returns comparable with money rates. They emphasized that the securities markets have returned to a safe and sane basis, while at the same time the fundamentals of trade and industry remain sound.

Gov't Is Seen Taking Risks on Wheat Crop

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is a little difficult to see how the federal farm board, with its recent announcements that it is willing to lend freely on wheat on the basis of prices arbitrarily fixed, can escape at least the charge that it is furnishing our agriculturists with funds to speculate in grain.

There might be those unkind enough to draw a deadly sort of parallel with margin trading on stocks. The latter form of activity has resulted in tremendous losses in the last few days. These losses, however, are charged up to the individuals who speculated.

Brokers had for months kept such large margin requirements that even with the downward plunge of security values they were able to escape, so far as is known unscathed.

Effect of Decline.

On the other hand, members of the farm board have been quoted as saying that the amount they are willing to lend to the farmer who is for any reason holding his wheat will be almost if not quite equal to the amounts that dealers or speculators are willing to pay for the grain now. In other words, it appears that a comparatively moderate drop in wheat prices would wipe out the farmer's interest in the wheat he is holding and make the margin lender the holder.

It must be remembered that the object of the federal board is not to fix prices. Specifically this is denied. Its object is to enable the producer of farm products to control his marketing in a way that will give him a fair opportunity to get what he should have. The expectation is that fifteen to twenty millions will be used in doing so at once.

Terminal Facilities Crowded.

This probably is an amount large enough to be effective in the handling of the grain that is still in the hands of the farmers. How large this grain holding is it is difficult to determine. Grain men estimate that perhaps 65 per cent of the country's wheat has been sold by the producers. Farmers, on this basis of figuring, still would have in their possession or in country elevators some 188 million bushels.

It is well known that the terminal market facilities are crowded all over the country. In Chicago there is so much grain on hand that about 500 railway cars have been rented for storage, it is said, and are kept on sidings to hold oats and rye.

In one gulf port, it is reported, are four million bushels of Kansas wheat that was sent down on a special freight rate, but which must pay a higher freight rate unless it is exported by Nov. 15. So far it has not been purchased by foreign interests.

The southwest, according to the experts, shipped heavily to the central markets in July. One railroad alone, it is asserted, hauled out 12,000 carloads of grain, 90 per cent or more of it wheat, in a single week. Much of the farm stored or country elevator stored wheat is in the northwest and presumably the government support in money will accrue to that section.

Possible Result Next Year.

A question to be determined is whether the financing of the bushels that are left of the year's crop will be able to influence the world's crop enough to hold prices steady. What would be the effect if the Canadian wheat pool decided to let go its vast supplies at a price buyers would be willing to pay.

The government's money is being risked on the belief that no large drop in prices will occur. Stabilization is being attempted at a price that will be profitable to most growers of wheat.

The possible result, if success is attained, will be a larger crop next year, and stabilization will be more difficult. Much more money would be required if market conditions were unfavorable for getting a fair price openly arrived at.

It has been asked how far the government will go in taking risks for farmers in this matter, risks which other business men must assume as individuals or privately owned corporations while speculating.

SHARP ADVANCES NOTED IN BANK STOCK TRADING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 30.—Sharp advances in bank stocks were the outstanding feature of today's over the counter trading which showed signs of renewed public confidence. Buying in large amounts made itself felt throughout the list.

Among the bank stocks, City was up 90 points, Guaranty gained 145, the National rose 32, and Manhattan company old stock advanced 200. Brokers advanced 30; Chatham-Phenix, 20; Corn Exchange, 50; Equitable, 40; First National, 70, and Irving Trust 10 to 8 points.

Insurance stocks were fairly active, practically every stock in the list showed a slight gain. Westchester Fire recovered 5 points. Price changes among the industrial and chain store issues failed to register gains, although a strong undertone prevailed in both.

Aviation stocks were inclined to be weak. Fokker first preferred lost 3 points. West Virginia Pulp and Paper common declined 8, Fuel Oil Motors common and American Book preferred 3, and Crosse & Blackwell, Driver-Harris new were off a point each. Other groups were quiet.

For the first nine months the Studebaker corporation reported net profits of $13,419,871, including $1,950,675 as Studebaker's share of the profits of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car company, equal to $6.72 a share on the common stock, as against $12,730,721, or $6.58 a share, on a slightly smaller number of common shares for the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1928.

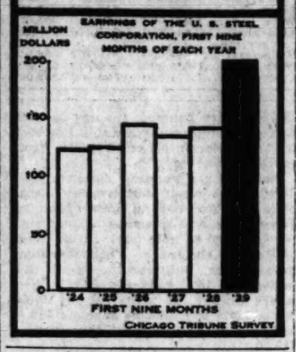

Studebaker earnings for the third quarter amounted to $2,538,014 (including $527,558 from the Pierce-Arrow company), equal to $1.25 a share, compared with $4,147,436, or $2.14 a share, in the corresponding quarter of last year.

Young Spring and Wire corporation, of Detroit, reported net earnings for the third quarter amounting to $551,885, equal to $1.34 a share on 412,500 common shares, compared with $848,678, or $2.57 a share on 330,000 shares in the preceding quarter and $505,481, or $1.53 a share on 330,000 shares in the corresponding quarter of 1928. # CITIES SERVICE CO. WITHDRAWS OFFER OF STOCK RIGHTS

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The recent sharp decline in stock prices resulted today in the withdrawal of rights to purchase new stock which had been issued to stockholders of Cities Service company and extension of time for exercise of rights to holders of J. I. Case company stock.

The Cities Service rights permitted stockholders to purchase new shares at $45 a share and were issued when the stock was selling above $60. Yesterday, however, the stock dropped on the curb to $20, and it closed today at $32.

The rights, therefore, on the basis of these quotations were valueless, although they were traded on the curb yesterday at 37 cents. They had previously traded as high as $2.50. These trades, however, are automatically canceled with the withdrawal of the rights, but buyers and sellers must pay brokers' commissions.

J. I. Case company stock, traded on the stock exchange, failed to drop to the low level of $150 a share at which the rights permit stockholders to purchase new shares, although the stock broke $41 to $160 today, and closed at $179. The rights, which have been traded for as much as $81 each, broke $21 each today to $6, and closed at $7.50.

The rights were originally to expire Nov. 4, but bankers for the company announced extension to Nov. 19 owing to unsettled conditions.

Finds Conditions in Country Sound.

New York, Oct. 30.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Sr., 90 year old retired oil king, announced from his home at Pocantico Hills today that in his judgment the recent violent declines on the stock exchange were unwarranted. He disclosed that he and his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., were accumulating substantial amounts of common stocks.

His statement, said to be the first comment that he had made on the stock market in eighteen years, electrified Wall street and accelerated the recovery which was already well under way.

Mr. Rockefeller's statement follows:

"Believing that fundamental conditions of the country are sound and that there is nothing in the business situation to warrant the destruction of values that has taken place on the exchanges during the last week, my son and I have for some days been purchasing sound common stocks. We are continuing and will continue our purchases in substantial amounts at levels which we believe represent sound investment values."

Move Carefully Timed.

The statement seemed to have been carefully timed. Bankers had feared that the decision to close the exchanges for two hours tomorrow and throughout Friday and Saturday would be misinterpreted by the public. Therefore, the statement of Mr. Rockefeller, given out just before 2 o'clock, was hailed as a master stroke at exactly the right moment.

Efforts to learn what stocks Mr. Rockefeller and his son had been buying were not very successful. It became known, however, that they were heavy purchasers of standard industrial and railway shares. They are said to have bought also Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of New York, Standard Oil of California, and Vacuum Oil.

Bankers' Group Still Vigilant.

While the strength in today's market was engendered by a flood of investment buying and orders from all parts of this country and abroad, the attention of the banking group organized a week ago was in no way relaxed. About noon several members of the coalition met at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., and again, at 4:30 p. m., the full group conferred for an hour.

Following the evening meeting Thomas W. Lamont and George Whitney, partners of the Morgan firm, spoke to reporters.

They indicated that they felt that the events of the day spoke largely for themselves. There was evident indication in the action of the stock market, they remarked, that the nervousness and apprehension of recent days was passing, that the public had regained its balance.

Rock Island in Market for 5,000 Freight Cars

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad has placed inquiries in the market for 5,000 freight cars at an estimated cost of from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 and requiring between 60,000 and 70,000 tons of steel, it was reported yesterday. The Missouri Pacific railroad was reported to have placed orders for from 40,000 to 60,000 tons of standard steel rails.

HIGHLIGHTS OF RECOVERIES IN U. S. MARKETS

As a complete reversal of the trend for the last two days, stocks on the New York stock exchange, New York curb and Chicago Stock exchange yesterday rose sharply. Leading shares sold higher by from 5 to 50 points.

Among the leaders were General Electric, up 25; American Telephone and Telegraph, up 36; Montgomery Ward, up 12; U. S. Steel, up 11, and Cities Service, up 9½ on the closing quotations on the New York curb.

The brighter character of the market was reflected in reports of general business conditions. Earnings of 163 industrial corporations for the first nine months were shown as 25 per cent, on the average, above those of the same period in 1928.

Sales on the New York exchange were 10,709,600, two and a half times the average for the year, but far below the previous day's session, when more than 16,000,000 shares were traded.

New York curb sales were 3,809,200, also well off from the Tuesday record. The Chicago exchange, however, had nearly as large sales as the day previous, with 1,090,000.

Investment trusts were again among the heavy buyers in the market, according to report, one estimate placing their purchases in the last two days as high as $500,000,000.

Wheat prices, as on Tuesday, showed strength, the close being at net gains of from 3 to around 4 cents a bushel.

New York bank clearances for the day were three and a half billion dollars, a record. The enormous total was due in large part to the heavy trades of Tuesday. Call money was renewed at 6 per cent, a rise of 1 per cent from the day previous.

Heavy sales were made in the bond marts, with prices irregular. Some of the liquidation was to get funds for stock purchases, it was reported.

FOREIGN TRADE OF U. S. SHOWS RECORD GAIN

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A nine per cent gain in exports and a ten per cent gain in imports for the first nine months of 1929 indicate the largest growth of American foreign trade in any year since the war, the National Foreign Trade council reported today.

Exports for the nine months were $3,849,000,008, or 292 million dollars greater than they were in 1927, the next highest total for the period of almost nine years. Imports for the nine months were larger than those for any year since 1920.

The export business in automobiles and parts this year is the largest ever recorded. The figure for the first nine months, with exports valued at $455,400,000, shows a gain of 22 per cent over the next highest corresponding period, which was last year. Machinery exports have also been the highest on record for the last nine months, totaling $462,500,000, or 25 per cent better than the corresponding months of last year.

"It is in these figures," the trade council said, "that it becomes apparent that the main occupation of American export trade today is to equip the rest of the world with the implements of the American standard of living."

"The most active field for our export growth," the survey report continued, "is at present in South America, where our exports increased from $305,000,000 to $377,000,000."

Leading Curb Shares Soar; Others Slump

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Leading shares on the curb market were hurled upward violently today from the low levels reached in yesterday's drastic decline, but several more weak spots were uncovered, and a wide assortment of less active shares collapsed to new low levels.

The failure of a second curb house, Lynch & Co., was somewhat unsettling, but like J. J. Bell & Co., which failed yesterday, this house did not do a general commission business, and its insolvency is not regarded as of serious consequence.

Several of the leading utilities practically regained their losses of yesterday, and some of the investment trusts and oils rebounded vigorously. Trading was in considerably reduced volume from yesterday, 3,809,200 shares changing hands, in contrast to 7,096,300.

Electric Bond and Share shot up 29 and Electric Investors nearly 39 points. Northern States Power A jumped 40¾ points, Middle West Utilities old 50, and American Light and Traction, a comparatively inactive issue, nearly 70. American Cities Power and Light, however, dropped 13 points to a new low and Southeast Power 29.

Among the oils, Cities Service rallied 9½ points to 32, and the rights to purchase new stock at 45, which had been issued when the stock was above 60, were withdrawn, and all trades in them canceled. Ohio Oil rebounded 35 points, Gulf Oil 19, and Cosden 15. Standard of Indiana sold up 5.

In the Investment Trust and Trading company group, Trans-America, which broke more than 40 points yesterday, rallied 10 to 49¾. Goldman Sachs rallied 14 points on the statement of President Catchings that its investment policy did not make it vulnerable to temporary fluctuations of the market.

STEM SELLING TIDE ON CHICAGO STOCK MARKET

Recoveries Range Up to 54 Points.

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

The tide was stemmed on the Chicago Stock Exchange yesterday, amid the combined buying of shorts who fought to cover their commitments and an anxious public firm in the belief that it was bargain day in the stock market.

Recoveries ranged as high as 54 points when the closing gong rang out its message that the business day was done. Added stimulus to the buying came in the last hour when announcement was made that the exchange will function for only three hours, between 11 a. m. and 3 p. m., today, and will be closed all of tomorrow and Saturday. This brought the total sales to more than a million shares for the third time within a week.

Small Lot Purchases.

An interesting factor in the steadying of the market was that of the total turnover of 1,090,000 shares more than 164,000 shares were in the odd lot department. This meant that a good many people of modest means came into the market with their savings and bought for cash small amounts of stock which are certain to go into safety deposit vaults instead of brokers' offices.

The biggest gain of the day was registered by Middle West Utilities old stock, which sold down five points at the opening and then soared to a close of 244¾, a net gain of 54¾ points on the day. The new stock was the most active on the board and finished 6½ points higher after sales of more than 177,000 shares.

Commonwealth-Edison also featured the utility group by regaining twenty-five points. Central and Southwest Utilities finished 5½ points higher and

WHEAT MARKET STEADIES; PRICES RALLY BRISKLY

Heavy Buying in Futures Boosts Values.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Buying of millions of bushels of wheat futures by houses with eastern connections in the Chicago market yesterday, part of which was credited by trade gossip to Jesse Livermore, along with the marked improvement in the stock market, ran prices up 3⅛@4¼c over the early low point.

Final prices were above the level of values from which the recent decline started. Sentiment was much more favorable to the bull side, and foreigners were again reported as heavy buyers of cash wheat, with estimated sales of 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 bu.

The close was at the top with net gains here of 3⅛@4¼c with December leading. Winnipeg showed pronounced strength and gained 3⅞@4¼c for the day. Buenos Aires, however, was ⅝c lower to ¼c higher, a decline in the exchange rate being a factor.

While no figures as to the amount of flour sold of late could be secured, there were guesses made that the business put through had probably equalled 40,000,000 bu wheat, or somewhat less than one month's total grind of all the mills in the country. The latter are estimated to be using around 50,000,000 bu per month at the present time.

Foreigners Buy Cash Wheat.

The fact that foreigners have followed an advance in futures of 14⅝@15¼c from the low of last week with steady purchases of cash wheat attracted considerable attention, and it is felt that the visible supply Monday is likely to show a reduction, while export clearances are likely to increase materially. Marketings of wheat in the Canadian northwest are relatively small now, only 878,000 bu being delivered on Tuesday, compared with 3,900,000 bu, and a leading Winnipeg line elevator interest figures that there is only 50,000,000 bu left to come forward, after deducting bread and seed requirements.

There was no material pressure on the wheat market at any time during the day, with the bulge checked by selling against offers. Liverpool closed 1⅛@1¼c higher, with reports that the continent was a free buyer of cash grain a factor. Considerable Argentine grain was said to have been taken. The seaboard claimed foreigners were inquiring of wheat for December and later shipment for the first time. Pessimistic crop comments continue to be received from Australia, but those from Argentina were somewhat better due to recent rains.

December Corn Easy.

Closing out of a line of long December corn caused that future to show a rather easy undertone the greater part of the day, but the deferred deliveries advanced sharply toward the last on scattered local and commission house buying. Final trades were at net gains of ⅞@1¼c with May leading, December finished at 92⅛@92¾c, and May, $1.00⅛@1.00⅝. Wet weather prevailed over the greater part of the corn belt and more rain was forecast. Country offerings to arrive were light. Buenos Aires finished unchanged to ½c higher.

Buying by cash interests and reinstating of recently sold out lines gave oats a stronger undertone, and the close was ½@⅝c higher, with December 49⅞@50c, and May, 54¼c. Houses with eastern connections bought rye on a fairly liberal scale and it showed independent strength, closing 4⅝@5¼c higher. Offerings were light on the way up.

Buy Bremner Residence for Site.

BY AL CHASE.

Tall apartments are contemplated for 551 Stratford place, it was stated yesterday, as a result of Guy R. Buck, who is connected with the William Adams company, contractors, purchasing the residence at that location from James R. Bremner, vice president of Bremner Bros., biscuit manufacturers. It is understood that the residence will be demolished next spring to make way for the proposed apartments. The site is 55x140.

Mr. Buck gave in part payment for the property on Stratford place the twelve room residence at King Muir road and Armour circle, in Lake Forest. He has not yet selected an architect for his contemplated tall apartment building.

North Paulina Street Deal.

Milton M. Jones has bought the fifteen apartment building at 4056 North Paulina street, at the southwest corner of Belle Plaine avenue, lot 50x135, from Emma K. Rintelman for an undisclosed price. Raymond G. Carey of the Chicago office of Quinlan & Tyson was broker.

Norris A. Pitt has purchased the property at 2619 North Ashland avenue from the Vit-O-Net corporation, manufacturers of electrical blankets, for an undisclosed consideration. The land, 70x125 feet, is improved with a two story factory building, which the seller will continue to occupy under lease. Mr. Pitt made the purchase as an investment. Burton P. Sears handled the legal details.

North Town Postal Lease.

Terms of the lease entered into between the United States government and the North Town Postal Building corporation show that $12,540 annually will be paid for the premises occupied by the North Town postal station in the building at the northeast corner of Talman and Devon avenues. The post-office occupies 81x123 feet on the ground floor and also second floor and basement area. The lease, dated Oct. 3, 1929, is for twenty years from July 29, 1929.

Robert Gordon of Robert Gordon, Inc., steamfitters, has exercised an option to buy the property at 22 West Austin avenue from the estate of George D. Elderkin. The land, 41x100 feet, is improved with a five story office and warehouse building. Robert H. Stoll was attorney.

| One month ago | 11.50@12.75 |
| One year ago | 12.25@13.75 |

Top yesterday, $12.75; average, $12.50.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 7,000 cattle, 30,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep.

Another bulge in the hog market early yesterday carried the extreme top up 15c at $9.65 and the general average 10c higher at $9.30, highest since Friday of last week, in spite of the sharp break in other classes of live stock. Lambs tumbled 25@50c, erasing all of Tuesday's gain, while cattle continued dull at further uneven, but sharp price cuts.

Receipts of hogs estimated late at 22,000 exceeded expectations, but were moderate for mid-week at this time of year, resulting in a 10@20c higher opening. After urgent orders for good grades at $9.50@9.65 had been filled, there was a lull in trading, which was followed by a reaction and most of the first gain was lost after midsession.

Support Is Lacking.

Larger houses refused to follow at the upturn, and with shipping orders smaller, support was lacking at the higher level of quotations. About 9,000 were left at the close, with 30,000 estimated for today.

New low price levels for the last four months were established in the cattle market yesterday. Losses of 25@50c were general, thousands being carried over on unreasonably low bids, in the absence of competition from eastern interests.

Receipts are running smaller than during last week, but available supplies are far beyond immediate requirements, and salesmen are warning the country to hold back in an effort to stabilize the trade. There was some inquiry for lightweight steers and heifers. A load of choice 1,117 lb beef steers topped the price list at $15.50, while 1,345 lb averages reached $15.40 and 730 lb fancy baby beef heifers $15.00.

Butcher stock broke 25@50c more. Calves lost most of Tuesday's gain. Country demand was narrower and stockers and feeders slumped 25@40c on a slow trade.

Feeding Lambs Slump.

The market for feeding lambs experienced the first sharp break in several weeks, prices going down mostly 50c on yesterday's session. Demand was narrower than usual and few were good enough to sell above $12.50, with many still in the pens at the close.

Fat lambs opened 25c lower and finished 50c lower, bulk of the supply changing hands on afternoon rounds. Closely sorted natives brought $12.75, with most good grades at $12.25@12.50. Aged sheep held firm, while yearlings weakened in sympathy with lambs.

EGGS IN GOOD UPTURN

Disappearance of the semi-panicky feeling which swept the country as the result of the break in security values was reflected in a marked improvement in sentiment on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Trading was on a large scale, with eggs scoring an advance of $15 to $60 per car, with the November closing at the top at 38¾c, a net gain of ½c, while December was ½c higher at 39¼c. Spot market was steady and arrivals small. Sales were 5417 cases and receipts 3,336 cases. Despite a break in spot butter of ½@1½c, with sales down to 40c, the lowest level since 1924, and 7¾c under the figures prevailing at this season a year ago, futures were strong and ¾c higher, with December 39½c and January 39½c. Sales were 123 cars and receipts 5,358 tubs.

Business Moves to Better Offices for Better Business

Say Leading Firms Moving to New Board of Trade Building

The advantages of a location and a building must be judged not only by the conveniences and economies to the firm which has offices there, but also for the attraction it has and the impression it makes upon the clients and customers of that firm.

Here is a building of the highest architectural quality and beauty, where expert engineering has provided more efficient layout for reception room, general office space and private offices, without the usual waste space which ordinarily is paid for. Here you get more "usable" space for less money, and every part of it—daylight space.

These are the direct advantages, but added to these, and outweighing them, is the advantage of location at the head of La Salle Street, in the newest, finest, most prominent of the great buildings of the "Street," in a location of perpetual dominance that can never be duplicated.

MARKET SCARE OVER; STOCKS BOUND UPWARD

Both the bankers and the governors made it plain the closing was not because of the condition of the market, but because of the absolute need of giving the stock exchange employés a rest.

"The volume of trading in the last week has been so enormous that the organizations of the stock exchange houses have reached a point of complete physical exhaustion. Most of these employés and those of the stock clearing corporation have been on almost continuous duty for days and nights past, and many of them have been without sleep for 48 to 72 hours.

"The governors have felt under an absolute necessity to recognize the purely physical and mechanical conditions and to afford the overworked staff time to recuperate and recover their strength.

"The governors believe that the shorter hours and the two days of holiday will put the working organizations again in good condition and contribute materially to a more orderly and effective handling of all the trading centering in the exchange.

"This line of procedure has been adopted after consideration with and approval of the so-called banking group."

Often Closed Before.

The decision to close the exchange is not unusual. Similar procedure was taken many times during the big bull market preceding the crash. That there is plenty of work to be done in the clerical departments and that the floor men have been busy is apparent when figures are compiled. Since last Thursday morning until the close of the market this afternoon the stock exchange business totaled 57,239,600 shares. Business in the curb in the same time was 25,054,700. This makes a total on the two exchanges of 82,294,300 shares in six days.

Most of the news developments today were bullish. There was, however, one new brokerage failure, that of Lynch & Co., floor traders on the curb exchange. The failure was announced soon after midday.

The market opened this morning with optimism pervading the exchange, brokerage houses, and the street. Every one appeared confident there would be no more of yesterday's frantic unloading.

Bargain Hunting Bgins.

The initial buying was credited to investment trusts, banks throughout the country, and to banks and individuals in Europe. They were the rich men snapping up blue chip stocks for "seventy-five cents on the dollar."

A bit later in the day the more hardy of the little fellows began to put their money on the counter. Then people who never before had bought or sold stocks began to take notice and advice. They were told by financial experts that "you can't go wrong at such prices." Buying in large and small lots speeded up until toward the close orders were piling up faster than they could be executed.

The reduction of the margin requirements to a uniform rate of 25 per cent, much smaller than it has been in recent months, gave the more daring traders a chance to step in on a "shoestring."

Washington Shares Optimism.

The new life in the market here and its effect on the investing public in all sections of the country was accepted in Washington and Wall street as a definite sign that the selling storm had spent its fury.

Optimistic statements poured in from the nation's business leaders and the rich men of the country appeared to have recovered from their momentary fright. A lot of them picked up a nice basket of bargains. Brokers reported that customers who had not been in the market in years appeared this morning and bought stocks for cash.

Rush to Buy Bank Stocks.

One reflection of the changed attitude of the rich man was the rush to buy bank stocks. These stocks were acutely weak yesterday, but today they sizzled. Guaranty Trust company shares climbed back 45 points and National City 25 points. Other bank shares were up from 10 to 15 points.

It was estimated today that amounts purchased so far by investment companies alone range between $350,000,000 and $500,000,000, with orders still in the market for large blocks. Buyers are finding it increasingly difficult to pick up large blocks of stocks on the recoveries.

GOOD RISE IN COTTON

Strength in the grain and stock markets and rather unfavorable showing made by the government weekly weather crop report had a strengthening influence on cotton values and buying was greatly improved. Closing prices were about the best of the day.

Liverpool was higher and closed 2 to 4 points better with spot sales 6,000 bales. General rains over the belt with reduced hedging pressure stimulated buying by shorts and mills.

Procter & Gamble.

Mrs. M. W.: Procter & Gamble company reports an excellent volume of business, which has necessitated increasing the output of all plants. The president, in his report to stockholders early in October, stated that the company is amply financed for some time in the future, although expansion is contemplated. Production costs are reported to be the lowest in the company's history.

Earnings in the latest fiscal year were $151.75 per share on the preferred and $14.83 per share on 1,250,000 shares of common stock [par $20]. Earnings the year before were $12.06 per share on a like number of common shares.

As of June 30, 1929, earned surplus was $39,235,970, against $33,581,424 a year before. Current assets were $75,106,187, and current liabilities were $6,499,432, leaving a net working capital of $68,606,755 as of June 30, 1929, comparing with $58,547,182 a year before.

Dividends on the new no par common are at the annual rate of $2 per share, an initial quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share being payable Nov. 15, 1929, to stock of record Oct. 25. This amounts to an increase in the dividend rate, dividends prior to the five for one split-up having been $8 a year.

Both the common and preferred are high grade stocks.

Phelps Dodge.

F. B.: Phelps Dodge corporation reported a profit, before depletion, amounting to $4,481,497 for the six months ended June 30, 1929. This was equivalent to $2.24 earned per share on 2,000,000 shares of stock [par $25] outstanding.

For the full year of 1928 the company reported earnings of $20.15 per share, before depletion, on one-fourth as many shares. Earnings for 1927 were $7.25 per share and in 1926, $9.14 per share on 500,000 shares.

At the close of 1928 current assets were $36,330,650, and current liabilities were $6,829,464. Cash and call loans totaled more than $17,000,000.

Bell Telephone Co. of Pa.

J. B. A.: Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania first mortgage and refunding 5 per cent bonds, series B, due Jan. 1, 1948, are equally secured with the series C 5s of 1960 by a first mortgage on the entire property of the company in Pennsylvania except property in and around Pittsburgh, on which it is a second lien.

The security in back of these bonds is good and earnings in the five years ended Dec. 31, 1928, average 2.1 times interest charges.

Eight million

in magazine publishing

ANOTHER milestone has been passed in the influence of magazines on American life—magazines that have guided and directed the thinking of the Nation—magazines that have unified the customs and habits of American people.

Crowell Publications today have a combined circulation of more than eight million—greater than the magazine circulation of any other publishing house in the country.

This record is important to us because it means that a greater portion of the people of the United States are in sympathy with the ideas of improvement, progress and change that are exemplified by the Crowell editorial policy.

It means that more people are dissatisfied with ugly homes, wearisome tasks, ordinary clothes, unhealthful foods, and are interested in the better things offered by this restless, inventive, progressive generation.

It means something, too, to the manufacturers of Chicago. For through the advertising pages of Crowell Publications the maker of a modern product can tell his story at one time to a great nation of people peculiarly alert to any message that means greater comfort, greater happiness, or better health.

We have just published a book called "These Merchandising Changes." Itdeals with distribution—its past, its present, with somewhat of a forecast into the future. The facts it contains should be interesting to manufacturers, sales managers, and advertising managers. A copy of it will be sent to any business executive on request. Address The Crowell Publishing Company, 250 Park Ave., New York.

THE HAWK

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Douglas Dorling, a young British peer, is sent to Dartmoor prison on the perjured testimony of Cora Sefton, an unscrupulous woman in love with him.

Dorling is a famous aviator, but to keep this knowledge from his mother and spare her worry, he has been using the assumed name of Douglas Harris; and as Douglas Harris he is tried and convicted.

He is rescued from prison in spectacular fashion, and driven to the Gunter hotel where, to his amazement, he is greeted by Cora. She has registered as his wife.

Cecily Warren, the girl Douglas loves, is also staying at the Gunter. She sees Dorling embraced by Cora, on his arrival, and jumps to the conclusion he must be secretly married. Dorling escapes from Cora, leaving a note. Immediately she wires Jabez Malleron, well known amateur connoisseur of the arts and a neighbor of the Granstons. As Malleron is reading the wire, Martha Perraile, Cecily's maid, calls. She is obviously in his employ. He directs her to bring her mistress within a few days to a town called Mortvaig, in Scotland.

That night, while Dorling is dining with the Granstons, Cecily calls, not knowing Doug is there. She greets him frigidly, and creates a sensation by announcing she hears he is married.

Doug goes to see Cora and asks her to explain all the mystery. She refuses, but tells him he is to go to Mortvaig, Scotland, to meet her chief. He agrees, but first visits his mother at Dorling Towers. Cecily's father, Charles Warren, who lives on the fringe of the Dorling estate, calls, and remarks casually that his daughter has taken a job furnishing a Mortvaig millionaire's house. Doug is struck by the coincidence in names.

At Mortvaig Doug can only learn that, in return for his freedom, he is being blackmailed into a mysterious service, as an airplane pilot. He takes off for his first trip little dreaming Cecily is on board, drugged.

Landing at his island base, Doug is shown about by another pilot, Lieut. Beresford. On his return to Mortvaig he is permitted to go down to London for a few days and he decides to shake himself free of the gang. He calls on Cecily to explain everything to her but is told by Mr. Warren that Cecily has disappeared from Mortvaig. Her maid returned without her and could shed no light on the disappearance. When Douglas sees Cecily's maid he remembers that he had seen her at the Mortvaig airdrome and suspects that she is one of the gang. He decides to return there at once, but he does not tell Mr. Warren of his suspicions.

Arrived at the island he asks to see Miss Warren and greatly to his surprise he is allowed to see her.

He arranges for her escape and manages to land her in England. Later he hurries to London expecting to see Cecily, but is amazed to learn that in some way his plans miscarried and that she has again been captured by the gang.

Hoping to obtain news of Cecily, Dorling, at Cora's request, meets her at a night club. He is drugged and wakes up the next day on a boat at sea. Cecily is also on board. There is something very peculiar about the boat and its passengers. The captain professing his innocence allows Dorling to use the small sea plane carried by the boat. The fuel gauge registers a full tank, but in reality there is not half enough fuel to carry him to land. Dorling sees a navy destroyer comes down on the sea and requests to be taken aboard. He explains to the commander of the boat and they go to Cecily's rescue.

On his return to London Dorling tells Mr. Warren that he will guide government planes to the island and they go up to Mortvaig with Detective Inspector Rason and Malleron.

INSTALLMENT LVIII.

THE MESSAGE.

Dorling put his hands up—then dropped them as he remembered that Rason had drawn the bullets from the cartridges.

Tredegar had approached and now stood within a couple of feet of him.

"You startled me!" exclaimed Dorling. "But you can't frighten me with that thing, you damn fool! Put it down or I'll hit you."

"You aren't afraid because you don't believe I'm going to kill you," hissed Tredegar. "But I am going to kill you—and you're going to believe it, too. I'm going to have that satisfaction before I obey the chief's orders."

"Put that gun down or I'll land you one!"

"Listen to this, Doug Harris. I was there that night in Southampton. I hid out that man and Cora said it was you because she preferred me to you."

"My God!"

"Ah! Now you believe I'm going to kill you. I wouldn't have told you that unless I were going to kill you. Get down on your knees, you filthy spy! In sixty seconds you'll be dead."

Dorling spoke with the sole object of diverting the other's attention.

"She may have preferred you at the time," he said with a laugh. "She doesn't prefer you now. She offered to give you away if I would marry her."

"That's a lie—and an old trick at that," said Tredegar. "Do you think I believe—"

He had believed it enough to let his attention wander for the fraction of a second and in that fraction of a second Dorling had struck. He had missed the point of the jaw but the blow sent Tredegar reeling into the corner where he fell over a packing case.

Dorling snatched up the code book and the chief's message and thrust both into his pocket. Before he could return to the attack Tredegar was on his feet, blood pouring from a cut lip.

"I don't want to hit you again. That thing isn't—"

Then, it seemed, Dorling's brain played him a queer trick. He did not hear the bang of the revolver but he knew that it had gone off and that he had been hit. He felt himself sinking to the floor. His last conscious thought was that the bullets, after all, had been there and that he himself had ben killed.

The light was fading when he awoke to consciousness—awoke by what seemed a coincidence in the little bedroom that had been his on his two previous visits to the island.

Then came the ludicrous thought: "Why, I'm not dead, after all! Why not? Either Rason took those bullets out or he did not."

He had been lying on the floor and now struggled to his feet. He stood unsteadily. Then the mirror explained everything. His forehead was discolored and had been bleeding a little. Part of his coat, near the region of the heart, was also discolored and had been torn away.

It had been the wad, of course, of the blank cartridges that had hit him—the wad between the cordite and the bullet. The impact had been great enough to knock him senseless.

"The fool was in too much of a hurry to wait for the blood. But why did he dump me in here?"

He looked out of the window and could see no signs of life. He opened the window and listened. Silence, save for the distant lapping of the waves upon the rocky base of the island.

Twenty minutes later, having washed the cordite from his forehead, he found that he had guessed the truth. He was utterly alone on the island.

In the course of his tour of inspection he looked in at the factory and was able to observe that part of the machinery had been dismantled and doubtless taken away on the Cornelia. The question of immediate concern to him was how much petrol they had left.

He soon found that they had left very little. The top of the storage tank had been left open and the tank itself was empty. It had flowed over the uneven rocky surface in a rude channel to the sea.

"There are those puddles," he reflected. He examined them more minutely and came to the conclusion that with the utmost care he could possibly scoop up as much as two gallons—which would be quite insufficient for a return flight to the mainland.

"We'll find useful employment for you all the same," he muttered, and began to bale the puddles of petrol into cans.

It was dusk by the time he staggered up to the little group of cottages on the higher part of the island with the better part of two gallons of petrol. Then, after a careful survey, he distributed the petrol about the cottages in skilfully chosen positions. When it was quite dark he set a match to the petrol.

Before he had made his way back to the messroom the cottages were in full blaze. The blaze of them seemed to fill the whole sky. Surely the glare must reach the mainland and beyond!

In the messroom he sat down to a rough meal of tinned meat and bottled beer—and waited.

To pass the time he took out the code book that he had picked up in the scuffle with Tredegar and studied it—the code book of the gang. It was the simplest of all codes and the most undecipherable, one word standing for another without any reason why it should do so. The code was made by a simple device. Two copies of the same dictionary were taken. Opposite each page of the one was pasted a page from the other, chosen at random. On the flyleaf, written in typescript, were numbers representing names of the members of the gang.

He took out the crumpled sheet on which the message had been written which had driven Tredegar from cordiality to the state of mind in which he attempted murder.

A glance at the flyleaf told him that Number Fifteen was himself—listed as Douglas Harris. Number One was simply "The Chief." He looked up each word in turn and wrote down the word pasted opposite. Then the message emerged.

"Harris has betrayed. Shoot at sight or if impossible inform police escaped convict. The Chief."

Hoover Hands Madame Curie Radium Fund

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—In the presence of high administration officials, a distinguished group of scientists and leading officials of the diplomatic corps, Madame Curie, co-discoverer of radium, today accepted from the hands of President Hoover a gift of $50,000 with which to purchase a gram of the costly mineral she helped to give to the world.

The ceremony took place in the auditorium of the National Academy of Sciences. The gift took the form of a draft, encased in silver, since radium can no longer be purchased in this country. The actual purchase will be made in Belgium with the funds raised by American friends and admirers of the famous scientist.

In presenting the gift, President Hoover expressed profound appreciation of the beneficent service to humanity rendered by Madame Curie's discovery of radium. With great feeling, and in a voice which, though very low, was distinct and audible to all, Mme. Curie replied with a brief expression of her gratification of "one of her dearest wishes."

"The discovery of radium was an outstanding triumph of research in the realm of pure science," President Hoover said, after a word of welcome.

"It was indeed a great and successful exploration into the unknown from which a new truth has brought to the world a practical revolution in our conceptions of substance. It has advanced all thought on the constitution of matter. And, like all discoveries of fundamental substance and fact, it has found application to human use. In the treatment of disease, especially of cancer, it has brought relief of human suffering to hundreds of thousands of men and women.

"As an indication of the appreciation and the respect which our people feel for Mme. Curie, generous minded men and women under the leadership of Mrs. William B. Meloney have provided the fund with which a gram of radium is to be purchased and presented to the hospital and research institute which bears her name in Warsaw.

$5,000,000 Fund Held in Trust for Chicago Charities

Recent gifts totaling $1,450,000 to the Chicago Community Trust were discussed yesterday at a meeting in the Chicago club. The new gifts, the largest of which were the Harry B. Lusch bequest of $1,000,000 and the Samuel Hofman Memorial trust of $250,000, increased the capital funds now held by the Community Trust to $5,000,000.

Clifford W. Barnes, chairman, announced that the income from the two new funds will be available for charitable uses before the end of next year. While most of the income now available for charitable purposes has been given for specifically designated charities, Mr. Barnes said that recent gifts have shown a tendency to be free or undesignated and the income from such funds, as it becomes available, will be distributed to such charitable institutions as the Community Trust may select.

Frank D. Loomis, secretary, told the 100 bankers, lawyers, and philanthropists present that the Community Trust would continue to work largely through existing social service agencies.

Women Hear Garden Talks, Plan Next Spring's Show

Some 600 members of the Garden Clubs of Illinois, of which Mrs. Frederick Fisher of Chicago is president, were taken on imaginary trips to India and Asia Minor in lectures by E. H. M. Cox, famous London botanist, yesterday.

American gardens need more variety, which can only be obtained, he believes, by the lifting of present strict quarantines of the United States department of agriculture on importations of many rare plants. This comment, however, was only sandwiched between delightful descriptions of the primulos, or primrose family.

Mrs. Fisher announced progress of plans of the Garden clubs in their fourth annual April flower and garden show, to be held at the Chicago stadium, April 5 to 13. A meeting of the show committee on Nov. 8 will complete all plans for the contest of 78 garden clubs of Illinois entering the competition.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Besale Glenn Pendleton, Prairie du Chien, Wis., was awarded $5.

The Question.

The Answers.

George L. Lukomski, 3052 Logan boulevard, real estate—The value of the study of foreign languages, whether modern or classic, undoubtedly is underestimated in this country. A knowledge of the modern languages is becoming increasingly necessary because of our increasing travel and our expanding trade.

Mrs. J. S. Rodman, 829 Montrose avenue, real estate—The more we know the better. The larger the number of languages with which we are familiar the broader our vision and understanding of peoples and nations. I speak several languages.

George Lewis, 6579 Lakewood avenue, clerk—Not in the grammar grades; in high schools and in the universities it is all right to give an inkling of them. An inkling is enough, unless it is found that the student will profit by further study.

Miss Fern Ale, 1032 North Dearborn street, secretary—There is no question that foreign languages should be taught in the public schools. I use the languages I studied in high school and in the university. I speak several.

J. F. Lawrence, Glen Ellyn, Ill., retired—No, they are a waste of time that could be very valuably devoted to useful studies. After you have learned one or more of them, ancient or modern, what good are they? None, except to the occasional person. The school period is short, much has to be accomplished, and foreign or dead languages are nonessentials.

The testimony of Louis Pasteur as to the personality of God was presented. Dr. Hibben declared that though Pasteur as a scientist was absorbed in a study of the material elements of the world, yet he recognized the personality of God in it all. "It," Pasteur said. "The ideal of art, self a God, an ideal, and who obeys it," said Pasteur. "The ideal of art, the ideal of science, the ideal of gospel virtue—therein lie the springs of great thoughts and great actions."

Dr. Hibben opened his address by declaring that each man has a double personality. One of these personalities depends on reports from the outside world through the senses. It offers men an orientation in time and space. He pointed out that the other phase of personality transcends the sense and time setting of life.

"This phase has its being in an environment of thought or reason, of desire, of striving after truth and a way of life. The idea of God is reached by the thought of the complete perfection of these higher qualities of our human nature," Dr. Hibben said. "It is this sphere of consciousness which separates men by an impassable barrier from the animal creation and from his merely physical environment."

This afternoon Dr. John Timothy Stone, former moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church and pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, will be inaugurated president of the Presbyterian Theological seminary to succeed Dr. James G. K. McClure. Dr. Harry C. Rogers, president of the board of trustees, will preside, and the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Swearingen of St. Paul will give the charge. Dean Charles W. Gilkey of Chicago university will take part in the inaugural ceremonies.

Princeton Chief Avers Science Errs About God

"Fourth Dimension" Not Adequate View.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Does God possess a personality with which human beings may come into contact? Does science support a view of God which will permit a personal element?

Quoting world famed scientists in support of his belief in affirmative answers to those questions, President John Grier Hibben of Princeton university, spoke last night at the 100th anniversary of the Presbyterian Theological seminary. He waved aside conceptions that render God vague and unknowable as being inadequate.

President Hibben pointed out that such definitions as "the unknowable," "the underlying cosmic force," and the latest, "the fourth dimension" involve limitations. He indicated that limitations deny infinity, and by closing Deity out of the finite such leaders would deny him the quality most highly prized by human life, personality, thus leaving as a net result the grand IT instead of the great I AM.

"This, in my opinion," said President Hibben, in speaking of the modern attempts at names for God, "is a reduction of the divine equation not to infinity but to zero. It may be possible to say it is the fourth dimension 'in which we live and move and have our being,' but can we say in sincerity and with significant feeling that 'the fourth dimension is our refuge and strength'?"

Dr. Hibben stated that men dare not ascribe a bodily form to God, but our conceptions of Him must be in conformity to those qualities which constitute the highest in our nature. This kinship of nature is the only basis of any conception of God whatsoever.

"It has been said we are creating God after our own image," President Hibben continued. "We can conceive of God only after our own image, and we justify that conception on the ground that we are made in the image of God himself. We merely take the divine element, potential in us, that enables us to recognize and entertain ideas of wisdom, justice, mercy, goodness, truth, which are imperfectly realized in us; and yet we are constrained in our thoughts to raise them to their highest power and then ascribe them as atributes to perfection to the being whom we reverently acknowledge as our God."

Whitney Trio's Concert Pleases Audience and Critic Gives a Hand

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The first thing to be noticed in a performance of the Whitney trio is the players' inevitable good manners in the presence of their music. Whether, as was the case when they appeared at Kimball hall last night, they play something extended, like the Dvorak "Dumky," or whether their numbers are briefer, their tone is always suave, their approach urbane, their style seemly. All of which makes them pleasant to hear.

Their second group contained some interesting material. There were three Nocturnes by Ernest Bloch, he of the orchestral "America" which was heard much last season, a movement from an unfinished trio by Schubert discovered long after his death and first published in 1923, and a Rhapsody by Robert S. Whitney, who plays the piano in the organization. This was a group widely varied in manner, but invariably well played.

E. M. Newman labels his traveltalk at Orchestra hall this week "The Rhine," but there is a great deal more of Germany than the Rhine in it. In fact, it is not until he is well into the second part of the journey that he gets to the river at all.

Before that he lands his fellow gadders at Hamburg and does quite a bit of wandering about that city and the others called Hanseatic, Bremen and Lübeck, not to mention other communities such as Brunswick, Hildesheim, Hamelin, the home of Browning's pied piper, and Goslar, in all of which the medieval style of architecture is still preserved.

The Rhine is finally reached, with views of Cologne and Bonn, Beethoven's birthplace, castles and ruins along the shores, and views of modern life. For the thirsty there are a few pictures of the vineyards of the Rhine and the Moselle, and a great many of the way hot mineral water is served in the various spas of the country. Mr. Newman will repeat his talk on Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

Angell Tells of Yale's Ape Farm Project, Backed by Rockefeller

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—A gift of $500,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation to Yale university has been used to acquire 200 acres of land near Orange Park, Fla., on which a laboratory station for the breeding and scientific study of anthropoid apes will be erected. In announcing this today Dr. James Rowland Angell, president of Yale, said the Rockefeller Foundation gift not only made possible acquisition of the land, but also the erection of the station and its maintenance for ten years.

One or more of the species of anthropoids will be studied. These include the chimpanzee, the gorilla, the orang-utan and the gibbon. Study will be made of the habits, social relations, life history, and psycho-biological development of these animals, because of their close relation to man structurally and functionally and their resemblance to him in their ability to learn.

Belgian Alcohol Probe Favors Ban on Cocktails

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Drastic changes in the legislation regulating the use of alcohol in Belgium are foreshadowed by the recommendations of special investigating committees that the minimum sale quantity of alcohol be reduced from two quarts to one and the so-called aperitif drinks be abolished. The committees also suggested that certain imported beers with as much as 12 per cent alcohol be no longer sold.

Ghosts Voting for Decorous Halloween

At Least That's Version of Authorities.

Ghosts began going places and doing things last night, thereupon officially ushering in the eery season of Halloween, when young folks and old folks become entangled in the capricious clutches of the supernatural.

But the traditional bogey men and goblins whose fun making takes the form of destructive pranks executed by mischievous boys are finding their activities curtailed. As a substitute for havoc, neighborhood Halloween parties are keeping children too busy to bother loose gates and picket fences. And the grownups, whose chief enjoyment of the season probably lies in recollections of dragging the parson's surrey atop the city hall and ringing the curfew most of the night, are more sedately celebrating in dinners and dancing parties.

While the majority of activities will take place tonight, several affairs were held yesterday. A Halloween party for the children on the west side was given last night at Dvorak park, Cullerton and Fisk streets. There were not only movies and a costume dance, but west side business men served refreshments. Tonight parties and playlets will be held in other parks, including Columbus, Douglas, Eckhart, Franklin, Harrison, Holstein, Pulaski, Shedd, Sheridan, Standard, Union, La Follette and Austin town hall. These parties will be conducted by the west park commission.

Tonight a frolic for children under fifteen will be held by the South Shore Children's Community club at the playground at 75th street and Euclid avenue. A jack o'lantern parade will be formed and marshaled by the Boy Scouts of the south shore district. The South Shore post of the American Legion will give a band concert and the South Highlands Neighborhood club will supervise games.

The young people from 14 to 20 will gather tonight for a party at Calumet avenue between 32d and 33d streets, sponsored by the Wabash Y. M. C. A., Chicago Urban league, South Side Boys' Club foundation, and the directors of six south side playgrounds. This afternoon girls of the Englewood High School Girls' Athletic association will hold a party in the boys' gymnasium. Directed by Miss Lenore Wood, teacher of physical education, the party will be dances, a grand march, and prizes. Six hundred girls will be in costume.

An outstanding event tonight will be the grand harvest festival of the German club of Chicago at north side Turner hall, 820 North Clark street. Following a concert at 7:30, a musical tableaux in the original German from Nessler's opera, "The Trompeter von Saekkingen," will be given, in which well known German singers and actors will take part. A Halloween dance will follow. Oscar A. Stoffels is president of the club. Mrs. Arthur C. Leuder is chairman of the ladies' reception committee.

Valeria French Will Wed H. B. Martin Jr. in London

Denver, Colo., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Miss Valeria French, granddaughter of the late Field Marshal Sir John Denton Pinkstone French, and her fiancé, Henry Bradley Martin Jr. of New York, left here today for the east with the announcement that their postponed marriage would take place within a few months in London.

The wedding was delayed as the result of an automobile accident near here, in which young Martin was injured. He spent more than a month in a Denver hospital. Miss French came here from her home in London to be with him.

The couple was accompanied on the trip east by Mr. Martin's parents.

Lutherans Are Urged to Employ Whoopee to Interest the Young

More than eight hundred men last night attended the banquet of the convention of the Federation of Lutheran Brotherhoods meeting this week at the Palmer house. The festival address of the occasion was delivered by Dr. T. F. Gullixson, vice president of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America. The speaker paid high tribute to Luther's catechism, which this year reaches its four hundredth anniversary.

Discussing the problem of holding the younger people in the churches, John Gullikson, vice president of the Union Bank of Chicago and treasurer of the Chicago Lutheran brotherhood, yesterday stated that the Lutheran church would be unable to attract young people twenty years from now unless the church changes its methods.

"It is absolutely necessary in this age for the church to meet the competition of the attractions outside of the church with some program which will hold the interest of the young people," Mr. Gullicksen said. "Young people's work in the church must keep abreast of the times. The Lutheran church has too long deferred an active step in that direction.

"The average church needs a certain amount of pep and a certain amount of whoopee at times, under correct supervision."

The federation voted yesterday to align themselves more actively helpful to ex-service men. The motion declared that this work had been actively carried on for some time, yet there is a great deal of room for improvement. The first active move under the new measure will be undertaken Armistice night, when the Lutheran churches of the city will unite their talent in presenting a program before the inmates of the Speedway hospital.

Man Would Change Name to Get Spinster's Estate

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Austin B. Cook, 22, today petitioned the Circuit court to change his name to Austin B. Cromer to enable him to comply with the specifications set forth in the will of the late Celesta Cromer, 52 year old spinster, which would make him the recipient of the bulk of the $25,000 estate left by Miss Cromer, a former private secretary of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

You Have Only One Face, Gals, So Take Good Care of It!

What fool experiments women will practice on the one and only face they'll ever have! A correspondent just recites a story that almost makes my hair stand on end. She had tragic results with a face peeling formula. "I know," she confesses, "the formula is lacking in something, but do not know what it is."

Goshenfishhooks, before I started my face peeling operation I should certainly know what the formula consisted of and I'd know that it was harm proof!

I heard of a romance the other day that set all the heroine's friends to wishing something like it would come their way. The heroine appeared among her old coworkers carrying the responsibility of a twelve carat diamond, bracelets consistently blinding, tales of a trip around the world, a California home and a wardrobe to turn a debutante's head. A platinum wedding ring, of course, dignified the opulence.

When asked what the new husband did, the blushing bride said she didn't know. She never asked him. He didn't inquire into her private life; why should she ask questions?

Well, of course, you can get a divorce as a way out of your domestic fatality. But what can you do with a face that has been injured by a similarly stupid acceptance of something without recommendations?

I am not an enthusiastic endorser of face peelings. Only under the most hygienic conditions and expert surgical direction should they ever be dreamed of. That means hiding out for a few days where hospital cleanliness and the most antiseptic precautions are taken. Even, so, I will not recommend a place or an operator, although I have to say in all honesty that women have reported successful results. I would not take the responsibility the recommendation would involve.

But my plea today is particularly to those women who will try anything they hear about without inquiry as to the reliability of its source. Use sense, for goodness sake, and don't believe everything you hear!

Mary Borden Writing New Book on War

BY THALIA

Mary Borden, whose list of novels is growing sizable rapidly, has a new book, "The Forbidden Zone," telling of her experiences in the world war, coming out soon. Her husband, Brig. Gen. Edward L. Spears, is also turning his hand to writing, and his impressions of the war are to be released shortly, also.

This word comes from our London correspondent, who says "Miss Borden commanded a hospital unit named after her in the French army on the Somme, and the 'forbidden zone' was the area just behind the front lines, up and down which this unit used to move. There will be graphic descriptions of bombardments and true stories of the poilus which the author wrote down at the time and has kept until now."

Brig. Gen. Spears was a liaison officer at G. H. Q. between the French and English commands on the western front, and is reputed to be one of the finest French scholars in the British army.

Comfort Spears, the second daughter is, despite her quaint old fashioned name, "modern enough to wear her flaxen hair Eton cropped and has just entered her first term at Oxford. Our former townswoman and her husband are another of the busy couples who, like Lord and Lady Astor, employ a private secretary apiece. This habit is spreading, as popular couples do not always have the same engagements nowadays.

Harry Gordon Selfridge, who has lived for long at Lansdowne house, London, is to move soon to No. 5 Carlton House terrace, the town house of the countess of Caledon. Carlton House terrace is the residing place of numerous notable families, and Mr. Selfridge will have as neighbors the Marchioness Curzon of Kedleston, the duke of Roxburghe, Lord Revelstoke, and the duke of Marlborough, the earl of Lonsdale, Maj. the Hon. J. J. Astor and Lady Violet Astor, Annie, Viscountess Cowdray, Sir Robert Hadfield, Bart, and the German embassy. The house has been let before, and has been the scene of much lavish entertaining.

The Lake Shore League of Women Voters had a gratifyingly successful annual meeting at the Fortnightly yesterday, well attended and interesting. Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, the president, and the other members of the board were all reëlected, and Mrs. Burt A. Massee was chosen to fill the place of the late Mrs. Charles Pope on the board.

Among those present were Mrs. Frank Packard, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. W. Prescott Hunt, Miss Marie Rozet, Miss Caroline Kirkland, Mrs. Albert Kales, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Mrs. E. L. Ryerson, Mrs. Clair E. More, Mrs. William S. Ennis, Mrs. Ralph C. Otis, and Mrs. Carroll Sudler.

The English Speaking union announces a luncheon for Lieut. Col. Edmund Vivian Gabriel, C. M. G., C. S. E., who is to speak on "The Near and Middle East" at the Blackstone hotel ballroom on Friday, Nov. 8, at 11:15 o'clock. Col. Gabriel has occupied important positions in the government of India, was a general staff intelligence officer in the British military mission with the Italian field armies in 1915-'17, general staff intelligence and liaison officer in the British Ægean squadron, 1917-'18, and financial adviser and assistant administrator in Palestine in 1918-'19.

The Junior league will hold its annual fall meeting at 10:30 this morning at the Drake hotel, followed by a luncheon. Plans for the children's theater, the arts and interests committee, the provisional membership list and all the other projects to which the organization devotes its talents and energies will be discussed.

The Opera club's sixteenth season will open tonight with a Halloween party. Among those who will be hosts at dinner are Mr. and Mrs. Orville Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Sturtevant, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Llewellyn and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Upham.

Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Woodland of Kenilworth will give a party at the Opera club on Saturday night for their daughter, Miss Virginia Woodland, who made her debut last year, and also a small party for their own friends.

Mrs. Bertha Baur has changed her mind about having her trio of debut receptions for Rosemary on three successive Monday afternoons, and instead is to give one right after the other, on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, Nov. 18, 19, and 20. All of them are to be at Mrs. Baur's butterfly embellished abode at 1511 Astor street.

The earl and countess of Portsmouth were in Chicago for a few hours yesterday on their way to New York City to sail this evening for England. They will be away from their ranch in Wyoming until next spring.

One of the adventures the Richard Henry Littles liked during their recent peripatetic activities in England was a motor expedition, the prime objective of which was a visit to Sulgrave Manor, the home of George Washington's antecedents. Gen. Dawes lent them the embassy automobile, and the general's brother, Beman G. Dawes of Cincinnati, O., Mrs. Dawes and their son, Henry Dawes, accompanied them. They went to Oxford, Cambridge, and all through the Cotswold Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Montgomery of Hubbard Woods have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marion, to David Hudson Corkran Jr. of Winnetka, son of the Rev. and Mrs. David H. Corkran of Glen Falls, N. Y. Miss Montgomery is a member of the 1925 graduating class of Wellesley college. Mr. Corkran was graduated from Wesleyan university in 1923, and later received his M. A. degree from Harvard.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra J. Warner are to come in from Lake Forest for the winter as they did last year, and will again occupy the George A. McKinlock apartment at 936 Lake Shore drive. The McKinlocks and Miss Muriel McCormick plan to leave the 15th for Florida, and the Warners will move in on the 16th.

Latest Mechanical Aids Ready for the Opening of New Opera Season

In Chicago's new Civic Opera house, performances will be given with the aid of microphones, electric time beaters, buzzers, telephones and many other efficiency devices which musicians and singers in the past have struggled along without.

A microphone connecting with a loud speaker back stage will allow the orchestra conductor to talk to members of the stage staff back of the curtain, while a performance goes on. A time beater which operates from a keyboard of four keys controlling four lights back stage means that an assistant conductor no longer will have to look through a peep hole in a curtain to pick up the conductor's beat.

Equipment for an orchestra of 120 pieces has been installed. An organ especially designed to meet the requirements of grand opera, with the necessary overtones for true ensemble, has been installed.

Police regulations governing automobile traffic at the new Civic Opera house at Wacker drive and Madison street during the opera season were announced yesterday.

Only two lines of cars will be permitted at one time on the unloading ramp, according to the program. All cars arriving must enter the unloading ramp at Washington street and Wacker drive and leave it at Madison street and Wacker drive. Left turns will be permitted to west bound traffic arriving and to east bound traffic leaving the opera house.

A special service of the Chicago Motor Coach company has been arranged to carry patrons to and from the opera house from the Illinois Central suburban station and the South Shore electric. Convenient trains are provided on all suburban divisions of the steam railroads also.

George W. Bartlett Marries Denver Girl at Racine, Wis., Today

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Lucy Marquis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Marquis of Denver, Col., to George W. Bartlett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. The service will be followed by a reception at the residence of the groom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs Arthur Modine. Miss Marquis will be attended by Mrs. Lawrence McLellan of Chicago and Len Ericksen will be best man for Mr. Bartlett. After a brief honeymoon Mr. Bartlett and his bride will reside at 211 East Chestnut street.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Lorraine Weyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weyer of 5936 South Campbell avenue, to Rudolph Andrew Von Schrey will be solemnized tomorrow at the residence of the bride's parents. Mr. Weyer and his bride will leave after the ceremony.

Physical Causes May Lie at the Root of Their Tantrums

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A book on the care of babies by Miss Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom, a noted authority on the subject, can be had at The Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

Every once in so often a mother has to pull herself up short. Sometimes it's about one thing—sometimes another.

She knows certain principles. She's had experiences that rub them in. But she forgets—slips up—or whatever you may choose to call it.

One terrifically important thing we all need jacking up on is this matter of looking to physical causes for psychological or emotional conditions. Every difficulty hasn't a physical origin with children, of course, but so many have that if we could recognize them we could clear up a great many unevennesses of conduct in a much more intelligent way.

Both large and small physical conditions—both permanent and temporary ones—are frequently at the root of apparently inexplicable behavior. For example, a child screams for nothing, has tantrums she's never had before. The family disciplines her vigorously. When all the time the trouble is merely shock from an operation. She needs building up, patience, and her nerves—those slow healing things—need time to recover.

Another child suddenly one day indulges in what seems like violent temper when told he must go to the doctor. He cries and throws things across the room, regardless of damage. He is scolded and being old enough, is talked to about self-control, etc. "He didn't use to be like this—he's changing."

Suddenly, worrying by his parents is followed by a flash of illumination. He's had two accidents in succession from falls, he's had two sties, and two boils and the weather has been hot for three weeks during which he's had inflammation of the sebaceous glands.

He's been under a nervous strain for weeks and this one act is merely a climax. He may need a word or two of guidance about it. But what he needs most is building up, rest, and freedom from these small nagging indispositions. The origin of his irritability and outburst were physical.

A boy is fussy—disobliging—even discontented. Being big and strong and well he's held accountable for it and ordered to "snap out of it." Then, at a hint from a wise onlooker, he's put to bed an hour and a half earlier than usual every night. At the end of three days he's his old sunny self again. Fatigue manifests itself in such ways with him where it might not with another. He doesn't need anything but a lot of blessed sleep.

Anemia—an unbalanced diet—too little physical freedom—too little fresh air—a daytime rest or sleep—poor hearing or sight—poor elimination—adenoids and tonsils in a bad state may account for your child's unusual actions. Or—and this is common—he may be "coming down" with something.

Don't ignore the possibility of physical causes when your child is not running true to form.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Spurred on by rising egg prices, alert poultrymen are working toward having their flocks lay as early as possible and putting them in first class condition to maintain high production throughout the winter months.

Feeding is a critical problem just at this stage. Among other things we might mention that it is useless to try to force immature pullets into laying by the over use of rich mashes. While the poultryman may succeed in cheating nature in this way, it will be at the expense of the size, weight and stamina of his future hens. Plenty of hard grains should be provided so that the pullets will continue to gain in weight and keep in plump condition.

It is a good plan to feed a liberal supply of yellow corn, which contains vitamins that are valuable in promoting growth and maintaining the health of the chickens, as well as furnishing an abundance of heat and energy. This will give the hens a reserve supply of vitality which they can draw upon as winter progresses.

Hens should also have some green food. Root crops may supply succulence, but are lacking in vitamins, while dried green leaves, such as alfalfa leaves, will supply vitamins but lack succulence, so a combination of the two is usually best.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' APRON.

Aprons, like all the new frocks this season, have taken on definitely new lines. The one shown is most flattering to its wearer, with its straight line, with the skirt that flares slightly at either side. The belt, too, shows the fashionable raised waistline. The neck is round and collarless, of course, and the pockets assume a diagonal line.

The pattern, 2978, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 2⅛ yards of 35 inch material with ¼ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Bobby had only one aunt and no uncles at all. But his aunt told him that if ever she married he would have an uncle. When the news came that his aunt was to be married he ran out and said to his little playmates: "Well, my Aunt Harriet is marrying me an uncle." L. A. L.

"It's wrong to talk to people like that, Jack," she said. "You must apologize to Harold at once."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Scotch Pastry.

The first day of November is All Saints' day. It has three other names, the simplest of which is the Saxon Hallowmas, which, you see, has the "mas" ending of our greatest holiday, or Christmas, also found in the name of the English holiday, Michaelmas. In Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor," when the servant, Simple, replies to his master, Slender, as to the whereabouts of his book of riddles, he says: "Why, did you not lend it to Alice Shortcake upon Allhallowmas last, a fortnight before Michaelmas?"

And now we are wondering if a shortcake is traditional for the day. We are also wondering why some attention is not given to the making of shortcakes in Scottish cook books, since Scotch shortbreads are famous the world around. The only guess we can make about it is that it has nearly always been made by professionals and on a commercial scale.

However, since we make fritters for St. Joseph's day, have scallops on St. James' day—if we treat these days much as we treat St. Valentine's day—and make also a Gaetau St. Honoré, if we are clever enough with pastry management, we may guess that it would be entertaining and appropriate to get a Scotch shortcake for All Saints' day.

Once upon a time I employed a graduate of the Edinburgh School of Cookery to copy for me the recipes from her note books that she had collected in a year's work in that school. It is disappointing that there is no recipes in the list for a Scotch shortcake or shortbread, but there were pastry recipes enough.

The following Edinburg recipe for a shortcrust is for one to be filled with an apple purée and then have whipped cream piped on top of that. The recipe reads: "Four ounces flour, two and one-half ounces butter, one-fourth teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon sugar, a pinch of salt, yolk of egg, and cold water. Sieve flour, baking powder, and salt into a basin. Add butter, put flour over it and rub in finely, ad sugar and make into firm elastic dough with egg and water. Knead smooth on floured board, roll out about one-fourth inch thick, lift up, place in tin, and trim edges, roll scraps out to make a double rim, wet inside of pastry and fix on rim, prick bottom of case, put on a greased paper and fill with beans. Place in hot oven for twenty minutes. Remove beans and dry off."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Loud Speaker for Some One.

"I have a loud speaker which we no longer use and I would like to give it to some one. Any one you suggest may have it. MRS. A. G."

Wouldn't it be a joy to dispense with the ear phones on your receiving set and be able to attach a loud speaker so that the whole family could enjoy it? Perhaps this is your opportunity to do it. If you haven't a loud speaker write me for this one; please do not telephone.

Dinner Plates to Give.

"Do you know of a large family or small church that would like to have about twenty-five dinner plates, mostly white, and a few other odd pieces? I have these to dispose of and will be happy to give them to any one you may suggest. MRS. M. S."

The not too affluent church or club should find this gift a great boon when dinner and supper parties are being given.

When the Sodas Fell.

It happened several years ago while I was a soda clerk. It was a hot summer's night and the soda business was heavy. The store was crowded and I had just finished filling an order for seven and started to leave the fountain, tray full of sodas, when my sleeve caught and crash went tray and all.

I was burning up with embarrassment but cleared up the mess and again filled the order. Well, believe it or not, I did exactly the same stunt again, and before a larger audience than previously.

I did not stop to clear up this time but retired to the rear of the store for quite some time. F. D. S.

PEBECO'S TANG HAS A MEANING!

If you buy a tooth paste simply to polish your teeth, taste pleasantly, you deceive only yourself. You are getting cheated. PEBECO Tooth Paste offers triple value. It cleans. It whitens. It checks "acid-mouth", forerunner of tooth decay. Pebeco is not a candy; it is a dentifrice. Use it persistently for at least a week. Then you'll note the difference and like its sharp tang.—Advt.

Lasting Softness
is another feature of this deodorizing sanitary protection

There are so many reasons why smart women prefer Kotex . . . here are some of them.

BECAUSE it stays soft . . . stays cool and light, women find Kotex better. There's no deceptive merely-surface softness about it. The air-cooled layers of filler keep Kotex comfortable longer.

And it deodorizes

Then there are other things you get only in Kotex. The clever shaping of the pad, for inconspicuous protection under the filmiest frocks. The way you can adjust layers of filler. The fact that it disposes so easily.

Why hospitals use it

Did you know that Kotex filler (Cellucotton absorbent wadding) is used in 85% of our leading hospitals? Surgeons prefer it for all absorptive purposes—including the most important surgical work. They use it because it is so wonderfully absorbent (5 times more, by test, than the finest cotton); so hygienically safe.

Use it once—and you'll be in no doubt as to its superiorities.

Kotex is Soft . . .

BURTON LAUDED AS HOOVER AND TAFT BOW HEADS

Impressive Funeral Rites Held in Senate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct 30.—[Special.]—In the presence of the nation's highest officials funeral services were held in the senate chamber this afternoon for the late Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio. Tonight, accompanied by a committee of ten senators, the body was on its way to Cleveland for burial.

Although lasting less than an hour, the ceremonies at the capital were the most impressive and solemn since those for the late President Harding.

Officials Fill Chamber.

Banked with roses and chrysanthemums, the silver casket was placed before the rostrum of the Vice President, a colorful contrast to the solid black rows of officials filling the chamber. Directly in front of the casket, sat Mr. Burton's personal friend, President Hoover, his head bowed in attentive silence. To the right sat Vice President Curtis and members of the cabinet. Chief Justice Taft and other justices of the Supreme court occupied the opposite row. Behind them were ranged senators, representatives, members of the diplomatic corps and high army and navy officers.

The Rev. Zebarney T. Phillips, chaplain of the senate, and the Rev. James S. Montgomery, chaplain of the house, conducted the services, which included eulogies by Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], the dead man's colleague, and Representative Willis T. Hawley [Rep., Ore.], who served with him many years in the house.

Praised as Peace Advocate.

The tributes paid to Senator Burton described his forty year career in congress as one of high service to the nation. He was lauded as one of the foremost advocates of international peace and good will, a stanch supporter of his party, and a leader on national issues.

"He was eminently fitted for his career by a broad education and he continued to educate himself by trips abroad," said Senator Fess. "He was conservative, yet liberal in thought and generous in nature. He devoted his entire life to public service, and his success was demonstrated by the trust reposed in him by the people of his city and state."

Active pallbearers were Ohio newspaper correspondents closely associated with Mr. Burton for years and others who knew him well.

PARKER, WORLD WAR ADJUSTER OF CLAIMS, DIES

Washington, D. C. Oct. 30.—(AP)—Edwin B. Parker, who long had worked to settle the claims for damages by citizens of the United States, Germany, Austria and Hungary as a result of the war, died today after a lingering illness.

Born Sept. 7, 1868, in Shelby county, Missouri, Judge Parker was graduated from the University of Texas in 1889 and made his home in that state until the last few years, which he spent in Washington.

He first served as chairman of the United States liquidation commission, settling claims of the allies against the United States for war materials. For this the United States gave him the Distinguished Service medal; France made him an officer of the Legion of Honor, and Poland, Belgium and Italy also decorated him.

A further recognition of his work came when the mixed claims commission was set up in 1922 to settle claims for damages by Americans against Germany. This commission had before it claims aggregating 1,479 million dollars, and Mr. Parker was named umpire.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Good Samaritan

Elmer Has His Fill of Variety for an Evening

Finds Contrast Best Part of Program.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

A diverting and in many respects an evening of decided contrasts. There was the new W-G-N 7:30 to 8 program by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra, with incidental vocal numbers. The program included selections from "The Student Prince," Bach's Air on G string, and other undying classics which through familiarity have become popular. "Piccolo Pete," a Halloween vari-colored offering, was quite astonishing.

W-G-N's 8:30 to 9:30 orchestra-vocal program from New York, with Olive Palmer and Paul Oliver as featured singers, was typical.

The WLS 8:30 to 9 orchestra-vocal concert, featuring Lydia Mihm, soprano soloist, and the station's Anvil chorus, was excellent as to selections and the singing, but without Miss Mihm winning special laurels as a feature soloist.

The Lithuanian program, formerly given from WIBO but last evening from KYW, 9 to 9:30, was excellent music, but very sad and a mournful broadcast.

The Purdue University Glee club, through WMAQ, 9 to 9:30, presented an attractive, light, typical glee club program, and the singing will redound to the credit of the club members.

The Russian program [properly announced in English], from New York through WMAQ, 9:30 to 10, was contrast again. Particularly to be admired was the work of their male quartet [or was it a small chorus?].

The color and tone of musical Mexico was found in the voice of Flavio Placencia, Mexican baritone, during the 9 to 9:30 orchestral program.

Memorial Services to Be Held for W.C.T.U. Leader

A memorial service for Mrs. Emily White Smith, an early leader in the Women's Christian Temperance union and educational leader, will be held in Carpenter chapel of the First Congregational church, Washington and Ashland boulevards, next Sunday at 3 p. m. Mrs. Smith died on Oct. 10 at her home at 22 South Leavitt street at the age of 94 years. She was for thirty-five years president of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Interior, for twenty-eight years president of the Mount Holyoke Alumnae association, and the first woman trustee of that college.

SALVATION ARMY CHIEF SUES FOR BOOTH MILLIONS

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Gen. Edward J. Higgins, head of the Salvation Army, today began a legal fight to gain control of the Salvation Army trust property, valued at more than $10,000,000, and now held by the executors of the late Gen. Bramwell Booth. Writs in behalf of Gen. Higgins were served this morning on Mrs. Bramwell Booth, Commissioner Catherine Booth and Mr. Sneed, solicitor, executors.

Gen. Higgins alleges that he is unable to manage the Salvation Army if he does not control the property. Gen. Booth added a codicil to his will a short time before his death, and after he was ousted by the high council, by which he transferred the property from his successors to his executors.

This property not only includes chapels and refuges, but also the international Salvation Army headquarters in Queen Victoria street.

DRUMMER BOY, NOT 15 WHEN WAR OF '61 ENDED, DIES

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Death here today of Charles B. Walworth marked the passing of one of the drummer boys of the civil war. Walworth, who was 79, was the youngest member of Eagle post, G. A. R., Eau Claire. When the civil war ended, through which he served as a drummer boy, he was not yet 15 years old. He served with Company F, 41st Wisconsin infantry. His widow and one son, Coyle B. Walworth of Wausau, survive.

Delay "Diploma Mill" Trial of Col. Miller and 3 Others

The trial of Col. W. H. H. Miller, former head of the state department of registration and education, and three co-defendants in the alleged diploma mill case, was postponed yesterday until Nov. 18. The men appeared before Judge John P. McGoorty with Attorney Samuel Hoffman and announced themselves as ready for trial, but because the judge is to start in the slot machine syndicate case within a few days a postponement was necessary.

Funeral Will Be Held for James J. Rowan Tomorrow

Funeral services for James J. Rowan, 52 years old, 4900 Adams street, a broker, will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at the Church of the Resurrection at 5101 Jackson boulevard. Mr. Rowan died Tuesday afternoon of heart disease. He had been a member of the board of trade for the last 13 years and had been connected with the board in various capacities for 30 years. He is survived by three brothers and three sisters.

Louis Seligsberg, Noted in Business World, Dies

New York, Oct. 30.—Louis Seligsberg, 80, for nearly half a century prominent in business in Baltimore and New York, died here yesterday. Born in Germany, Mr. Seligsberg came in 1866 to Cincinnati, O., where he worked as a clerk and as a reporter for a German paper. He went to Baltimore to engage in the import and export business in 1877.

W. C. T. U. ASKS VINDICATION FOR E. S. SHUMAKER

Expunging of Prison Sentence Sought.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—The county W. C. T. U. regards his sixty day sentence to the state penal farm as a blot on the name of the Rev. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, who died here last week.

Therefore the W. C. T. U. went on record today as favoring legislation to expunge official record of the sentence which was given by the state Supreme court for contempt when Shumaker's criticism of the court's decisions in liquor cases was cited to it by the state attorney general. The next Indiana legislature, which meets in 1931, will be asked to erase the Shumaker sentence.

The W. C. T. U. intends to make this drive a part of its observance of the tenth anniversary of prohibition next January.

The Shumaker resolution says:

"Whereas, the Rev. E. S. Shumaker did effective work for many years in furthering the cause of prohibition as sponsored by the state and national laws, thus contributing to the morals and spiritual development of our state; and,

"Whereas, in the performance of his service he was convicted and sentenced to the Indiana state penal farm by a divided opinion of the state Supreme court; and,

"Whereas, his many friends are grieved that his reputation has suffered because the information concerning his conviction and sentence has gone abroad throughout the state and nation, thereby placing him among the criminal class of Indiana, when in reality he has contributed to the development and uplift of the state by his many good deeds;

"Therefore, be it resolved, That the W. C. T. U. of Marion county goes on record favoring a special act of the next session of the legislature expunging from the records of the state penal farm all data pertaining to his incarceration."

Believe Woman Found Dead Ended Own Life

The police last night were working on a theory of suicide in an effort to solve the mystery of the death of an unidentified woman about 35 years old, whose body was found yesterday morning in a ditch at 95th street and Dorchester avenue. No marks of violence were found on the body. An analysis of the contents of her stomach will be made to determine whether she died of poison.

SIX ARBITRATORS NAMED IN MILK WAR IN URBANA

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—An arbitration committee composed of three University of Illinois faculty members and three representatives of the Champaign county milk producers association has been appointed as a step towards a compromise in the milk dispute between the university's dairy department and members of the county organization.

The producers' association issued an order last Friday prohibiting members of the organization, who handle approximately 70 per cent of the milk produced in the county, from selling milk to the university unless it joins the association. University authorities declared the institution could not legally become a member and refused to join. This resulted in the stoppage of a considerable amount of milk from members of the association to the university for research purposes.

LIQUOR INQUIRY IN MICHAELSON CASE IS ENDED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—Attorney General William D. Mitchell today announced that the government will not take any further legal action against Representative M. Alfred Michaelson [Rep., Ill.] as a result of the latest investigation of the congressman's holiday cruise in the West Indies with a party of friends in 1927. It was following this sea vacation that Mr. Michaelson was indicted on a charge of possessing and transporting liquor after one of the Michaelson party trunks sprung a leak in Jacksonville and later yielded several bottles of whisky and a keg of rum.

It's Too Bad to Break Up a Home After a Period of 21 Years

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It's bad enough to hear of couples married three, five and ten years deciding that they have stood all that humans can bear, but when a pair survives twenty and twenty-five years of marriage and then decides it is quitting time, it just about tears your heart out.

Sometimes the quarter century revolt or nearly quarter century is based on years and years of cruel treatment, borne for the sake of children, and until they are established in homes for themselves. Those cases are different. Even so, one sees for the woman, anyway, the balance of her lifetime given over to futile strugglings at recapturing romance or else to a sad resignation to things as they are.

But there are instances where a turn in the hearts of the two involved is of but a recent year or two's dictation, as with Mrs. A., who says she soon will be 21 years married, and is facing the biggest problem of her life. A change in her husband has been noticed only in the last year and a half. Moody, ugly often, he is. He has changed completely in his attitude toward the two children and is absolutely indifferent to his wife. He scarcely speaks to her, and then only when he wants something, at which time his wife says you'd think he was talking to a stevedore. He disappears of a Saturday, returning late Sunday evening. No explanations. No excuses.

Then the story is unfolded which may explain the man's actions. For twenty years he held positions with one firm, advancing from time to time. Two years ago he was tried out on a job over many men at which he failed dismally. He was demoted.

He resigned hastily and nothing but reverses have followed. The savings of years have been pretty well eaten into, what with a business experiment of his own that failed in a few short months, and inability to get another job.

The wife cries for the lost advantages the children must suffer, they being of an age and of a social group requiring money for upkeep.

In the meantime, all poor old dad may need is one good bolstering with faith in him from that group, the head of which seems to think desertion is the way out. If mother and the two young hopefuls would rally round him and tell him a few cheering things, it's ten to one his disposition would undergo a miraculous change. Instead of thinking so much of their suffering, if they'd try to understand what is going on in the defeated man's soul they'd all be happier for the trial.

What if the kids have to abandon their social clique? A little adversity may be just the thing to make substantial characters of them.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Ignores Her.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a boy who pays no attention to me. He even seems to avoid me. What shall I do? DOT."

Avoid him. You'll forget him if you try hard enough and there's no use in making futile efforts to win him.

Many Jacket Ensembles Choose Satin Tuck Ins

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Our blouses having definitely joined the "shut in" society, we are doing everything in the world to divert them and make their lives less monotonous. For example, the tuck-in blouse of the above delightful suit is finished with an original cravat of self material which relieves the severity of the square neckline and corroborates the note sounded by a scarf collar of the jacket.

As regards the tuck-in completing our suits, I said at the beginning of the season that satin was decidedly the smartest medium for this detail. Today I have no reason to recant. In our three piece creations of all types we find these satin blouses of outstanding interest.

The model illustrated today is one of the many shown this season which hover gracefully between sports and street wear. As a matter of fact, it may be donned either in the country or in town. Wherever worn, it expresses that spirit of youthful jauntiness so marked in many of our jacket creations.

This jauntiness owes its existence to the comparative brevity of the season's jackets. Many of these are quite, quite short. Or do they merely look so because of our elongated skirts? One cannot quite decide.

We are maintaining all our previous sympathy with two tone ensembles and two tone hats. Therefore it is no surprise to find the jacket of this model done in red crêpella and the skirt in brown of the same fabric. The blouse is of red satin. Note the fine tucks at the neckline of the jacket in the back and the scarf slipped through a metal buckle.

A-1 HEAVYWEIGHT SPECIALTY SALESMEN, MERCHANDISING MEN, ALSO CREW MANAGERS.

Many of the biggest specialty salesmen in America are lining up with us. Our deal is new, but men have already made over a thousand dollars a week in commissions. Many high caliber men tell us they will make more money here in the next sixty days than they have made all the rest of the year. We will pay salesmen a total of over a million dollars in commissions and profit before Christmas.

We are selling an article with a $15 retail value, for less than $5, which includes a big margin of profit for the salesman. This is one of the most attractive articles of merchandise ever sold. The field is unlimited and the article makes the finest Christmas present imaginable. It is also the fastest selling year round specialty on the market.

We have a plan whereby HEAVYWEIGHT MERCHANDISING MEN can sell one line to dealer in huge quantities.

If you are a MONEY MAKER, a HUSTLER, and a REAL LIVE WIRE, don't fail to investigate this. Whether you have the ability to make $25 a day as a direct salesman, or $1,000 to $2,000 a week as a specialty salesman, or if you are a high caliber merchandiser, we believe that there is an opportunity right now to make more money here than you have ever seen in any sound, high grade business.

Call at once—see one of the finest pieces of merchandise in the history of selling. Let us prove that our retail selling price is below that of the biggest manufacturer's price in hundred thousand lots. If you are ready to take advantage of a wonderful opportunity, call at once or write—Room 256, 35 E. Wacker-dr.

A SPECIALTY

We have a DOLLAR DOWN sales set-up on a popular priced household necessity that means SALES. Being a salesman, YOU are naturally looking for something of MERIT that will SELL.

Answer this question to yourself: If you had two articles that ARE IN GREAT DEMAND and were in a position to SELL THEM for HALF of what any other merchant would dare offer them, how many ORDERS a week do you feel YOU could write at a DOLLAR DOWN and a dollar per week?

JUST ONE MEASLY ORDER A DAY WITH A DOLLAR DEPOSIT PAYS YOU $54 A WEEK IN FULL. NOTHING DEFERRED, and WE GET YOU INTO THE HOME at our own expense and pay you on all other purchases that your customer makes.

IF YOU ARE SEEKING A GOOD, LEGITIMATE, STEADY INCOME AND WANT SOMETHING THAT SELLS—WE HAVE IT! Interviews between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. only.
37 W. VAN BUREN-ST., SUITE 1380.

If you are between 30 and 40 years of age, accustomed to talking to chief executives, and closing business on one call, we have a real opportunity for you. The successful men in our organization have been recruited from the ranks of book, stock and bond, service, and high priced office specialty salesmen, although we are not selling any of these lines.

We are now planning a program of expansion which will create certain executive positions in a short time. The position which is open should pay a minimum of $8,000 per year—and unless you've been accustomed to making big money please do not waste our time.

This is a permanent connection with a growing organization, and the man we select must be in a position to start training immediately.

If you can interest us over the telephone we will arrange for a personal interview.
